Shell Tokio's Line in New Border Fight.

TOKIO, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Soviet Russian artillery blasted at Japanese positions along the Siberian frontier tonight, while the Japanese foreign office radiated optimism that the "vest pocket" border war soon would be ended by arbitration.

"We are hopeful of a speedy settlement," said a foreign office spokesman after receiving a transcript of a conference held yesterday in Moscow between Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese ambassador, and Maxim Litvinov, soviet commissar of foreign affairs. "It appears some progress has been made. We believe the situation will be patched up."

The Japanese army, however, reported that Russian guns at half hour intervals today steadily bombarded Japanese positions at Changkufeng near where the borders of Manchukuo and Japanese Corea join the Siberian frontier.

An unspecified number of soviet planes, Japanese said, crossed the border but were driven back by anti-aircraft fire.

Reports Plan to Retake Hill.

Domei [Japanese news agency] dispatches asserted the Russians "apparently are planning to recapture the Changkufeng hill before a diplomatic settlement is reached." It said that troops were observed moving in trucks behind the soviet lines, and that twenty planes were sent from Khabarovsk to positions nearer the frontier yesterday.

In Tokio the conviction grew that the fighting would terminate as merely another border incident, though the most serious of the series which has troubled soviet-Japanese relations in the last four years. The present incident began on July 11, when Russian troops began to fortify the disputed hill which dominates Possiet bay, a Russian naval anchorage 140 miles southwest of Vladivostok.

Both Claim Battleground.

Russia claims the hill is in Siberia and Japan asserts it belongs to Japanese sponsored Manchukuo.

A minor clash on July 29 was followed last Sunday morning by a heavy engagement in which Tokio announced Japanese troops took the hill. Since then there has been sporadic fighting.

In the Moscow conversation yesterday the Japanese ambassador proposed mutual withdrawal from the battle zone while a commission marks the disputed frontier. Commissar Litvinov agreed to the withdrawal, but on condition that Japan recognize the Russian-Chinese treaty of June 26, 1886, which establishes Changkufeng as part of Siberia.

Russians Fire 15,000 Shells.

KOGI, Corea [Near the Siberian Frontier.]—[By Courier to Yuki]—Aug. 5.—(AP)—The extent of border warfare in the disputed Changkufeng area was indicated today in a Japanese army statement that since July 29 soviet artillery has fired 15,000 large and small shells into Japanese positions.

The statement was made as a barrage of soviet shells landed in Corean territory. Japanese said they had replied with a total of 2,500 shells since the start of intense hostilities.

Today they fired 100 rounds in answer to a seven hour Russian barrage. Two of the soviet shells fell within a half mile of the Tumen-Rashin railway. Soviet scouting planes appeared a few times over Changkufeng hill, but each time darted into the cover of low lying clouds before Japanese anti-aircraft batteries went into action.

The situation still is tense. The Japanese said the Russian forces were arrayed along a four mile front, and expressed belief the Russians intended to attempt envelopment of Changkufeng.

Commander a "Chained Elephant."

Heavy mists descending along the coast of Possiet bay tonight, however, were expected to hamper such an attempt.

Likening his position to that of a chained elephant, a high officer commanding Japanese forces in northern Corea said:

"If we were permitted, I am firmly convinced we would be able to isolate the enemy on this front and prevent

BROKER SHOOTS 8 ROUNDS UNDER 91 IN 15 HOURS

Starts at Sunup; Ends at Dusk.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Last evening, at dusk, the sole title to a fertile plantation changed hands when a young La Salle street broker, using strange implements known as golf clubs, completed play over 144 holes on the four courses of Olympia Fields.

The plantation stretches nearly a mile along the calm waters of Broad bay, where the green hills of Virginia slope down to the sea. It first changed hands in 1619, when King James of England, also using a strange implement, one known as a quill, deeded it away from a tribe of Indians to a Virginia settler.

Bet Leads to Marathon.

The golfer who made the amazing march over the fairways that lie between the 144 tees and 144 greens is J. Smith Ferebee, 31 years old. He is the vice president of the brokerage firm of Barney, Johnson & Co.

The bet that resulted in the one-man golf marathon was made with Fred Tuerk, 32 years old, another La Salle street broker, who was joint owner of the plantation purchased for $30,000.

Ferebee's lonely game began at 5 minutes past 5 o'clock yesterday morning. It ended at 12 minutes past 8 o'clock last evening. In the 15 hours and 7 minutes intervening he had played each of the four courses twice. For the 144 holes he had needed 687 shots, which is 119 more strokes than par demands. The elapsed time included delays caused by two heavy rainstorms and trips to the clubhouse for showers, massages, and changes of clothes.

Born in Virginia.

Ferebee is Virginia born and is from a long line. Unlike the many Virginians before him who headed west to win land in the Ohio country, he came west and won land back home.

Both Ferebee and Tuerk are widely known along La Salle street as smart young men who nearly always have a bet on between them. A week or two ago Ferebee finished a long day of golf and stated casually he could play eight 18 hole games in a day.

Tuerk called him immediately offering to bet $25 Ferebee couldn't do it. Ferebee raised him. He was raised right back.

Then, as landed Virginians have done for centuries, Ferebee bet his half of the plantation. Tuerk called him. There had been a little disagreement about the operation of the jointly owned land, but that didn't figure much. The bet was the thing.

Bets Are Numerous.

News of it spread. Business along La Salle street was dull and the wager seized the imagination of all. They were off. Thursday night, on the eve of the marathon, Ferebee had placed $2,500 in side bets with his associates.

A survey made yesterday afternoon along "the street" accounted for $5,000 in bets ranging from $100 to $300. There were countless smaller ones in the financial district alone. And bets were being made throughout the city and suburbs.

So it was that when Ferebee appeared at Olympia Fields for a restful sleep Thursday night he was met by reporters and camera men. And there were agents for everything from scented soap to pogo sticks who wanted him to use them, someway, in his marathon, and then endorse them.

Up Before Dawn.

Ferebee got to bed finally at 11:30 p. m. instead of 9 and was up before dawn ready for the test. He was keenly conscious that it was not to be merely an endurance contest. He had to make a score of 95 or less on each 18 holes. If he should go over 95 on any round he would lose the land.

He started strong—too strong, overshooting several of the early holes on the No. 4 course. He was wisely playing this course first because it is the toughest. After covering it twice he eased off onto courses 1, 3, and 2, taking the easiest one last.

He moved along at a swift pace, but toward midday the weather interfered. The rain came down. Ferebee stood impatiently under a shelter, then started out again. And again came rain. In torrents this Purge speared two large fish. One came from the Missouri river and the other from tidewater Virginia.

"My friends," smirked Purge the toastmaster, "let us dine on these two suckers!"

A Thrifty Life Closes Happily in Dreamlands

This is the story of a man who had dreams. More important, this man, early in life, learned the lesson of thrift, so that his dreams came true.

His name was Francis S. Price. On June 20, at the age of 62, Price died at his home in the Atlantic hotel. The story of his life was revealed yesterday to Judge John F. O'Connell and his clerk, Mitchell C. Robin, when Price's will was admitted to probate.

Its hero is a man who never became more than an office employé. He held no high salaried executive position. But all his life he worked for one concern, giving loyal and painstaking service.

Took First Job at 19.

"In 1895, when Price was a young man of 19," Attorney Paul W. Brandel related, "he took his first job as a bookkeeper. Price's first pay check totaled $9 for one week's service. Out of that $9 he put $1 in the bank. The firm prospered and so did Price. As business increased and as he became more valuable his salary rose. Each time there was a proportionate increase in Price's weekly bank deposit."

Price lived frugally. And he never married. But as he wrote in his ledger book day after day he dreamed the dreams of a man chained to a desk. While his mind juggled invoices and checks, his spirit sailed through the islands of the south seas, or visited strange countries.

Ten years ago the firm he worked for went out of business. Price cast up his accounts and found his savings amounted to $100,000.

Realizes His Dreams.

With his fortune Price set out to enjoy life. He sailed for Europe. And after a tour of the continent he sailed on for other foreign countries. Twice around the world he went, and each year added to his store of adventure.

And then, as quietly as he lived, Price died on June 20. He had fulfilled his dreams. But he was still frugal. Yesterday, when his will was probated, the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, as executors, revealed that Price left an estate of $50,000 to his brother, James A. Price of Barnum, Wis.

700 QUIT WPA JOBS, DECLARE ONE LUNCH HOUR IS NOT ENOUGH

Seven hundred WPA workers employed on an airport project near Lewis Holy Name Technical school in Lockport township, Will county, laid down their picks and shovels yesterday. Their reasons for quitting:

They want an extra half hour for a forenoon meal before the regular noonday lunch hour.

They want more buses to pick them up in their various districts so that they can report for work at the Joliet courthouse at 7:30 a. m. instead of a half hour earlier.

If they don't get what they ask for, their leaders warned J. V. McCarthy, district administrator, they threaten to tie up 3,000 other WPA workers in the county.

BABE RUTH GIVES PINT OF BLOOD TO AID DAUGHTER

New York, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Babe Ruth gave his adopted daughter, Julia, a pint of his blood in a transfusion at 6 o'clock tonight at the Manhattan Eye, Ear, and Throat hospital. Julia is 22 years old. Ruth was rushed by motorcycle escort from Ebbetts field, where he had been coaching the Brooklyn Dodgers.

After the transfusion Ruth rested for an hour and then drove his wife, Mrs. Claire Ruth, home.

Miss Ruth entered the hospital on July 27 for treatment of a glandular disorder in the neck. She underwent an operation a week ago. Failing to rally as she should, she showed symptoms of anemia which made the transfusion necessary.

Miss Ruth's condition is not dangerous, hospital authorities said.

Shark Takes Swim at N. Y. Beach; Police Warn Bathers

St. George, N. Y., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Police today warned thousands of bathers along the south shore of Staten Island to be on the lookout for sharks. The warning was issued after Mrs. Marie Koch, owner of a restaurant at Huguenot Park, reported seeing a six foot shark near the beach.

Big Bear Flees Cage; Spreads 5 Hour Terror

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—For five hours residents near Highland Park zoo here were terrorized by a heat maddened grizzly bear which had clawed her way out of a steel cage. The animal was finally shot to death in a pedestrian underpass to the zoo. A posse of more than 30 policemen and zoo attendants armed with rifles and machine guns hunted the crazed animal.

The bear, which weighed 350 pounds, broke three one inch bars in the ceiling of the outdoor cage, tore off a wooden roof, and climbed out into the opening. Several minutes later an excited man telephoned police he had seen the animal leaving the park.

Warns of Danger.

Arnold J. Schaumann, park superintendent, warned police that the bear was dangerous and ill tempered. A few weeks ago, he said, she ripped heavy planks in her cage. Quickly a posse of police and attendants began the hunt.

The swimming pool in the 450 acre park was ordered closed. Police escorted several hundred children from the park to their homes. Parents were notified to call in their children from the streets. All entrances to the park were blocked and trafic was rerouted.

Director of Public Safety George A. Fairley took charge of the hunt, directing the activities from a police radio car. Veteran bear hunters joined in the search and Jack Potter of the Fox Chapel Hunt club offered dogs.

Driven from Tunnel.

Finally a park workman yelled that the bear was in a pedestrian tunnel. Sergt. Ralph P. Barton drove the animal from the tunnel with machine gun fire. Wounded and snarling, the animal started up an embankment to the roadway.

There Schaumann fired two shots into her left side and she rolled down the embankment, but arose and started back into the tunnel. Schaumann fired two more shots and the bear collapsed midway in the tunnel, where she died.

Taped Up Hero Grins Through Gotham Fete

New York, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Douglas Corrigan, who flew to Ireland in a $900 plane captivated this city's millions today with his grin and received one of the wildest receptions New York ever has given a conquering hero.

In fact, the city hugged its hero so tightly to its bosom that a cartilage in his chest was injured. That occurred in the press of the crowd that swarmed over his automobile at the start of his triumphal parade up Broadway.

Later a doctor strapped up his chest with adhesive tape. And tonight the Corrigan who set his compass for California, landed at Dublin, and said it was all a mistake, went ahead with the rest of the day's festivities—still grinning despite his pain.

Cheers from Million Throats.

The day's celebration began with a typical Broadway welcome. The welcome swept down on Corrigan in storms of torn paper and ticket tape from tall office buildings and in tumultous cheers from the throats of a million admirers.

Corrigan, clad in the same lether jacket he wore on his remarkable wrong way flight, rode in the parade perched high on the back of his official car, grinning—always grinning—and entranced by the vastness of the celebration.

After the parade the department of sanitation collected 1,800 tons of paper along Broadway, an amount equaling that showered on Howard Hughes two weeks before and only 100 tons short of that which welcomed Col. Charles A. Lindbergh eleven years ago.

Mayor Voices Admiration.

"Your achievement," said the mayor, "attracted more attention than any other accomplishment in the history of aviation. It was so unorthodox—the way you did. Your deliberate impetuosity finds a responding chord in me."

And the speech found a responding chord in Corrigan's grin.

"Talking about setting your compass," Corrigan said, "the mayor, too, has his compass set for a certain objective whether he knows it or not, which is not so far from here." Then, with a pause and a smile, "If you know what I mean."

From the city hall Corrigan—always at ease and apparently enjoying it all immensely—was whisked to the Advertising club for a luncheon. There Lowell Thomas presented him with a silver trophy from the Men of Wings, an organization of flyers.

When Thomas said he understood Corrigan frequently had gone the

FIERY KENTUCKY CAMPAIGN ENDS; PRIMARY TODAY

Chandler Hopes to Oust Barkley.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Kentucky's bitterly fought campaign for the Democratic nomination for the senate will end tomorrow. An estimated 450,000 voters will flock to the polls to choose between Alben W. Barkley, President Roosevelt's senate leader, and Gov. A. B. [Happy] Chandler.

Precautions are being taken to prevent repetition of violence such as occurred in Breathitt county last night. Former Sherif Lee Combs, a Chandler supporter was killed in a political outbreak in which his brother, Lewis, county chairman for Chandler, and Sherif Victor Deaton, a Barkley partisan, were wounded. The shooting occurred on the stairway of a building in Jackson which houses Barkley headquarters.

Murder warants have been issued for W. A. Combs, the Barkley county chairman; Wardie Jenkins, foreman on a WPA project, and Goebel L. Allen, Circuit court clerk. Linville Carpenter and State Senator Ervine Turner Jr. are charged in other warants with "aiding and assisting" in the shooting.

Both Sides Claim Victory.

Both sides in the primary battle today are claiming victory. The Barkley forces are making more extravagant and more detailed forecasts. Chandler's experts are basing their moderate predictions on a last minute swing in his favor. Most impartial observers feel that only something utterly unpredictable can bring the governor through.

He and his state organization have battled vigorously for the last six weeks to overcome the power of federal patronage and vast sums sent into the state for farm benefit payments and WPA projects. They have made some progress. They may have switched 10 per cent of the voters; perhaps a few more. This is not regarded as enough, as Barkley was credited with nearly 70 per cent of the Democratic vote at the start.

Roosevelt Made an Issue.

The issue of pro and anti-Rooseveltism has been drawn sharply by Barkley, who glories in his complete subservience to the President. Roosevelt made a trip into Kentucky to urge "Dear Alben's" return to the senate. The senator has consistently claimed that he deserves the post because he has brought vast sums of federal money into the state—$280,000,000 in less than six years.

Chandler's approach to this issue has been cautious. He has maintained that the President is friendly to him and that he could get even more from the federal treasury than Barkley. And this is the real issue in the campaign. The voters are pondering whether it's more advantageous, from the cash standpoint, to keep a senator who has the presidential ear.

The outcome of the primary may be apparent late tomorrow night. Under Kentucky law the polls close at 5 o'clock [Chicago time]. Ballot boxes are then taken to the county courthouse and placed in the hands of the county clerk. Tabulators may begin the count an hour after the balloting ends. If they have not completed their work by midnight [1 a. m. Chicago time] they must halt until Monday.

Count May Be Rapid.

The ballot is short this time and smaller counties probably will get their tallies out in a few hours. In the large cities, particularly in Louisville, the count sometimes drags out for days. Barkley's friends estimate that his plurality will be between 50,000 and 110,000. His greatest strength is in the west end of the state.

Louisville, where all the Democratic organizations favor the senator, is claimed for him by 20,000. Chandler's men assert that the plurality of Barkley there will not be over 4,000. Fayette county, of which Lexington is the county seat, is expected by his partisans to give Barkley 2,500 plurality.

The Chandler bosses' guess as to his plurality is 29,500. He is regarded as strongest in the northern part of the state, which includes the large cities of Newport and Covington.

Through the closing days of the fight both candidates have continued to attack each other for unfair methods. The addition of 35,000 to 40,000 new WPA workers has drawn the fire of Chandler against his rival's organization. He declared in a speech last night that he had knowledge of a $22 a month relief worker being asked to contribute to the Barkley campaign.

Thousands of state employés have been assessed 2 per cent, and some of them twice, for Chandler's campaign fund, according to Barkley. Even the old age pension checks are being dragged into the controversy. It is alleged they have been delivered personally by Chandler workers and that the recipients are urged to wear "Happy" buttons.

Many of Kentucky's politically wise folk believe that the governor, who is a smiling, singing, handshaking fellow of only 40, overestimated the power of his personality when he took on the race. He had been high handed enough as governor to offend many of those who fought to elect him in 1935.

Louisville Backers Switch.

The Leland Taylor Democratic organization in Louisville, which carried the metropolis for him then, is solidly aligned with the M. J. Brennan faction for Barkley this time. Billy Klair, the old time Lexington boss, died a year ago and his organization also has gone to Barkley. Ralph Gilbert, who was the Chandler floor leader in the senate, is now making effective talks against the governor.

Almost all the former greats of the Democratic party have espoused Barkley, possibly as much out of personal resentment against Chandler as out of fear of offending Washington.

"Happy got too big for his breeches," is a frequent comment. "He went down to Washington to tell the President how to run his business. Now he's telling how he'll go down there and balance the budget by making foreign nations pay their debts. He balanced Kentucky's budget all right, but he did it by getting twice as much tax money as any other governor ever did."

To win Chandler must overcome the opposition of labor groups, including Labor's Nonpartisan league, political branch of the C. I. O., and the millions the federal government has poured into the state. His personal magnetism, his state organization, and the clearly defined anti-Roosevelt vote carry the burden of his hopes.

8 SWEPT TO DEATH IN TENNESSEE BY MOUNTAIN FLOOD

Sevierville, Tenn., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Eight persons were killed today when a raging mountain torrent swept away the home of Alfred Ball, after a heavy downpour in the surrounding Smoky mountain region. The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gillen and Mr. and Mrs. Ball, and the latter's four children. All the bodies except that of Mrs. Ball were recovered.

The streams swept away a dozen bridges, destroyed several houses, and damaged crops. Pittman Center, a nearby community, was marooned by the flood. Bridges from Gatlinburg and Sevierville connecting with the Center were washed out.

U. S. to Dangle Choice Bait Before Stamp Collectors

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The postoffice department is angling for more business from stamp collectors, who last year poured more than $3,000,000 into postal tills. To arouse more public interest in philately, Superintendent Robert Fellers of the stamp division said today that the department soon will send a motorized stamp exhibit on tour. The exhibit will show how stamps are made and will display a complete collection of United States issues. It will visit schools, stamp clubs, and other organizations.

U. OF I. FRESHMEN MUST DWELL IN APPROVED HOMES

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Freshmen entering the University of Illinois this fall must live only in houses approved by the housing division of the dean of men's office. This rule was announced today by Charles R. Frederick, assistant dean of men, who is in charge of freshmen. Fraternities also are included and must receive university approval by meeting the standards set up by the housing division before freshmen will be permitted to live in them.

It is expected there will be sufficient houses approved to take care of the freshman enrollment this fall, which probably will be in excess of the 2,200 enrollment last fall.

Joshua Changes Name Because It Sounds Jewish

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—A young German with the first name of Joshua has been granted permission to change the name because it "sounded Jewish." His father objected on the ground it was tradition in the family to have a son name Joshua. The Supreme court held every "Aryan" German has the right to a name identified with German history and tradition. Names occurring in the New Testament are acceptable for Germans, according to the decision, but Old Testament names, particularly those "sounding Jewish," are not.

PRESENT TRENDS PERIL AMERICAN WAY, SAYS G. O. P.

Threats to Economize Life Surveyed by Planners.

BY PARKE BROWN.

The Republican program committee created by the G. O. P. national committee concluded its midsummer conference in Chicago yesterday with a declaration that present trends threaten the United States with a breakdown of its economic system and the disintegration of responsible and effective government.

At the close of five days of work, each marked by morning, afternoon and evening sessions at Thorne hall on the Chicago campus of Northwestern university, the committee unanimously authorized the issuance of a public statement. This step was a compromise between the demands of some that the body offer a midterm reaffirmation of party principles and the insistence of others upon complete silence except in a later report to the national committee.

Middle Course Followed.

The middle course was followed with an explanation that the utterance did not in any way commit the party, its national committee or any candidate in the 1938 campaign to the convictions expressed. It was not an effort in any way to outline the platform of 1940 or to propose even a single plank of that document.

Instead, the committee confined itself to a disclosure of its outstanding conclusions as to the state of the nation at this stage of its work which, according to present plans, is scheduled to proceed at least twelve months longer.

"The committee," said the statement, "is not attempting to draft a program of short range political expediencies. Its concern is with a program that will best serve the long range interests of the people as a whole.

Fear Two-Fold Disaster.

"The committee has the conviction that, under present trends in legislation and administration the United States may suffer the two fold disaster which has overtaken peoples quite as sure of their destiny as we have been—the breakdown of an elaborate economic system and the disintegration of responsible and effective government.

"After five years, in which the present administration has had funds and a freedom to act without parallel in our political history, we face the tragic fact that some 12,000,000 Americans are still unemployed. It is not merely the shiftless few, the untrained, and the incompetent who are out work. These 12,000,000 unemployed are on the contrary, a cross section of the nation, a cross section of the people whose ingenuity, self-reliance, energy, and initiative have made America. The human distress and spiritual breakdown flowing from this vast unemployment is immeasurable. And the continuance of unemployment on this scale threatens the continued employment and income of every American who now has a job.

Confusion Is Assailed.

"The overwhelming reason why 12,000,000 Americans are still without employment is the confusion and uncertainty into which the present administration has plunged us.

"Untested policies—hastily conceived, wastefully financed, ineffectively administered, and conflicting with one another—are persistently employed.

"The committee is convinced that this confusion and uncertainty will continue until there is complete assurance that the nation's life and enterprise are to be operated under a program grounded on the principles of a balanced representative government, an adequately regulated and just system of private enterprise, a workable economics of plenty, and an inviolate code of civil liberties.

"In this spirit the Republican program committee is moving toward a series of policy suggestions that will seek to safeguard and bring to high efficiency a balanced representative self-government and an adequately regulated system of private enterprise, motivated by a genuine sense of social stewardship, and giving to the weaker members of society reasonable protection against those hazards for which they have no responsibility and which they cannot control.

"The committee believes that we can neither realize economic abundance nor retain the social and spiritual freedom we prize except as we build upon representative democracy and private enterprise."

In the concluding paragraph the committee condemned the world tendency to base hope on politically dictated security.

"In every instance to date," said the statement, "the security has consisted of an enforced stabilization of life at a meager standard far below the standard we have maintained even in the midst of our gravest depressions."

Luncheon Series Concluded.

The statement of approximately 1,200 words was handed to newspaper men by Chairman Glenn Frank at the last of a series of five luncheons at the Lake Shore Athletic club, each of which had been addressed by speakers of national importance in their fields.

At that final gathering William Hard, author and radio commentator who is secretary of the committee, had the last word under the heading of "The Ultimate Issue." He shared the floor with Dr. Sumner H. Slichter, professor of busines economics at Harvard university, and Herbert D. Simpson, professor of public finance at Northwestern university.

Those two preceded Hard with learned discussions of the economic ills of the nation, but Hard, who included a thumbnail political history of the United States in his short talk, declared that no party ever perpetuated itself on economic principles alone. He condemned the effects of one-man government, charging that the system tends to corrupt both the dominator and the dominated.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The defeat of United States Senator George L. Berry and Gov. Gordon Browning in yesterday's Democratic primary turned into an utter rout with the tabulation of additional returns today.

A. Tom Stewart of Winchester won the senatorial nomination and Prentice Cooper of Shelbyville that for governor. They did it without needing the support that Shelby county [Memphis], storm center of the campaign, gave liberally.

E. H. Crump, head of the Memphis organization that backed Cooper and Stewart along with W. D. Hudson for indorsement as public utilities commissioner, let the results speak for themselves in his successful fight to beat Browning; Berry, who was Browning's appointee to the senate, and Utilities Commissioner W. H. Turner. Browning had "no statement whatever."

TAVERN OWNER SLAIN IN SIGHT OF WIFE, PATRONS

In sight of four couples and his wife, Viola, Alex Sulima, owner of the Four Deuces tavern, 2222 North Maplewood avenue, was shot to death in the tavern by a young gunman early today. Sulima was 53 years old and lived above the tavern.

The killer, a stranger shabbily dressed, sat at the bar and laid down a nickel for a glass of beer. "A glass costs 10 cents," said Sulima. The man drew a gun and shouted, "This for you, then."

He ordered Sulima and the four couples into the rear room. As they started to obey Sulima lunged toward him. The gunman fired. The bullet tore through the tavern owner's left shoulder and evidently severed an artery. Sulima died soon afterward. The slayer escaped.

BANDY CHARGES AS CAMPAIGN IN OHIO NEARS END

Columbus, O., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Charges of flagrant ballot violations were investigated today as campaigning for Tuesday's Ohio primary election neared a finish.

One arrest has resulted, and Secretary of State William J. Kennedy predicted others. He instigated the inquiry into complaints that old age pensioners were intimidated to cast disabled voters' ballots for the renomination of Gov. Martin L. Davey.

wrong way before the aviator replied with a twinkle in his eye: "I never expected to be going the way I have been going here today."

After the luncheon there was a trip to Brooklyn, through crowd packed streets, to Floyd Bennett field, from which Corrigan began his epochal flight last July 17. Next, at the Brooklyn borough hall, 50,000 Brooklynites shouted their welcome to the flyer. After listening to speeches and saying he never had spent such a grand day in his life, Corrigan was presented with a compass with the east and west marked so distinctly that it could not be mistaken.

The night schedule included the only private celebration of the day. Mayor Adrian F. Levy of Galveston, Tex., Corrigan's home town, gave a supper for the flyer at a hotel at which only a few friends and relatives were present.

The day's ceremonies were climaxed with a huge celebration tonight in Yankee stadium, sponsored by the Irish Societies of Greater New York and attended by more than 30,000.

She will depart by plane on Monday and board the Queen Mary at New York for London on Wednesday. Mrs. Oland has been living apart from her husband under a separate maintenance decree.

Vote Judge, a Fugitive 2 Years, Is Sent to Jail

Frank Kelly, 205 South Halsted street, a former election judge, pleaded guilty to a charge of contempt of court yesterday. He was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by County Judge Jarecki. Kelly served as a Democratic election judge in the 55th precinct of the 27th ward during the April, 1936, primary. He was accused of vote irregularities. Kelly was arrested July 14. He had been sought for two years.

TRY TO COVER UP RIOT IN THEATER; 4 WOMEN HURT

Cannon Crackers Throw Patrons Into Panic.

Capt. Charles Essig of the Rogers Park police last night began an investigation to learn why details of a serious riot in the Norshore theater Wednesday night had been suppressed. In a wild stampede of patrons, terrified by the discharge of giant cannon crackers, four women were trampled and injured.

Details of the mob rush were learned yesterday from the injured. Two policemen, William Ford and Morgan Gardner, who were called to the theater after the trouble, reported that the management minimized the extent of the disorder and said no one was injured.

Theater Well Filled.

The theater, at 1749 Howard street, was well filled that night at the showing of a double feature. At about 9:30 o'clock, during one of the features, "The Rage of Paris," the southwest fire exit door, which opens on an alley, was unobtrusively opened.

In the next instant there was a loud explosion in the air over the heads of those seated nearby. In a few seconds another explosion jarred the air. Women screamed.

A scramble for exits began as the explosions continued. There were six or seven in all. It appeared to many as if some one was firing a gun. Each time a flash of fire was seen in the air.

The ailes were choked with hysterical men and women, pushing and shoving toward the doors. Ushers tried vainly to stop them. Later many were persuaded to return to their seats.

"I was knocked down in their first rush," said Mrs. Selma Thompson in her home at 7722 North Marshfield avenue, where she lay with bandaged legs last night. "My daughter, Marie, was also knocked down. She picked me up, but the crowd knocked me flat again. Finally we got to the foyer."

One Taken to Hospital.

Others who were trampled and injured were Mrs. Melvina Reinitz of 1655 Jonquil terrace and Mrs. Theresa Kammerer of 812 Hollywood avenue, Des Plaines. Mr. Kammerer was taken to the St. Francis hospital, Evanston, with a badly wrenched ankle. Mrs. Reinitz suffered a sprained knee and ankle, and a broken blood vessel in her leg. All were treated first at the theater by Dr. Hartley Mars, 1607 Howard street.

The women insisted the explosions sounded like gunfire. Ray Carsky, the theater manager, and James Rose, assistant manager, said that several young hoodlums, who had given them trouble before, tossed fire crackers into the theater. The policemen said they found two unexploded fire crackers just inside the fire door.

Woman Clings to Boat; Saved; Friend Drowns

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—After clinging to an overturned rowboat in Carter Lake, near here, for two hours, Mrs. Lillian Shara, 36 years old, of Lansing, was rescued last night by two fishermen. Her companion, George Squires, 44 years old, of Lansing, was drowned. They had been fishing.

RAILROAD OFFERS ALTERNATE FORM OF AIRPORT LAW

The Chicago and Western Indiana railroad, whose tracks bisect the proposed enlarged landing field at Chicago airport, yesterday sent Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph F. Grossman an alternate form of a proposed airport ordinance. Grossman recently drafted an ordinance proposal and submitted it to the Western Indiana and to the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad for suggestions.

He said he will study the railroad's draft and send a copy to the Indiana Harbor railroad for approval. When the form of the ordinance is agreed upon it will be introduced in the city council. Then condemnation proceedings will be started against property owners along 54th street where the the tracks are to be relocated. Construction of a new airport has been authorized by the council and the state legislature.

LAUNDRY OWNERS JOIN CITY'S WAR AGAINST SYPHILIS

The Chicago Laundry Owners' association yesterday called upon its 160 members to coöperate in the city's anti-syphilis campaign by having their 18,000 employés tested for syphilis. The association issued a bulletin indorsing the board of health's educational program.

A testing program has been started among the 25,000 employés of the Chicago Restaurant association's 758 members. Several restaurants already have obtained certificates from the board of health showing their employés have been tested.

2 Kidnapers of Couple Returned to Wisconsin

Patrick Roy McDonald, 25 years old, and Edwin Cottrell, 18, were arrested here yesterday and returned last night to Beloit, Wis., to face charges of kidnaping and robbery. They confessed that on July 26 they abducted an Illinois farmer and his wife in Beloit, drove them to a lonely road, bound them, and stole their automobile. William Clark, 32, of Bellwood, a third member of the gang, was captured in Dubuque, Ia., Sunday.

PEEKING POLICE NAB LADY FRESH FROM HER BATH

Judge Orders Her Held on Embezzlement Charge.

When Detectives John Kustusch and Earl Cook, a stout hearted team at the Woodlawn station, reached the apartment at 6724 Stony Island avenue their rings went unanswered. So Detective Kustusch peeked through the keyhole. And there, as the story was told in Felony court yesterday, he saw a woman. And she didn't have my clothes on.

The woman was Miss Clara H. Tozier, 37 years old, and the detectives had a warant for her arrest, even if she was just fresh from her bath.

Decide On Flanking Movement.

The detectives decided on strategy. While Kustusch stayed at the front door, Cook went around to the rear. He was just in time. Miss Tozier, he said, had hurriedly slipped on some clothes and was climbing out of a third floor window, preparing to drop to a roof a floor below.

Detective Cook clambered up to the second floor roof and grasped Miss Tozier by both ankles as she hung from the window sill. When Miss Tozier let go she and Cook fell to the roof in a heap. But the capture was made.

After this story came out Miss Tozier was held to the grand jury in bonds of $5,000 by Judge Michael G. Kasper on a charge of embezzlement. Bernard E. Schaar, 1631 Lunt avenue, charged that she embezzled $10,000 while employed as bookkeeper for Schaar & Co., manufacturing chemists, 754 Lexington street. When questioned by police at the time of her arrest Miss Tozier refused to discuss the charge.

Miss Tozier Says Nothing.

Schaar said Miss Tozier had worked for him for seventeen years and that the alleged embezzlement occurred between January and November, 1937. He said she appropriated petty cash and made out checks which she herself cashed for false accounts.

After making bond, Miss Tozier left the Criminal court building with her attorney, John O'Hara. She hadn't said anything during the entire proceedings. She kept still, too, as she walked away. She just glared at Detectives Kustusch and Cook.

JUSTICE SPEAKS: OAK PARK BABY'S CRY IS NO CRIME

Justice of the Peace Thomas W. Barrett Jr., of Oak Park agreed yesterday with the songsmith who wrote some years ago that to hear a baby cry is just like a melody from out the sky.

Justice Barrett was ruling against Mrs. Anna Robinson, of 816 Wesley avenue, Oak Park, who had brought a charge of disorderly conduct against her neighbor, Mrs. Mary Bickmeyer of 814 Wesley avenue, because Frederick Ray Bickmeyer, 15 months old, frequently cried at night. When Mrs. Bickmeyer explained that the child is teething and that most babies cry frequently during this period, the court said:

"It is not a crime for Oak Park babies to cry. I don't call that disorderly conduct."

BRITAIN BARS MISS HURST'S DOG AND SHE LEAVES

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Hazel Hurst, blind American lecturer, sailed back to the United States tonight after spending just ten minutes on English soil, from which the government barred her faithful dog guide, "Babe."

The ministry of agriculture refused to permit Miss Hurst's dog to enter the country without first undergoing the usual six months' quarantine. Miss Hurst, rather than travel without her "eyes," abandoned plans to spend several months here.

However, the ministry of agriculture relaxed its regulations just long enough to permit her a brief stroll with her dog through the dingy Thames docks of East London. Miss Hurst had appealed to King George, President Roosevelt, and United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy that the dog be admitted to the country. After the stroll Miss Hurst said: "This final gesture by the British government never will be forgotten. Now I can go home without feeling sore about things."

MAYBE SHOWERS, MAYBE WARMER, AND MAYBE BOTH

Forecaster H. A. Downs held out the possibility of more cooling showers today, but said the chances were better for warmer weather. Perhaps, he added, we might have both. The forecast for tomorrow is cooler temperatures.

Preceded by a high wind, which whipped dust into loop office buildings, thundershowers yesterday brought relief from the heat from 11:52 a. m. to 2:36 p. m. In that period .79 of an inch of rain fell, while the temperature dropped from 81 to 65. In the evening it rose to 79.

Farm Girl's Poison Death Mystifies Coroner's Jury

De Kalb, Ill., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—A coroner's jury today returned an open verdict in the death of Ila Tutland, 18 years old. The girl was found dead under mysterious circumstances July 6 in the yard of her farm home near Cortland. An analysis of vital organs showed she had died from poisoning. The coroner's jury was unable to determine how the poison was taken.

WORK RESUMED AT LOMBARD JOB; UNIONIST SEIZED

Charles Crider was arrested yesterday at a building project in Lombard, scene of recent labor terrorism. He was taken from a group of fifteen union pickets while ten laborers, for the first time in seven weeks, resumed excavations for two homes under police guard.

Crider is financial secretary of a local of the Du Page county hod carriers' union. He was identified by Sam Passarelli, 1817 Erie street, a subcontractor on the project, as the slugger who smashed a window of his automobile on July 26.

Until the grand jury began an investigation of the labor trouble, and Sherif Arthur Bennett promised 24 hour protection, several employés of the contractor, William Wallace, had been slugged and terrorized.

SHIRKER ON WPA SENT TO JAIL FOR HITTING HIS BOSS

Joseph Bush, colored, of 1000 Maxwell street, was fined $100 yesterday for striking his WPA foreman on the head with a shovel. Witnesses said the foreman, Otto Peterson, 3745 Sunnyside avenue, threatened to lay Bush off for three days when the latter refused to push a wheelbarrow.

"So you won't work, eh?" Judge Nuncio J. Bonelli asked Bush in Town Hall court. "Well, you are going to work where I am going to send you." He then imposed the fine. Bush will spend 60 days in the Bridewell working it out.

4 SMALL BOYS HELP CATCH BANK ROBBER; HURL ROCKS AT HIM

Crawfordsville, Ind., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Four small boys caused the capture of a bank robber today. He is James McKinnis, 36 years old, an ex-convict and former inmate of the Indiana state hospital for the insane.

McKinnis entered the First National bank here, pointed a revolver at David Groves, teller, and demanded money. Groves dropped to the floor and a fellow clerk called police. McKinnis ran from the bank.

Outside the boys saw him run down the street and gave chase, throwing rocks at him. Police saw the boys in pursuit, joined them, and caught the fugitive. A gun McKinnis had thrown away was recovered. It was not loaded. The boys are Francis Johnson, 8 years old, his brother, Edward, 11, Virgil Kidd, 10, and Donald Campbell, 11.

Forgetful Egbert Forced to Pay $15 Cleaning Bill

Because Egbert Tazelaar forgot to cover his manure truck he was ordered to pay $15 damages yesterday by Justice of the Peace Albert L. Sengstock of Des Plaines. Harry Rush, 2440 Logan boulevard, will get the $15. He complained that a high wind blew part of Tazelaa's load into the Rush automobile on June 18, and all over the Rush clothing. Tazelaar lives at 1239 South 56th avenue, Cicero.

AUTO OVERTURNS; SEVEN GOLF CLUB EMPLOYES HURT

3 Women Among Injured at Olympia Fields.

Three women and four men, all employés of the Olympia Fields Golf club, were seriously injured yesterday. An automobile in which they were riding struck a tree and overturned on a private road in the club grounds.

Three were riding in the rumble seat of the car and were trapped underneath it. Police had difficulty in freeing them. All the injured were taken to St. James hospital in Chicago Heights.

They are Edward Frey, the driver, a bell captain; James Welland, a gate man; Matthew Comer, a bell boy; Edward Bucett, a cigar clerk, and three waitresses, Miss Pearl Sungling, 3514 North avenue; Mrs. Marie Budd, 11033 South Park avenue, and Miss Della Mulcare, 3609 Sheffield avenue. The men live in the club dormitory.

Homewood county highway police said Frey was traveling at high speed and was unable to make a sharp turn.

Auto Kills Child in Street.

Robert Rosinski, 2 years old, 8908 Houston avenue, was injured fatally when he was struck by an automobile while playing in the street near his home. The driver was John Kirzawiak, 8333 Burnham avenue.

Injuries suffered in an accident Thursday morning caused the death of Louis R. St. Pierre, 38 years old, 5906 Midway Park, in the Evanston hospital. A woman was killed and four others were injured in the crash.

Miss Lucille Ceracini, 25 years old, 3924 Monroe street, died in the Swedish Covenant hospital of a skull fracture suffered in an automobile accident July 2.

Weeds High; 3 Persons Hurt.

High weeds in corner lots at Prairie avenue and 64th street blocked the vision of two motorists yesterday and resulted in a collision. Both machines overturned. Three persons in one of the cars were injured. They are Mrs. Martha Goldinger, 48 years old, 10553 South Oakley avenue; her son, William, 18, and Mrs. Flora Nicholas, 40, 10359 Longwood drive. Another of Mrs. Goldinger's sons, James, 21, who was driving, and Robert Erler, 22, of 813 East 79th street, driver of the other car, were uninjured.

Seven charges of reckless driving were filed yesterday against Irwin Beausejour, 1311 West 14th place, driver of an automobile which on Thursday ran down seven persons at Blue Island avenue and 18th street. Beausejour told police it was the second time he had driven a car.

Seized as Hit, Run Driver.

Matthew Allen, 31 years old, 5220 Glenwood avenue, a painter, was seized as an alleged hit and run driver last night after a chase from Clark street and Barry avenue to Clark street and Chicago avenue. His car allegedly struck Bryan Savage, 24, 1913 North Keystone avenue, at the former intersection. Savage suffered possible brain injury. George Fitzgerald, 3453 North Bell avenue, and his wife pursued Allen and curbed his car. With Allen was James Cook, 30, 6644 North Clark street, also a painter.

Held As Death Car Driver.

Richard Calhoun, colored, of 316 North Fairfield avenue, was ordered held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter by a coroner's jury yesterday. Calhoun was identified as the driver of a car which struck and killed William Blei, 1818 West Washington boulevard, at Warren avenue and Wood street on July 28.

The accident occurred two days after a 30 day suspension of Calhoun's driving rights by Judge Stephen Adamowski in Safety court had expired. Court records showed that Calhoun had previously been fined $100 on three trafic law charges.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 491 persons had been killed in trafic accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 378 were killed in Chicago, where 11,192 were injured in the same period.

Order State Street Span Closed 2 Days for Repairs

The State street bridge will be closed for repairs from 9:30 a. m. today to 6 a. m. Monday, necessitating a rerouting of street cars using the bridge. Surface lines officials said cars will be rerouted in Lake street and Grand avenue over the Wabash avenue bridge. Halsted street cars will be rerouted for three weeks starting Monday because of the closing of the Milwaukee railroad viaduct, just north of Kinzie street.

FOUND DEAD OF GAS FUMES.

PARK POLICEMAN SHOOTS SUSPECT; TELLS OF FEARS

John Maxwell, 28 years old, was shot and seriously wounded early today by Park Policeman Clyde Walbert in Grant park, just south of Buckingham fountain. The policeman said he fired in the belief that Maxwell and two other men were about to strongarm him.

Walbert, who is assigned to the south park division, was off duty last night and in the loop when a citizen pointed out a man who he said had molested him. Walbert followed the man into the park.

Near Buckingham fountain, he said, Maxwell and two men approached him. He heard Maxwell say, "I can take him alone." Walbert said he told Maxwell he was a policeman, but that Maxwell advanced. Walbert then shot Maxwell in the right side, and seized the other men, James H. Vaughan, 23, of 2017 Prairie avenue, and George Hayden, 23, of 2300 Michigan avenue. Maxwell was taken to St. Luke's hospital. He gave his address as 2031 Prairie avenue.

U. S. GRAND JURY CALLS 3 STATE ROAD OFFICIALS

Federal grand jury subpenas summoning F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works; Ernest Lieberman, state highway engineer, and G. H. Baker of the highway department, to Chicago next Tuesday, reached Springfield yesterday.

The trio presumably will be questioned in connection with the Cook county road contract investigation now being conducted by United States Attorney Michael L. Igoe. Smith, who was campaign manager for Gov. Henry Horner's state ticket at the April primaries, rejected original bids on a group of highway contracts. The second bids were $472,000 lower.

Mr. Igoe also has started an inquiry into the possible misuse of federal highway funds in the primary campaign. It became known yesterday that Edward M. Daniel, a special investigator for the Sheppard senatorial campaign expenditures committee, was working in Springfield.

Gets 9 Months for Tipsy Driving; It's 5th Offense

For the fifth time in two years Emil Salzman, a carpenter, was arraigned yesterday in the Lake county court for driving while intoxicated. Judge Perry L. Persons sentenced him to nine months in the state prison farm at Vandalia. Salzman recently served a six months' sentence on the farm. On his three other convictions for drunken driving he was fined. He lives at 1101 Westmorland avenue, Waukegan.

Burglars Steal Gun From Home of Police Sergeant

Burglars are showing less and less respect for the police, complained Sergt. Thomas Kelliher, of the Racine avenue station, early today. On returning to his home at 4427 Gladys avenue, he discovered that thieves had broken into a basement store room and stolen one of his service revolvers.

OPENING MOVE MADE IN FIGHT ON SIDLEY WILL

Court Names 3 Special Administrators.

Racine, Wis., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—The opening moves in a court contest of the will of Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley, malted milk heiress, were made here today. County Judge J. Allan Simpson appointed three special administrators for the estate and ordered the impounding of all personal property and papers of Mrs. Sidley which can be found.

By these means, the court imposed strict supervision over the estate, variously estimated at between 3 and 9 million dollars. Mrs. Sidley's last will, executed April 8 while she was living in the home of W. Perkins Bull at Toronto, Ontario, has been filed for probate here. Bull, a financier and attorney, is one of the principal beneficiaries under the will. Mrs. Sidley died in his home July 6.

Designed to Conserve Estate.

The appointing of the special administrators and the impounding of personal property is designed, according to lawyers, to conserve the estate for the benefit of both sides in the expected contest. No date has been set for admission of the will to probate. At that time or afterward the will can be attacked. This can be done by the filing of objections to it or by an attempt to probate one of three earlier wills Mrs. Sidley made over the period from 1924 to 1934.

William H. Sidley, Mrs. Sidley's only son, appeared before Judge Simpson today with Mortimer E. Walker, his local attorney. Sidley, who also is one of the principal beneficiaries under the will [receiving the same share as Bull] has said he will contest it. He asked for the appointment of John D. Rowland as special administrator.

Rowland is the public administrator of Racine county. Sidley asked, however, that he be special administrator in this case, distinct from his official duties. Judge Simpson appointed Rowland, but also named young Sidley and Bernard F. Magruder as co-administrators.

Both Sides Represented.

By this arrangement both sides to the contest and an impartial outsider will be represented as administrators. Rowland is the disinterested appointee. Magruder is a member of the group expected to oppose the contest.

With Sidley on the contestants' side will be his uncle, Alexander J. Horlick, one of Mrs. Sidley's two brothers. On the other side will be William Horlick, who is Mrs. Sidley's second brother, and Col. B. F. Ferrand, Andrea Pultz, and Magruder.

All the latter group and Sidley are executors of the estate under the April 8 will. Col. Ferrand and Magruder both were given sizable bequests in the will. Magruder also is sole executor of the estate of Mrs. William Horlick Sr., mother of Mrs. Sidley. Mrs. Horlick died here three days after her daughter's death.

Mrs. Sidley's April 8 will leaves Bull $250,000 and a third interest in her residual estate after other bequests are fulfilled. Similar provisions are made for her son. A. J. Horlick is cut off in the will.

Bull would not, officially, be a party to any will contest. The defendants in such action would be the executors. Bull is friendly to these executors and undoubtedly would be called as a witness.

CANTOR RETURNS FROM EUROPE; GLAD HE IS BACK

Eddie Cantor, comedian, stopped off in Chicago yesterday with his wife, Ida, and said he was happy to be back in America. After raising $500,000 in sixteen days in Great Britain to help send Jewish refugee children out of Germany and Austria, Cantor is returning to California. He and Mrs. Cantor departed on the Chief.

"If I had my way," he said, "I would send every American who thinks his taxes are too high to Europe—and let him find out how it is to live over there. I consider taxes I pay the price of admission to America for freedom—and I think I'm getting a bargain."

The English are five years ahead of America in television, Cantor said.

Hears Son's Charges

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Mrs. Lillian Coogan Bernstein listening intently in Los Angeles yesterday to deposition of her son, Jackie Coogan, in suit for an accounting of his earnings.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Jackie Coogan, now 23 years old, testified today of small sums of money and advice he had received in the last few years from his stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bernstein, whom he is suing for an accounting of the millions he earned as a child movie actor.

At a deposition hearing conducted by counsel for the Bernsteins Coogan said his mother contributed money for his education at Loyola university of Los Angeles, Villanova, and Santa Clara, and said she gave him $60 for his honeymoon with blonde young Betty Grable, screen actress.

"And didn't she give you $50 for rent after your marriage?" asked Attorney Charles Katz.

"Well, yes, she gave me $50," Jackie said.

"In addition to $1,000 as a present on your 21st birthday, didn't she provide you with other gifts of money from time to time?"

"Well, on another occasion she gave me $40."

Katz then asked whether it was true that Coogan had been expelled from Santa Clara university for excessive drinking and other reasons. "I told my mother about the drinking," Coogan said.

MORE CANAL ZONE ROADS PLEDGED BY ROOSEVELT

CRISTOBAL, C. Z., Aug. 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today more road construction to strengthen the Panama Canal Zone defenses would be included in next year's budget.

He made the statement at a press conference before sailing aboard the cruiser Houston from Gatun lock for Providence Island in the Bahamas.

Officials of the army and navy, the Canal Zone, and the Panamanian republic agreed more highways are necessary, Mr. Roosevelt said upon completing a tour of the Pacific side of the Canal Zone and a short, unofficial visit into the republic before going by train to the Atlantic side.

The chief executive predicted more roads would help build up the Panama interior and added he was glad President Juan D. Arosemena of Panama had such a program in mind.

BANK JUDGMENT MAY BAR ESTATE TO FATHER DIVINE

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt may lose his new neighbors—Father Divine and the Negro leader's cult—counsel for the closed Straus National Bank and Trust company said today.

Jacob Paull, the counsel, said that if an examination of Howland Spencer, previous owner of the property, showed that Spencer gave over his estate interest to others than his creditors the deal could be set aside.

Supreme Court Justice Peter Schmuck ordered Spencer and others who may know about his assets to appear Aug. 16 at the county courthouse in Poughkeepsie and tell about Spencer's ability to pay a judgment obtained against him by the bank in 1931.

TVA COMMITTEE HEARS MAN WHO MADE GOOD FAST

Salary Boosted $4,800 in Five Years.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—The question of how the 12,719 employés of the Tennessee Valley authority obtained their jobs came before the congressional committee today as the prelude to an inquiry next week to determine whether some departments are overstaffed with experts at good salaries.

Gordon R. Clapp, director of personnel, denied charges that the TVA has discriminated against Negroes. Senator James J. Davis [R., Pa.] said he had received such complaints from colored citizens of Pittsburgh. Clapp replied that the TVA policy is to employ approximately the same proportion of Negroes as there is in the population of the valley. He said 10 per cent of the watershed population is colored and that 11 per cent of the TVA employés are Negroes. Representatives of Negro organizations will appear before the committee next week.

Veterans Denied Preference.

Veterans are not given preference in the employment office, Clapp said in reply to questions from Representative Charles Wolverton [R., N. J.]. Wolverton and Davis commented that the TVA policy in this regard appeared to be opposite from that of congress.

Clapp said TVA jobs are given on the basis of qualification and that a large proportion of war veterans is on the staf.

This brought questions as to Clapp's qualifications as director of personnel. Replying to Wolverton, Clapp said he never had directed a personnel department for an industry, and said that when he came to the TVA he was a graduate student at the University of Chicago.

Salary Boosted $4,800.

In five years Clapp's salary jumped from $3,200 to $8,000. He is 33 years old. His first position here was that of assistant to the director of personnel, who at that time was Dr. Floyd Reed of the University of Chicago.

"In view of these examinations you say are given to ascertain the qualifications of people seeking TVA jobs," said Wolverton, "I'm wondering what qualifications you possessed. Did you ever direct personnel for an industry?"

Clapp said he never had, but that he had been director of personnel and student aid at a Wisconsin college.

Rapid Rise Described.

"As a young man completing studies in school," said Wolverton, "you came here at a salary of $3,200 a year. Then it was increased to $6,000, then to $7,200, then to $8,000. For a young man of your age to do this in five years strikes me as jumping lively."

Clapp said that in five years 120,000 TVA job applicants have been examined and of them fewer than 20,000 have been given jobs. In selecting skilled and unskilled workers, Clapp testified, workers are drawn as much as possible from the Tennessee valley.

"Construction projects," he said, "are necessarily temporary, and the authority is reluctant to encourage the migration of men from other sections without the prospect of reasonably permanent employment. There is an abundant supply of labor in the area."

Recesses Over Week-End.

The committee recessed until Monday, when the interrogation is to continue.

Reforestation activities of the TVA were described by Willis M. Baker, chief TVA forester. He testified that 61 million trees have been planted, 42 million of which are on private land.

They cost the TVA $2.50 a thousand and their purpose was to prevent erosion and to produce forest crops. The TVA forestry program has cost $1,963,688 thus far.

MRS. MARION PIERCE.

Charged with beating the wife of a patron, Mrs. Marion Pierce, 25 years old, hostess in a tavern at 4750 Chicago avenue, was fined $100 and costs yesterday by Judge Thomas A. Green in the Court of Domestic Relations. Unable to pay, she was taken to the Bridewell to serve out the fine. The complainant, who exhibited a black eye, is Mrs. Carrie Jackson, 52 years old, of 4849 Thomas street. She said she was beaten when she entered the saloon to ask her husband, James, to go home with her.

SPLITTING OF U. S. ROAD AID ON BASIS OF NEED IS URGED

A plea for a more sensible allocation of federal funds for highway improvements was made yesterday by John W. Wheeler, engineer of highway negotiations for the Burlington railroad. He spoke in the Palmer house at the fifteenth annual meeting of the Chicago Regional Planning association.

"The 50 million dollars now allotted annually by congress are given to the states on a ratio of seven-eighths for highway mileage and one-eighth for population," Wheeler said. "Thus, many of the western states, where trafic is sparse, receive the same amount as Illinois and other states where trafic is heavy and where there is a much greater need for railroad grade separations and track elevations to make travel safe."

Daniel H. Burnham was elected president of the association for the fourteenth consecutive year. Other officers named are: Vice presidents, B. F. Affleck of Winnetka, N. W. Lies of Roselle, Robert Kingery of Winnetka, Clayton F. Smith, president of the Cook county board of commissioners, and Ross Woodhull, head of the sanitary district board; treasurer, John S. Miller, and secretary, Howard R. Olson.

APPEAL NOTICE FILED IN PARISH SCHOOL DISPUTE

The village of Winnetka yesterday filed notice of appeal from a court order directing the issuance of a permit for construction of a parochial school in a residential district of the suburb. Circuit Judge Joseph Burke ordered Winnetka to grant the permit on July 15.

Attorney Francis X. Busch, counsel for the village, said the case will be carried to the Appellate court when it convenes Oct. 1. The proposed site of the school is near Linden avenue and Hill road.

Winnetka officials contend their zoning law prohibits a school in that district. The school, they assert, would tend to lower property values in the neighborhood.

HEAD U. S. TRUST BUSTER VISITS OIL CASE JUDGE

Secret Conference Held in Wausau.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, the administration's trust buster, conferred secretly at Wausau, Wis., with Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone on July 26. This was ten days before arguments in open court on a government motion protesting the setting aside of jury verdicts in the Madison [Wis.] oil conspiracy case.

Thurman Arnold.

The government motion to expunge Judge Stone's order setting aside a verdict of guilty against eleven of the forty-six defendants convicted in the case was argued by John Henry Lewin, special asistant attorney general, before Judge Stone at Madison yesterday. Today it was learned that Chief Trust Buster Arnold, Lewin and William P. Crawford, another special assistant attorney general, discussed the motion secretly with Judge Stone at Wausau last week.

Confirmed by Arnold.

The report of the private conference with the trial judge was confirmed today by Mr. Arnold, who said there was nothing secret or unusual about it.

Asked why the conference was held in Wausau, while the trial had been conducted in Madison, he said that city was more convenient for Judge Stone, who has a summer camp in northern Wisconsin.

Mr. Arnold refused, on the ground of propriety, to disclose details of his discussion with Judge Stone other than to say that a date for argument on the motion—Aug. 4—was agreed upon at the conference.

Denies Its Unusual.

Ordinarily such a routine matter as a date for argument on a motion can be arranged by a telephone call or a telegram. Mr. Arnold, therefore, was asked whether his special trip to Wausau was not an extraordinary circumstance. He insisted that there was nothing unusual about it.

Of the forty-six defendants found guilty in the oil anti-trust case on charges of conspiracy to raise and fix the price of gasoline in 1935 and 1936, Judge Stone fined seventeen, ordered a new trial for eighteen, and set aside the verdict against eleven. The government argued at Madison yesterday that he had no authority to set aside the verdict of a jury in a criminal case.

Judge Stone took the motion under advisement.

New Trial Set for Sept. 26.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone today tentatively set Sept. 26 as the date for retrial of fifteen oil company executives and three corporations, whose conviction on charges of gasoline price fixing he recently set aside. Government counsel requested the new trial start at that time and the court agreed.

MENACE FAMILY OF POLICEMAN TO SAVE PAROLEE

Strangers Voice Threats in Trafic Injury Case.

Bernard Sayewitz.

Yesterday while the policeman was on his way to court to testify in the case, two rough looking men approached his wife, Mrs. Babette Faust as she was on the back porch of her home at 5132 Deming place with her son, John, 3 years old.

Threaten Her and Child.

They asked for Policeman Faust. She said he was not in. "Tell him then," said one of the strangers, "to lay off that case, and not know too much. If he don't, it will be too bad for you and the kid." The men walked away. Alarmed by the threat, Mrs. Faust notified her husband's superiors.

Meantime, Policeman Faust was waiting in the Safety court for Sayewitz to appear. He failed to show, however. Judge Stephen Adamowski forfeited his bond, and ordered his arrest. Sayewitz later appeared in the parole offices. He was arrested. He denied knowing of the threats. Mrs. Faust was unable to identify him.

The accident in which Sayewitz was involved occurred at Madison street and Sacramento boulevard. Mrs. Josephine Bender, who was with her husband, Arthur J. Bender, 3505 Franklin boulevard, in the other car, was slightly injured.

Seek to Lure Her From Flat.

Mrs. Bender also reported an incident involving two men. They stood outside her home, she said, and told her she was wanted on the telephone in a neighbor's apartment in connection with the accident. When she refused to open the door, the men fled.

Sayewitz now lives at 4837 North Lawndale avenue. He was paroled into Illinois from the penitentiary at Elmira, N. Y., in October, 1935. He had entered the prison in 1934 to serve a term of five years for an attempted robbery in New York City. He will be taken into court Monday, and held for New York authorities.

SUSPECT SEIZED AFTER ATTACK ON GIRL, 18, IN PARK

The Wabash avenue police yesterday were holding James Walker, 21 years old, colored, for questioning in connection with the rape of a white girl, 18 years old, in Washington park earlier in the day. She was seized by three colored men who said they were policemen and was dragged from the car in which she was seated with an escort, Robert Evarts, 22 years old, of 801 Drexel square.

Evarts escaped and summoned police who searched the park and found the girl wandering dazedly. The Negroes could not be found. At the Chicago hospital physicians said the girl had been raped and beaten and was suffering from shock.

The suspect seized later was loitering near the scene of the attack. He denied connection with the crime, but was held to be viewed by the victim when she is able to leave the hospital.

PLAN TWO DAY RADIO REGATTA AND CARNIVAL

Representatives of Mayor Kelly's New Century committee, the park district, and the Lake Michigan Yachting association made plans yesterday for a combination radio regatta and carnival of the lakes to be held Aug. 27 and 28. The events will take place on Navy pier and in the yacht harbor south of Oak street.

A Navy ball and pageant will be held on the pier the night of Aug. 27, climaxed by the crowning of Chicago's two beauty queens. A boating exhibition will be held the next day with many types of craft participating. This will be featured by short wave radio broadcasts from the boats, which will be put on a public address system for the spectators ashore.

Woodriver, Ill., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Three outlaws escaped with $34,000 pay roll money today after a holdup at the postoffice here this morning. The money had just been delivered to an official of the First National bank.

It had been sent here by the St. Louis and Chicago federal reserve banks to meet the pay roll of the Shell petroleum refinery. Following their usual custom, Ralph Welsh, assistant cashier, and his father, bank guard, drove to the postoffice to accept the shipment.

The younger Welsh came out the side door of the postoffice with the money in three bags. These he placed on the floor in the rear of the car. As he was about to drive off the robbers drove alongside in their car. Two of them pointed machine guns at him while the third drew a revolver and walked over to the machine and seized the money.

SLAYER OF WIFE AND FRIEND GETS POLICE JOB BACK

Policeman John Lewe, who shot and killed his wife and her friend, Harry O. Johnson, was exonerated yesterday by police trial. Lewe was ordered restored to his rank of patrolman. He is assigned to the Burnside station.

Commissioner Allman suspended him after the shooting, which occurred June 7 at Randolph street and Wabash avenue.

Members of the trial board stated in their decision that they were influenced by action of a coroner's jury, which cleared Lewe, and the state's refusal to prosecute him. Lewe claimed he shot at Johnson in self-defense and that his wife was shot by accident.

GUNMAN-RAPIST SLAIN IN BATTLE WITH POLICEMAN

Hunted as Slayer of Girl in South Dakota.

Hot Springs, Ark., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Earl Young, gunman and rapist, was shot to death here today in a gun battle with two city policemen who trapped him in his hotel room. He had been sought in an intensive hunt by police and federal agents for the brutal slaying of Betty Schnaidt, 17 years old, of Sioux Falls, S. D.

The girl's bound body was found last Sunday in a clump of weeds near St. Charles, S. D., about 140 miles from her home. Young, 28 years old, was sought as the slayer after he was identified from a picture as the man who abandoned a stolen car near where the body was found.

Identified by Photos.

The rapist aroused the suspicions of Policemen Ben Rogers and Jerry Watkins when he arrived in Hot Springs last night. Returning to police headquarters they searched police files and found pictures identifying the stranger as Young. They went back to the hotel to arrest him.

When they knocked on the hotel room door, Young appeared with a gun in his hand. He quickly kicked the door shut and started firing. The two policemen stepped back, returning the gun fire. While they waited for other policemen to surround the hotel, Young started out of his room with his gun blazing.

The two policemen fired upon him and he fell wounded. He died a short time later.

Long Criminal Record.

Young had a criminal record dating back for a number of years. He was wanted as a jail breaker and the rapist who on June 15 kidnaped and attacked a Kansas State college co-ed at Hutchinson, Kas., after binding her escort. The rapist was identified by his picture as the gunman who kidnaped a Louisville, Ky., couple, later binding each to a tree.

The slain bandit was arrested as a burglar when 16 years old. Then followed a long career of crime. He had escaped from the county jail at Lebanon, Pa., recently.

RAIL CONDUCTOR ON JOB 50 YEARS; GETS GOLD CARD

For working for the Illinois Central railway for the last 50 years, Edward H. Baker, 69 years old, conductor on the streamlined Green Diamond, received a solid gold card yesterday. L. A. Downs, president of the railway, handed it to him at Central station while his fellow trainmen looked on.

Baker will not retire, but will keep on collecting tickets on the Chicago to St. Louis run. He lives at 7831 Drexel avenue.

Before he departed on his run yesterday he recalled the first run he made, from the South Water street terminal as a freight brakeman, at approximately the same hour 50 years ago. Two years later he became freight conductor, and in 1895 he was promoted to passenger conductor. For 18 years, from 1912, he held positions as trainmaster and supervisor of passenger train service employés.

MINOR HOODLUM IS FOUND SLAIN; SHOT 14 TIMES

Benny Bartolini, 28 years old, described by the police as a minor hoodlum in Chicago Heights, was found shot to death on the Steiber road near Crete yesterday. There were fourteen bullets in his body.

The body was discovered by Henry Biesterfeld, a highway commissioner of Crete township, as he was working on the road southeast of Crete. Miss Edith de Peso, former wife of Bartolini, identified the body.

In Bartolini's pocket was a season pass to the Washington Park race track, made out to A. Costello. Chicago Heights police questioned Anthony Costello, brother of Samuel Costello, who was slain in a Chicago Heights gangland killing in February. Costello denied knowing Bartolini and said he had never seen the pass. Bartolini lived at 66 West Hickory street, Chicago Heights.

Plane Due to Leave Berlin Tomorrow on World Flight

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—(AP)—It was announced at the German embassy tonight that a Focke-Wulff Condor plane would leave Berlin Sunday or Monday on a nonstop hop to New York City. The plane is the same one scheduled for a round-the-world attempt in September or October. The state department disclosed a permit had been granted for the plane to land in Alaska and the United States, probably at San Francisco, on its round-the-world trip.

GIRL'S LETTERS ACCUSE FATHER IN MURDER TRIAL

Love Notes Read to Back Slaying Accusation.

South Paris, Me., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Five love letters were read to a jury here today in an effort to corroborate the story of Paul Dwyer, 19 years old, that Francis M. Carroll was the slayer of Dr. James G. Littlefield and the physician's wife. The letters were written to Dwyer by Carroll's daughter, Barbara, 17 years old.

Dwyer is under a life sentence on his confession of the murder of Dr. Littlefield. He has since repudiated his confession that he killed the doctor and his wife and has named Carroll as the one who beat and strangled the couple. Wednesday he testified that Carroll killed Littlefield because the physician upbraided him for his relations with Barbara.

Knowledge of Letters Cited.

The youth asserted that Carroll then killed the doctor's wife to hide the first slaying. It is the contention of the state that Dr. Littlefield's knowledge of the letters, which hinted at Carroll's relations with his daughter, provided the motive. Carroll killed the physician, Dwyer said, when the doctor threatened to send him to jail.

Special Prosecutor Ralph Ingalls read the letters, which described a tragic romance of two small town sweethearts.

One letter said: "I think I regret telling you what I did yesterday. Not that I wasn't glad to get it off my chest, but it's bothering you and it's hell for me to be around where you can see me and know what you know now.

"That's one reason why it hurts when you say you are not decent enough to go with me, because it's me that's not decent. You should have a girl that hasn't been touched. I feel too rotten to write any more. Please keep the secret for my sake."

Fear of Separation Told.

Another letter said: "The thing that bothers me is that I don't think you are going to stay with me. I do not really know what you want. Although I know you love me and I am positive I love you, you deserve something better than I can give you.

"It's terrible separating us like this, but I guess I won't say anything about it. Dad hasn't said anything yet and neither has mother. I pity Dad when he does say something, because I am going to remind him of a few things."

Prosecutor Ingalls read the letters slowly to a crowded courtroom. Barbara's eyes were red and her lips trembled as she listened.

DOOMED KILLER NIXON WILL BE PUT ON TRIAL FOR ANOTHER MURDER

Robert Nixon, young Negro who was found guilty Thursday night of the brick murder of Mrs. Florence Johnson, will be put on trial again early next month for the rape murder of Mrs. Florence Thompson Castle, State's Attorney Courtney said yesterday. Mrs. Castle was attacked and slain in the Devonshire hotel, 19 East Ohio street, on June 29, 1936.

Members of the prosecutor's staf said they could not recall any previous case where a man convicted of one murder charge had been tried for a second murder. The jury in the Johnson case ordered Nixon to die in the electric chair.

Mr. Courtney, in announcing plans to try Nixon again, pointed out that Nixon's handwriting has been identified by experts as being the same as the writing on a message left in Mrs. Castle's room the night of the murder. Also Nixon's finger prints were found in the room.

2 SEIZED AFTER GANG MEMBER, 17, IS STABBED

Two young men were arrested by Deering Street police yesterday in connection with the stabbing early in the day by Peter Kudro, 17 years old, 3212 Wallace street. They are George Conklin, 17, of 945 West 35th place, and Harold Neumann, 19, of 3206 Wallace street. Kudro was sitting with several companions at 32d street and Lowe avenue when attacked. Police said Kudro is a member of a neighborhood gang which has been at war with another gang. He was taken to County hospital.

THE MOSCOW PURGE IN C. I. O.

Only about a third of the story of the communist fight in John Lewis' United Automobile Workers' union has found its way into what may be called, in this connection at least, the secular press. The purge of the Reds by President Homer Martin has not been properly viewed, and consequently the real situation in the union has been obscured. The information which comes from the inside and is reported in sympathetic journals reveals that Mr. Martin is accused himself of being under the influence of the Marxist rebel, Jay Lovestone.

Lovestone was general secretary of the American communist party and was thrown out for heresy in 1929. The Stalin communists in the union, following the Moscow line, add Trotzkyism to the Lovestone influence and make Martin the tool of the Trotzkyite-Lovestoneite center in the United States. This is as familiarly Red as if it came out of Moscow itself, and the authority for it may be accepted as sympathetic if not unimpeachable.

The United Automobile Workers' union is the one with which Lewis won his first and most signal success immediately after the reëlection of Mr. Roosevelt, for which he paid. He took General Motors with a lawless attack upon the automobile industry in Michigan, having the support of Gov. Murphy, the Michigan National Guard, and the federal postoffice and labor departments. The success of the Automobile Workers' affiliate in taking General Motors helped Lewis to make his next victorious assault, which was with his Steel Workers' organization upon Big Steel, which he also took. Thus he had a foothold in two of the strongest corporations among America's biggest industries, an invaluable position for communist tactics.

The revelations of what is happening in the United Automobile Workers' union are made by its factional leaders and by the writers and editors of such a sympathetic radical journal as the New Republic. A manuscript account of the furious communist war in the union was submitted to Mr. Martin for correction or supplementary facts, and the editors report that in reply they heard, by telephone, from Jay Lovestone, as Martin's adviser. Consequently the illumination of the situation in a great American union and what it reveals of Lewis' C. I. O. does not come from the stigmatized capitalistic press but from the friends of this industrial revolution.

The story is much too long for repetition in complete detail here. Homer Martin is anti-communist, but is said to have fallen into the hands of one. It appears that Lovestone, who is as much a Stalin outcast as the condemned and exiled Trotzky, is chief adviser and, it is alleged, was responsible for the suspension of the vice presidents now being tried by what is called a packed trial board. These vice presidents, Richard Frankensteen, Wyndham Mortimer, Ed Hall, and Walter N. Wells, are members of the Unity, left wing faction of the union which is dominated by Stalinite, or majority, communists. George Addes, the general secretary, was expelled chiefly because of a fight over the placing of insurance and the collection of dues.

As a reflection upon Martin's sincerity in purging the Stalinites out of the union it is noted that the most powerful affiliate, the body of tool and die workers, most highly paid of Detroit skilled labor, organized by the communist party workers, John Anderson and Nat Ganley, has had no trouble with the president, although it is "militantly outstanding" among the Stalinists. It is suggested that Martin has not dared touch these "labor aristocrats, about 75 per cent British born," because they are too tough to crack. It is admitted that they are of the Stalinist persuasion.

Martin has fired the socialists, Victor and Roy Ruether, as organizers. He has added eight Lovestoneites to the union headquarters' pay roll. He has fired Frank Winn, the socialist publicity director of the union, and Henry Kraus, the Stalinite communist editor of its Auto Worker. The Unity, leftist or Stalinite, claims that it has 36 locals of the union's 500 and that these 36 comprise 80 per cent of the total membership.

W. L. White, son of William Allen White, the Kansas editor, who has gathered what he presents as the facts, says "although President Martin is moved by high hysterical sincerity, his 'purge' of the Stalinists will damage his union as seriously as Stalin's purge of old bolsheviks has damaged the U. S. S. R. in world opinion."

Mr. Martin denies that he knows or sees Lovestone. It may be that the Stalin communists have undertaken to discredit the union president, who says that they are wrecking the organization and will either destroy it or control it. What will amaze many Americans will be to find such a battlefield in the union which seeks to be the collective bargaining agency under the National Labor act in one of the greatest American industries. If the inside facts are as stated, communist is battling communist in a purge which is as violent in intent as anything that has been conducted in soviet Russia. Each faction accuses the other of wrecking and counterrevolutionary activities. It is not asserted that the two communist factions are in the majority in the rank and file, but they are protagonists in the conflict and they have drawn the other members in.

Mr. Lewis has not been able to stop the fighting or bring the factions together. He has avoided taking sides although appealed to by each. The automobile workers' union is only one of the C. I. O. affiliates in which communists already dominate or seek control. Lewis' progress in the Democratic party, from which he says the conservatives must be expelled, has carried in his train the quarreling Reds with their bloody feuds. They are already fighting for spoils.

PROTECTION FOR LAMBS.

A big commodity market like the Chicago Board of Trade attracts many kinds of interests. There are the country elevator people who sell the grain purchased from farmers. There are the city elevator operators who buy the grain as it is marketed and sell immediately for future delivery, getting paid for the storage charges in the difference in price. There are the millers and other food processors who purchase their supplies of grain in the market and protect themselves against loss by hedging sales of futures.

There are the international grain houses that are constantly on the alert for an opportunity to buy wheat at a price at which it can be profitably sold abroad. There are the professional speculators who operate with widespread sources of information and an expert knowledge of what the information means as to eventual prices. They anticipate the broad swings over an entire year, or crop season, and try to bring prices into relationship with the demand and supply conditions. There are the amateur speculators who try to read the tape or buy on whims and tips. The amateur speculators are familiarly referred to as the lambs. After a gambol they usually wind up without their fleece.

It now appears that there is still another figure in the commodity markets. He is a self-appointed shepherd for little lambs. He solicits money from clients on the promise of making money for them in wheat, corn, oats, or coffee. He gets a percentage of the profits on completed transactions, but shares none of the losses.

On that kind of an arrangement the shepherd or tipster cannot fail to make money although his lambs lose as usual. Having two clients, he can sell 5,000 bushels of wheat for one and buy 5,000 bushels of wheat for the other. One of these operations must result in a profit on which a commission is payable to the tipster. One client loses as much as the other gains. But all the shepherd can lose at most is a customer.

It isn't even necessary for the tipster to have two clients to make a cinch profit for himself. He can accomplish the same result with one lamb by buying 5,000 bushels for September delivery and selling simultaneously an equal amount for December delivery. One of these transactions results in profit. By closing out the trade which shows a gain and keeping the other transaction open, the shepherd can show a profit on which a commission is payable.

That the tipsters are not the experts they represent themselves to be was indicated by a survey, the results of which became available Monday. It was found that very few of them have been able to operate at a profit when trading for themselves. Of sixteen "experts" investigated eleven had incomes less than $3,000 in 1937. Some were in financial difficulties, and one was on relief part of the year.

The Chicago Board of Trade and five other commodity exchanges in coöperation with the department of agriculture have opened a drive against this form of racket. The market would serve its function better if it not only eliminated the tipsters but also discouraged amateurs who are without adequate data or technical experience with which to speculate intelligently.

THE THREE FRAUDS OF TVA.

The TVA electrical power development is the byproduct of three frauds. Power to be produced and sold within the constitutional authority of the TVA must be a byproduct. It cannot be a primary reason for the expenditures. The TVA, under the law creating it, cannot build or operate dams for the production of electrical power. Only as an incident to other purposes can this governmental corporation set up a socialistic power network in the area governed by it.

Originally the purpose, which was really pork, was concealed under nitrates for war use. Then the pretext was cheap fertilizer to benefit the farmers. The sale to Henry Ford fell through and the socialistic power promoters in congress took up the pretext of flood control and navigation. At no time can it be admitted in court that the object is power production because no appropriations can be made for that.

Dr. Harry A. Curtis, chief chemical engineer of the TVA, tells the congressional investigating committee that private industry is preferable to government operation in the manufacture of fertilizer on a commercial scale. Red tape, he said, necessary to keep corruption out of a government enterprise, would prevent TVA from successful competition with private concerns. The nitrate plant was supposed to be in a stand-by condition, but Dr. Curtis says it is not, that to put it in such condition would cost a million dollars for the ammonia part of the plant, and that the war department had decided against plans for rehabilitation.

The three frauds upon which the TVA production of power rests are fertilizer which cannot be made, navigation which is not needed, and flood control which cannot be provided by reservoirs serving power production purposes.

Editorial of the Day

CHEERS AND CATCALLS.

[The Kansas City Star.]

A new record, it seems, has been established on Pikes peak. James A. Armando of Hartford, Conn., has pedaled to the top on a bicycle in 3 hours and 25 minutes, thereby beating the best previous time by thirty-five minutes.

Considered purely from a cyclistic point of view, this is probably a remarkable feat, although why any one would want to pump uphill continuously for 3 hours and 25 minutes escapes our comprehension. The true art of cycling, we had supposed, lay in finding a route that would combine a maximum down grade with a minimum climb. Still, if Mr. Armando likes it the other way we cannot complain.

What we do deny—and deny emphatically—is that Mr. Armando's achievement has anything to do with mountaineering. It is hard to conceive a more serious affront to a self-respecting mountain than to be climbed on a bicycle. Pikes peak, of course, is one of the tamest of the Rockies. It is a poodle among mountains, submitting to all sorts of indignities in the friendliest possible manner. Years ago a cog railroad was built to its 14,000 foot summit and long before there were hard surface roads across the plains of Kansas a motor highway zigzagged up its slopes.

But there must be a limit to the patience of even so obliging a mountain. And we should not be surprised if it blew up in volcanic anger one of these days. Perhaps the eruption is scheduled for the next attempt to lower the existing kiddie car record.

Café society at the Buttery the other night recognized George Jessel and if they were close enough might have overheard his stories. One concerned the movie magnate on his way to Europe recently, who asked the captain to sit at his table.

Another story of Jessel's concerned the London cabby who for some forty years had made the practice of calling for Lord Whistlestone every night in the Jermyn street flat and taking him to his favorite restaurant for a glass of crusty old port. The cabby received for this service—not a nightly fee, but a very niggardly weekly stipend. It was a traditional service in a way, for he also had performed a similar service for his lordship's father.

One night a sudden blizzard swept London, but the old cabby called for his fare just the same. On this occasion Lord Whistlestone drank two or three glasses of the crusty old port, on account of the bitter weather, and dozed a bit over the last glass. Meanwhile the old cabby waited patiently outside, icicles clinging to his whiskers, his nose blue with cold.

"Bit of a raw night, Jenkins," said his lordship upon emerging.

"'Aven't seen a bloomin' butterfly for a 'arf hour," retorted the cabby.

Dressed in standard Hollywood fashion, blue linen slacks, white shoes, deep blue sport shirt, blue scarf, and no coat, he was refused admittance to a fashionable restaurant the other night. Incorrect attire, the head waiter said.

—Frederick Stock went to Europe primarily to get new music for the fiftieth anniversary of the Chicago Symphony orchestra in 1941.

O'Coraidhegain.

(The Little Hero.)

Seventeen hundred and eighteen years ago when the mighty Cormac, high king of Ireland, set forth across the Irish sea at the head of a punitive expedition to crack down on the natives of Alba, who had taken their own good time in kicking in with their yearly tribute to the Irish king, he took with him as usual his specially selected bodyguard of fifty of his kinsmen—selected for their quietness of mouth and their fighting ability.

And it came to pass that just before one of his battles when the mighty Cormac was engaged in a little reconnoitering with his bodyguard, that the king and his bodyguard were set upon from ambush.

The Gaelic king was wounded by a spear thrust in the shoulder and was incapacitated from further participation in the fighting.

Forty-nine of the king's bodyguard were felled by the battle axes of the enemy. But one lone redheaded wee bit of a mick remained to fight his way out single handed, and saved his sovereign from becoming a royal hostage in the hands of the enemy.

He who saves his monarch's life should be rewarded. And so it was in Tara's spacious banquet hall, on Tara's hill, in the kingly palace of the mighty Cormac, and in the presence of the Irish chieftains of the various clans—that the Irishman who saved his monarch's life was knighted—and made a chieftain in his own right.

The mighty Cormac had bestowed upon the newly made chieftain the nickname of CORAIDHEGAN—taken from the Gaelic word "coraidhe" meaning a hero—a little hero.

Thus began the clan of Coraidhegan, and as time progressed and Irishmen began taking unto themselves surnames, the son of Coraidhegan became known as Mac Coraidhegain, and the grandson was known as O'Coraidhegain—and so it continued to be O'Coraidhegain for generation after generation—and down to the time of Queen Elizabeth.

But in the pronunciation of ancient Gaelic names Englishmen have never been proficient and the English tax assessors of the time were never able to pronounce or memorize the name O'Coraidhegain.

And it was then that the English tax assessors of the time (without even consulting the O'Coraidhegains in the matter) knocked off the "O" and trimmed the monicker down to its present Anglicized form of Corrigan.

Long time travelers in and out of the Dearborn station have a thirty-five year acquaintance with Louis Feichtmann, presiding genius of the Harvey restaurant in the station, oldest of the Harvey restaurants in Chicago. Louis was born in Hungary and is a brother of Willie Pogany. Although there are newer and dressier Harvey restaurants in Chicago now, not only his traveling patrons are faithful to Louis but many business men still seek out his restaurant for luncheon. The late Thomas Marshall, Vice President of the United States, used to stop in the Dearborn station restaurant for charcoal broiled steaks. T. E. Donnelley and the late Reuben Donnelley ate luncheon there every day for years and Reuben Donnelley left a diamond stickpin to Louis in his will. Finnan haddie is one of the specialties. Boned and steamed, it is put in cream and placed under the broiler, and you'll never get better finnan haddie anywhere.

FOOT COMFORT.

HAPPY is he who possesses normal feet, for he shall be spared the trials and tribulations of corns, calluses, and bunions!

Probably the worst abused structures of the human body are the pedal extremities. Too many take it for granted that they—our chief instruments of locomotion—will endure almost any kind of mistreatment—all without complaint.

Of course, we want good looking shoes, but most of us can remember a bygone period when we "broke in" footgear at the expense of much suffering. As youngsters our chief delight was to take for a long country hike each new boy who appeared in a pair of shiny, tight-fitting, razor-toed oxfords. Too game to give in, his every step was attended with agony.

We owe much to certain manufacturers who have so modified their lasts as to provide adequate room for the toes, increasing the width across the ball of the foot and extending the forward curve to conform to nature. But sometimes we are not careful enough about our purchase of foot coverings with the result that pinching or friction will cause a corn or callus.

I still marvel at the high heels affected by members of the fair sex, with the foot slanting downward at an angle of 30 degrees or more, and I hope that some day our stylists will return to the Cuban heel or one but slightly higher. This angular position is bound to exert a powerful thrust on the heads of the metatarsal bones, crowding them even lower. There is scarcely any type of discomfort more temper destroying than excessive pressure upon this area. In addition, the tendon at the back of the leg is inclined to contract because of the extreme height of the heel. If this pushing does nothing else, we may anticipate confidently the development of calluses at the heads of the metatarsals. Shaving of this horny plaque will bring only temporary relief. The thing that we must do is to remedy the distorted mechanics, raising the ends of these bones.

Ofttimes difficulty with the walking apparatus lies in an out-of-balance weight bearing. This may have originated early in childhood when one should have learned how to stand and how to walk correctly—the latter being all too rare an accomplishment. It should be done with chin up and drawn inward, shoulders back, the chest expanded, and all abdominal muscles in mild contraction. Few of us know how to use the arms. They should swing forward and backward several inches from the midline of the thigh as a counter weight and an aid in preserving balance. All of this is important, for pedestrian activity is our most beneficial form of exercise. But no one can indulge properly if afflicted with aching feet.

Another common condition, particularly in young people, is known as painful heel. This occurs following a jump or fall in which the weight is brought to bear upon the heel, causing a true inflammation of the growing portion of the bone. In adults the distress sometimes arises because of arthritis [spur formation on the heel bone], or because a ligament has been injured, torn, or overstretched, in which cases it is necessary to treat the trouble as though it were a sprain. Physical therapy, including heat and mild massage, affords more rapid healing than rest.

I recall the manipulations of an old athletic trainer. We all thought he was paying entirely too much attention to limbering up the feet. The chances are that he kept his "boys" in better shape because he constantly massaged the toes, tendons, and ligaments as an aid to free action of the muscles.

For foot comfort we must look first to the shoes, next to posture, then to an even, well distributed weight bearing. Why bother removing corns and calluses when, with a little care, we can prevent them? If your dealer in footwear cannot aid you, severe cases of imbalance can be overcome by a skilled orthopedic specialist by means of proper readjustments.

PSORIASIS.

Mrs. A. F. W. writes: I have been afflicted with psoriasis for eight years and do not know how or where I got it. It started at the back of my head along the hairline, and now there are spots behind my ears and inside the ears themselves. My physician told me that a cure has not yet been found and gave me a prescription for an ointment which removes the scales and stops the itching, but the condition is spreading. How does one acquire it in the first place? Is it a germ? Does diet affect it in any way?

REPLY.

The cause of psoriasis is not known, although it probably is not of bacterial origin. The chances are that it is a disease of metabolism—some nutritional defect. We have a leaflet on this common skin disorder, which we shall be glad to send you upon request, accompanied by a stamped, addressed envelope.

CREATURES OF HABIT.

M. N. writes: Will you say something about those who pick at the face, head, ears, and nose—particularly the latter—in street cars and other public places? I suppose it is a nervous habit, but it is thoroughly revolting and cannot be healthful. Certainly they would not continue if they were conscious of the exhibition they are making.

REPLY.

We are all creatures of habit. Many nervous mannerisms are disgusting, to say the least. You have no alternative other than to look the other way or become absorbed in your newspaper.

Why not provide such persons with special compartments, or blinds affixed to the headgear that could be lowered during the operations?

A special article on the health angle of these practices will appear shortly.

SUPPORT RARELY NEEDED.

F. S. writes: The dealer I patronize tells me that a child should wear high shoes until he is eight years old—never low cut. My physician says it is a matter of choice; that if a child can walk safely in his bare feet he can wear either style shoe.

What is your opinion?

REPLY.

I agree with your physician.

Supports for the ankles are rarely needed. In fact, using a sandal type of foot covering follows the natural method of developing the ligaments, tendons, and muscles.

REMINDER FOR PROF. BODINE.

Iowa City, Ia., Aug. 3.—In reply to Prof. Bodine's letter, printed Monday, defending the actions of Gov. Kraschel: Let us suppose that Prof. Bodine has a gardener who has joined the C. I. O. and is asking for more money which the professor is unable to give him because his own source of income has been reduced. One fine morning the professor awakes to find that not only his gardener but gardeners from Cedar Rapids, Davenport, and Des Moines are picketing his home, and when he remonstrates they march in, smash the windows in the tool shed, seize the tools for weapons, pull up his pet perennials, trample his garden, and decide that Prof. Bodine, being an employer, has no right to continue his business of going to the classroom at the state university so long as he will not comply with his gardener's demand for higher wages. So he is held prisoner in his home.

Does Prof. Bodine now remember that the constitution guarantees law and order, and does he call the police? Yes, he does, and the police of this little town find there are too many violent men for them to cope with, so they call on the governor for help in quelling the disturbance. The governor looks over the situation and decides that the professor has only one vote, but here are all these others who represent so many more votes, and besides, they have indorsed him for reëlection at their union meeting at St. Louis, so he remembers that Prof. Bodine is in that class of economic royalists who are foolish enough to spend their money to employ men and give them a job. So he sends the militia to keep Prof. Bodine a prisoner on his own premises until he becomes broad-minded enough to go into debt to comply with his gardener's demands. Now the professor, who is the only stockholder in his home, thinks this governor should be commended for his stand and receive the indorsement of the people at the polls. I wonder if he really would!

But the professor is paid by tax money in the hands of the politicians, so isn't it natural that he will support the politician?

I am not a Maytag stockholder, but a taxpayer, who objects to having my money spent to keep men unemployed at my expense while their jobs are waiting for them. I am, however, a stockholder in the University of Iowa and personally object to having the taxpayers' money go into the pay envelope of a professor who does not subscribe to American ideals but is willing to indoctrinate our youth with a contempt for law and order while we are in the hands of a corrupt political régime. But is that not to be expected from a school which is using thousands of dollars of WPA money and is constantly seeking more?

PHYSICIANS AND HOSPITALS.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—For twenty-nine years it has been my lot as a minister to call on the sick and to be thrown in constant contact with hospitals and doctors. There are 106 hospitals listed in our city directory. Last year I called on the sick in fifty-six of them. For a number of years I was in a volleyball class consisting of ministers, doctors and dentists.

In all my twenty-nine years of ministry I have never found a doctor who hesitated or refused to help any one who I felt needed medical aid. During that period every hospital but one has at my request given free hospital service or reduced the rates to meet the ability of the patient. There may be an unscrupulous and heartless doctor here and there. I am grateful I have not met him.

Pastor, Bethany Presbyterian Church.

SOMETHING ABOUT "FOO."

Chicago, Aug. 2.—In defense of "foo" I am taking time out to answer "Constant Reader" of Aug. 1. I think the expression "foo" originated in Bill Holman's comic strip, "Smoky Stover," "Foo" is not a word but the suggestion of a word. Although it is nonsense it does have meaning to one who is acquainted with many types of mental tests, in that "foos" are substituted for blanks. One, if one can, supplies the correct word. It grieves me sorely to think that "Constant Reader's" background has made him think the suggestion a vulgar one. If one has a sense of humor, the very fact that an artist has been clever enough to portray the stereotyped person makes it amusing to those who can personalize the characters and situation.

THE DOCTOR'S SERVICES.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—As the son of one of the very best country doctors of the "saddle bag days" of medicine—Albert Hayden of Shullsburg, Wis.—and as a Chicago physician, practicing here since 1908, I read with great satisfaction the TRIBUNE'S editorial, "Prosecuting the Doctors."

I know of no doctor who has refused to serve any patient at the office, hospital or in the patient's home because of inability to pay. Over 4,000 of us here in Chicago, 7,000 in Illinois, and 110,000 in the United States have developed, largely through our American Medical association, a system of medical education and a method of medical practice, including hospital care which, with the help of American dentists, pharmacists, nurses and other coöperating agencies, serves the people of this country in "sickness and health" better than any other people are served anywhere else in the world.

The further development and continuous improvement of all of this is indeed the doctor's trust now, as always, but more especially now when the American way, for the moment at least, seems hard to follow.

Your editorial is greatly and immediately in the public interest.

CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, July 29.—[Friend of the People.]—Twelve years ago last March 1 came to the United States as a merchant with a permit valid for one year. Then I went to Canada and from the American consul in Montreal I obtained an unlimited permit to come here, still as a merchant. Can I now apply for citizenship papers? Is there any difficulty from the immigration office? A. A. B.

It is suggested that the inquirer call at the office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service in the new postoffice building in order that all the facts in his case may be ascertained and he may be appropriately advised.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
District Director of Immigration and Naturalization, Chicago District.

PRESUMPTION OF DEATH.

Chicago, July 29.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My uncle has been missing from a state institution for the insane for seven years.

1. I am informed that under common law a person must be missing for seven years before considered dead.

I should like to know what our state statutes say in respect to this situation and [2] also what procedure, legal or otherwise, is necessary for the collection of insurance benefits. R. M.

1. You are right in that seven years' absence is a basis for a presumption of death.

2. Rights under the insurance policy would depend largely on the wording of the policy. Many policies expressly stipulate against liability based on a mere presumption of death. We suggest that you read the policy.

COMPENSATION ACT.

Chicago, July 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is an employer held responsible for an accident to one of his employés on the way to work while the employed man is driving his own car which is a pleasure vehicle and is in no way connected with the company for which he works? Is the driver of the car held responsible for all accidents, either on the way to work or returning home from work? J. B.

The Illinois compensation act applies only to accidents arising out of and in the course of the employment. In some cases injuries on the way to and from work have been treated as covered, but we see no basis for such a holding on the bare facts which you state. If the case is not covered by the compensation act then there would be no liability in absence of proof of negligence.

Mother Boosts Arden Shore

Nancy [left] and Gloria Green, and Wendy, their Sealyham pup, get plenty of air and sunshine all summer playing in the country. That is one reason why their mother, Mrs. Dwight P. Green, is so interested in the Arden Shore camp. The camp every summer provides a country holiday for children and their mothers and grandmothers from Chicago's congested areas. Mrs. Green is a member of the Arden Shore association's Chicago committee, which is giving an American Flagship ball at the Drake hotel on Oct. 8 to benefit the camp. The party, a dinner-dance, will mark the formal opening for the fall of the Gold Coast room at the hotel.

Paul Guenzel Will Marry St. Paul Girl

BY JUDITH CASS.

WILLIAM WOOD SKINNER of St. Paul, Minn., today is announcing the engagement of his daughter, Elizabeth Chittenden, to Paul Walter Guenzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Guenzel of 219 Lake Shore drive.

Miss Skinner has been visiting the Guenzels for several days, but she and her fiancé are spending this weekend in Fish Creek, Wis., where they played together as children, and where they met again just recently for the first time since becoming adults. The Guenzels formerly had a summer home at Fish Creek, where Mr. Skinner still has one. This weekend, however, Mr. Guenzel and Miss Skinner will stay with her grandmother, Mrs. Frank P. Crunden of St. Louis.

According to present plans the wedding will take place in Fish Creek at the end of September. Due to the recent death of Mrs. Skinner, it will be a small one. Mr. Guenzel will bring his bride to Chicago to make their home. He is engaged in business here with his uncle, Walter P. Paepcke.

Miss Skinner attended the Foxcroft and the Hacienda del Sol schools. Mr. Guenzel, who is a grandson of the late Hermann Paepcke, attended the Latin School for Boys, and was graduated from Williams college in 1931.

Mrs. Walter Paepcke returned yesterday from a trip to Europe. Later in the month she and Mr. Paepcke will go west to their ranch in Colorado for a short vacation.

Daughter Born to Kneedlers in Manila.

I. Newton Perry has received a cable from his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mason Kneedler in Manila, announcing the birth of a daughter yesterday. Mrs. Kneedler is the former Polly Perry. The baby will be named Pauline Perry Kneedler, but will be called Perry.

Mrs. Perry and Mrs. Kneedler's debutante sister, Miss Sally Perry, have been in Manila for several weeks and will stay on until October. Miss Perry's debut is to be at the Casino during the Christmas holidays.

A wire from Boston yesterday brought word of the birth of a daughter, their first child, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Proctor of Wellesley, Mass. Mrs. Proctor is the former Mary Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Miller of Winnetka. Mr. Proctor is the skier for whom Proctor mountain at Sun Valley was named.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller are summering at Nonquitt, Mass., so they already have seen the baby, who is a great-great-granddaughter of Roswell B. Mason, mayor Chicago at the time of the great fire. Also at Nonquitt is the infant's great-uncle, Henry G. Miller, who motored east last week.

Blossom Family Plans Vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Blossom Jr. and their family have chosen separate directions for their vacations. At present Douglas Blossom is with his uncle, William S. Bacon, in Pasadena, Cal., where they are visiting George W. Blossom Sr. On their way to Pasadena they stopped in Tucson, Ariz., where Mr. Bacon is building another house on his ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Blossom are leaving on Aug. 15 for Castle Park, Mich. Their daughter, Barbara, and son, George, will go with them, and they hope that Douglas will return from Pasadena in time to accompany them. Miss Louise Blossom is leaving on the 15th to visit Miss Mary Trumbull at Old Mission, Mich., and Miss Marian Farwell at the Huron Mountain club.

Mrs. Alfred Gawthrop of Stelton, N. J., and her daughter, Gail, not yet a year old, are visiting Mrs. Gawthrop's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Baum, in Lake Forest. About Aug. 20 Mrs. Gawthrop and her daughter will go to North Hatley, Que., to join Mr. Gawthrop.

Mrs. Baum recently has returned from Palm Beach, Fla., where she and Mr. Baum are building a house. In November they will go to Palm Beach to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stanton are leaving for a ranch at Buffalo, Wyo., today. They will be away two or three weeks.

Plan Vacation at Randolph, Va.

Mrs. William F. Peter and her daughter, Marion, will leave the middle of the month to spend two weeks in Randolph, Va., on the plantation that is jointly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Preston, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Bard.

Mr. and Mrs. Bard hope to spend a few weeks at the farm in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Slattery are occupying Mrs. Walter G. McIntosh's Lake Geneva home this summer. The property is known as Sung Harbor.

Mrs. Charles Edward Rhetts, the former Ruth Fisher, left yesterday for Washington, D. C., where she and Mr. Rhetts are to make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Rhetts, who were married last spring, had been occupying the garage apartment of her mother's, Mrs. Walter Fisher's, Hubbard Woods home.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Bull are returning this week-end from a brief stay in New York.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Forum.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 5.—Lucien A. Sauvage, Los Angeles correspondent for Reuters, says that his London office is checking on this column's query about Baron von Cramm. . . . Local tennis players have been alarmed by reports that Von Cramm was killed.

Harold Cary, United Air lines' vice president, points out that S. A. Stimpson, district trafic manager for United Air, at San Francisco, in 1930, originated the idea of air line stewardesses. . . . Today there are 600 stewardesses flying the airways night and day in this country, and Stimpson's idea also has been copied by Germany. . . . The eight stewardesses engaged by Boeing in 1930 have retired. . . . Most of them are married. . . . One of them, ironically, was killed—while learning to drive an automobile. . . . Women's clubs might honor these eight girls, because they opened up a new line of endeavor for their sex, and their bravery in accidents is a saga of courage.

Dr. Arthur Hoffman, Hollis, N. Y., says that the leper colonists have seen moving pictures before this present shipment of film, and gives "An American Doctor's Odyssey," chapter 15, as authority. . . . I checked, and Dr. Victor Heiser writes: ". . . They [the lepers] enjoyed greatly the films with which generous motion picture companies kept me supplied."

Ed Lowry asks this column to contact President Roosevelt and arrange "National Laugh week," with all the big time comics coöperating. . . . It's a grand idea that Lowry proposes. . . . What the country, and the world, needs is more laughs, less tension. . . . Whether or not the Republicans will laugh wholeheartedly is something else again.

Elizabeth Ransom, 3270 Lake Shore drive, Chicago, says that my "Listen, Kids" columns are "stinking bores," and that "you are becoming increasingly smug, conceited and presumptious in all of your columnar efforts." Listen, Liz, it is spelled "presumptuous." . . . Bruce Shelton doubts that Firpo knocked out Bill Brennan in the old Madison Square Garden as related here. . . . The date was March 12, 1923.

Dr. Gene Burrows says that President Wilson's comment on "The Birth of a Nation" was used first by William Hazlitt, who said that Edmund Kean's performance as Richard III. was "like reading history by flashes of lightning."

J. H. Robinson, from Nacogdoches, Tex., points out that other southern papers have joined Birmingham, Ala., in begging Hollywood not to use phony southern accents in "Gone with the Wind." . . . The Houston Chronicle's editorial is headed "You-All Quit It, Honey-Chile."

Donald Atchinson, Elgin, Ill., columnist, points out that Helen Hayes also had unexpected competition when she played "Victoria Regina" in Chicago. . . . A fire broke out next door in a Chinese restaurant, enfilading the Victorian period with Chinese cussing, fire sirens, bells, shouts of the firemen, the hiss of water pressure. . . . Miss Hayes calmly stepped out of character, told the audience that if they wished to see the fire she'd join them. . . . From then on you could have heard a pin drop.

Brooklynite J. C. Grey adds these newcomers and unknowns to the list and asks me to boost them: Armand Girard, singing with the Kelsey and Gill bands from San Francisco; Baritone John Herrick, with NBC in New York; Betty Kelly, also with the Kelsey band. . . .

A group of Chicagoans write to protest that "In Old Chicago" was a libel on their city; that Chicago of 1871 wasn't a mining town inhabited by gamblers, gangsters, and other reprobates. . . . They ask my honest opinion. My honest opinion was that the casting of youthful Tyrone Power and youthful Alice Faye as the rulers of Chicago was the poorest casting of the completely unbelievable. . . . But when a picture costs $2,000,000 I, for one, hesitate to knock it in the head before it reaches theater audiences. . . . In "Alexander's Ragtime Band," Zanuck cast Power and Miss Faye in rôles they could handle logically and the difference in performances between this one and "In Old Chicago" is spectacular.

Lura Patterson casts a vote for Barbara Stanwyck as "Scarlett O'Hara." . . Maida Heatter, whose pappy is famous Gabriel Heatter, wants to know a columnist's opinion on girls' hats. . . . It seems to me, Maida, that the hat makers are all wrong. . . . The idea should be to concentrate attention on a girl's FACE. . . . Modern hats yank the attention away from the faces. . . . It is reminiscent of the story about the man who went out in his buckboard to shoot rabbits. . . . He stood up in his seat, took aim, fired, and killed the horse. . . .

Lilly Kyronen, West Quincy, Mass., says that the movies have squandered Ralph Forbes' talent in bad pictures and suggests a column on "How to Become a Reporter." . . . Okay, I'll do one soon. . . . From Jersey City Barney Becker wants a story on the chaps who composed the grand music for "Snow White." . . . Milton M. Unger, vice president of the New Jersey Bar association, says he likes the "Listen, Kids" columns and incloses an article by Dr. Frank Kingdon, University of Newark prexy. . . . Thank you, sir.

A young chap, out of work, wants to sell Darryl Zanuck a $1,000,000 insurance policy and asks what I think of the idea. Well, it's daring, but hopeless.

Good Morning!

The sun is shining! The birds are singing! There's a fresh breeze blowing! Or—even if vice versa—it's a nice morning for me, because I've got a swell picture to tell you about.

"Letter of Introduction" has all the makin's! Romance, drama, and a LOT of laughs! For—not only are Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy right there on their chuckle inspiring toes, but there's MORTIMER!

Mortimer's another dummy. A hayseed from the sticks. And does he bring the green light of jealousy to Charlie's eye and cause his heart to char in the "vehement flame"! With reason! For Mortimer is one of the funniest things to emerge from the everywhere into the here.

Backgrounded for the most part by a theatrical boarding house, "Letter of Introduction" tells a new sort of father and daughter story. The "letter" is from a mother introducing a daughter to a father. It brings a lovely and ambitious girl into the life of a famous movie star, pushes her into the arms of love—and casts her happiness on the rocks for a while.

Then—but see the picture for further details.

It's a craftsmanlike film in the main. I think, toward the last much more sympathy would have been aroused for Adolphe Menjou if a certain entirely unnecessary drinking sequence had been omitted. [You tell me your opinions on the subject.]

Lovely ["Stage Door"] Andrea Leeds gives a delightful performance. She is so natural always—and so beautiful! Adolphe Menjou is grand! The funsters were never funnier—though Edgar Bergen just can't seem to shed his ventriloquist mannerisms when the script calls for him to act without a dummy—and I think you'll applaud the work of George Murphy and several feminine newcomers.

Direction, dialog, photography, sets and sound score.

It's a pleasure to recommend "Letter of Introduction."

Chicago Girls' Flying Club to Hold Annual Air Carnival Sept. 11

Members of the Chicago Girls' Flying club decided last night at a meeting in the Blackstone hotel to hold their fourth annual air carnival Sept. 11. The site will be the Lansing airport.

The club will hold the carnival in conjunction with the Youth International Air Thrill Circus and Air Races. The girls will open the show with a one hour exhibition of stunt flying, novelty racing, and the usual speed racing.

Fifteen members of the club are planning to take part. Only one is a professional. The others, when not flying an airplane for fun, are stenographers, housewives and private secretaries.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

We've been asked lately for suggestions that would prove a solution to the eternal problem of small, different and not too expensive gifts for the week-end hostess. Here are some:

The sachet cases, in lovely fabrics and colors, are tops with us. The week-end hostess would love the lilac scented cases for lingerie, handkerchiefs, and stockings. You can have them monogrammed if you wish. If she's a very feminine person who likes every detail as elegant as possible consider the sachet case of satin or taffeta that holds a full box of cleansing tissues. The fabric can be in light or dark colors.

In this same sachet family there is a sacheted pretty cover for a hot water bottle, too. Also a little pocket with a flap that goes under the mattress to hang from the side of the bed. It's the last word in guest room touches and we can't believe the housewife lives who wouldn't adore it.

Then there are always fancy soaps, in guest sizes up to huge cakes. You can just about write your own price ticket in this field and you can be certain that such gifts are appreciated. They're truly useful. And every woman adores luxurious soaps. June geranium, verbena, almond, and rose geranium are huge favorites.

When you're soap shopping be sure to look at the enormous cake [called a magnum] of June geranium. Lasts the whole summer, practically, and never loses its lovely perfume.

Smart Skirts Sold Separately Boon to Budget

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Career girls returning from vacations with the grim problem of reviving a slim wardrobe on a small amount of cash will cheer the finds of the week—separate skirts of every color, style, and formation imaginable!

Unpacked by the dozen for the benefit of the first college shopper, these skirts also offer a shopping opportunity for the office worker. If you've taken the skirt and jacket idea seriously these good looking separate skirts will have the same irresistible lure that the sweater collections have held.

Plaids, wild and woolly, are predestined successes for the first fall days. You can find gaudy or rather subdued numbers. You'll have yourself a time trying to keep your purchases down to a mere one. The sprightly plaited-all-the-way round numbers are other certain winners.

The slim hipped models, achieved with clever umbrella tucking, will be popular. The swanky gored skirts that flare around the lower edge have the required smoothness at the small waistline and over the hips. These will take to belts, either the narrow bands of pigskin, the sleek kidskin kind, or high colored suedes. Dog leash belts and the effective nail studded cowboy belts are other possibilities.

After the eye blinding plaids come the smoothies, the soft flannels with the look of fine broadcloth. The young looking models with all kinds of kick plaits will please everybody. Some have the plaits concealed, but ready to snap into action when you walk. Others are visible and some are contrived with a godet cut. Some skirts have as many as three plaits in front, three at the back, and a single plait at each side.

Seams are stitched; they're all pressed sharp and flat, and the tailored smartness of these skirts is exceeded only by the grand low prices. And price is something to reckon with after a vacation binge.

Rust, forest green, tawny beige, deep blue, copper, as well as high pastels are featured in the flannel smoothies, while every color known to dyers can be found in the single and double scotch plaids.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

We had so many, many letters asking for invitations to see "Little Miss Broadway" on Aug. 11 that I'm afraid a good many youngsters will be disappointed. A number of children became so excited when writing for invitations that they forgot that I have a few simple rules which must be observed.

Several letters which I had selected as winners had to be discarded when I discovered that the writers had neglected to tell me where they lived. About 30 more letters were discarded because the writers asked for invitations for others. If you want an invitation you must earn it yourself—you can't have some one else do it for you.

Even if you don't find your name in the list of winners to be published in THE TRIBUNE tomorrow, you'll find some other good news. I will tell you about our new party. I know you'll like it just about as well as you like ice cream and cake.

Information about this grand new party and instructions on how to win an invitation will be in my column tomorrow. So be sure to get your Sunday TRIBUNE, boys and girls!

Include Neck in Your Daily Beauty Ritual

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"You have a young face and an old woman's neck," we overheard on honest, if tactless, druggist tell a young business woman.

He was quite right. Her face was clear and unlined, but the skin of her neck was rough, ridged, almost to the point of being crepy. When she cold creamed and made up her face, she probably stopped beauty treatments at her chin line.

Prematurely white hair may be striking, but a young face doesn't look any prettier sitting on an ancient neck. Especially in the summer, when we wear bathing suits and low dresses, we have to guard against an ugly neck. Then we don't have furs and high coat collars to cover up our neglect.

Daily scrubbings with a complexion brush will stimulate the circulation of the neck and do away with the dead skin that looks so rough. Splashing with cold water will bring the blood tingling to the surface and start up those inactive glands.

Oils and cold creams will make the throat soft and smooth. Rubbing them in will give the skin an invigorating massage.

If it is a double chin that is adding years to your profile, be sure you are not carrying your head before you like a lantern. A sagging head makes the chin sag, too. Hold your head high. Look up. If you are a business woman who rides an elevator three or four times a day, make a point of watching the floor numbers above the door to stretch out that added chin.

Throw back your head every day and, in private, chew gum violently. The exercise will strengthen the muscles until they lift that sag.

Weather Cuts Crowd at 2d Carter Concert

BY EDWARD BARRY.

These are great days for the Irish. In New York Douglas Corrigan is deafened by the whistles of adulatory tugboats one day and buried under bales of ticker tape the next. In Chicago John Carter receives the unheard-of honor of an immediate reengagement at Grant park.

Carter is the 26 year old Irish-American tenor who stampeded the crowd at the band shell Thursday and who was brought back to do it again last evening. That his second appearance did not duplicate the success of the first is due to the churlishness of the weather [threatening, dark, windy] and to the fact that Mr. Carter did not sing so well.

The weather prevented the audience from growing to sensational proportions, the tenor's choice of numbers and his method of singing them were not calculated to lay the groundwork for a superdemonstration.

Accompanied by the Woman's Symphony orchestra under George Dasch's direction, handsome, black haired, smiling Mr. Carter sang "La Reve" from "Manon," Rossini's "La Danza," the "Ave Maria" of Schubert, and Grieg's "Ich Liebe Dich." After running out of orchestrations he continued along with piano, offering "Annie Laurie" and "L'Amour Toujours L'Amour."

The singer's charm of manner, plus the sensuous beauty of his round, easy, hornlike voice brought cordial applause after each piece. The Rossini had an effective rhythmic ping, and much of the exuberance of Italian folk music of the "Marianna" type. The slower paced songs profited by the variety and individuality of Mr. Carter's tone colorings and by the knowing way in which he varies his tempo toward the end of an especially succulent phrase.

But this sort of thing went much too far. Again and again these expressive devices degenerated into pure mannerisms, with no connection whatever with the inner meaning of the music. There were causeless accents which were enough to bring any listener down to earth with a thud. A heavy stress on the last syllable of the phrase "Ave Maria," was matched by another heavy stress on the final "a" of "gratia plena." You can imagine what happened to the noble line of the song under treatment like this.

In general, Mr. Carter's singing last evening was slow, oversentimental, and too anxious for emphasis. The word "unctuous" could be applied with justice to certain parts of "Annie Laurie."

SYNOPSIS.

On board the S. S. Panama Queen, sailing from Los Angeles to New York, via Panama, are Anne Sydney, who has a part in a Broadway play, and her crippled and embittered sister, Mena; Arnold Vernon, elderly, rich English motion picture producer, and his coldly beautiful wife, Claire; Isobel Butler, who has a stateroom next to the Vernon suite, and hopes to get in pictures through him; and Alex Reed, young surgeon returning to work after two years' illness. Isobel meets and arouses Vernon's interest. Anne and Alex are mutually attracted. Mena spitefully tells Alex that Anne is a heartless flirt. Pride causes Anne to hold herself aloof from him. Dr. Neil Andrews, a friend of Alex's, joins the ship in Mexico. He wants to get married and thinks Anne meets his ideals. Isobel and Arnold Vernon fall in love. He tries to buy his freedom from Claire. When she refuses he threatens to make a new will disinheriting her. The ship fights through a terrific hurricane. Isobel finds Vernon in her cabin, unconscious, hit by a storm tossed trunk. She sends Claire to him and struggles to find a doctor. Claire takes a loaded pistol, wrapped in a towel, from the purser's suite and shoots her husband, leaving the weapon in Isobel's wardrobe. She then tells Alex that she found her husband wounded in Isobel's cabin. Flagg, the purser, reveals that the day before Vernon had made a new will leaving everything to Isobel. Alex operates on Vernon. The captain starts an inquiry. The stewardess reports that she found a towel of the purser's in Claire's room and that Claire had given her an emerald ring to keep silent. Claire charges the stewardess stole the ring. Anne agrees to give Neil an answer to his proposal in a month. Neil tells Alex that he and Anne are secretly engaged. A color photograph Anne took of Claire proves Claire had the emerald ring after the date she said it was missing. A message from Isobel gives Vernon the will to fight and live. The captain and purser bluff Claire into a confession. She attempts to escape and drowns.

INSTALMENT XLII.

UNBELIEVABLE HAPPINESS.

Alex was disturbed by the mounting violence of his emotions. He had thought he was master of himself, but he was not. He had thought he had conquered his jealousy, but he had not.

Anne's proximity with her warm magnetism, her delicate fragrance, her heart stirring voice, the faint gleam of her face in the dusk had reawakened it. It was maddening to harbor the thought that some one else was going to possess her.

"I don't like to hear you speak of happiness like that," he said. "In a way you're right. We lose it when we chase it for its own sake, and when we are too busy to think of it—there it is. But you're far too young to take such an attitude. Otherwise why work for success—why think of marriage."

"I'm not thinking of marriage." There was utter scorn in her voice. "Have you forgotten so soon what I told you? I'll never marry as I feel now—anyhow, not for years to come——"

Alex was astounded. To raise the question of her trial engagement with Neil would be a breach of confidence. "O, I see—yes—of course, I remember," he said inadequately.

Anne sat there quivering with nerves in an atmosphere charged with dynamic emotion. She felt that if she stayed another moment she would disgrace herself by bursting into tears. She drew herself up out of the deep chair. "I must go now, Alex. I still have some things to do——"

He rose with her, loath to let her go. "Must you? Can't these things be done in the morning?"

"No, I'm afraid not——"

Her wrap was caught on the wicker of the chair and it pulled away from her as she moved. He picked it up, put it around her shoulders. His hand touched her warm neck. A shock ran through his arm—he heard her sharp indrawn breath. He caught her hands and held them fast. "Anne—what you said about marriage just now surely means you're not bound to any one—Neil, for instance?"

"Of course I am not——"

"Then, even if it did have to be in the dim and distant future, couldn't you give me a little hope—couldn't you learn to love me?"

Anne stood transfixed, too overwhelmed to speak. Her heart commenced to beat madly—it was suffocating her—it seemed to be beating in her throat. He drew her to him in the quiet night and his arms went around her. She felt his heart beating strongly against her body.

"Alex——"

There was no mistaking the rapture in her voice. His lips went down on hers in famine. She put her arms around his neck and responded with all the hunger for him in her soul, all her young, unspoiled passion. Body to body, they seemed to communicate without words, telling of their secret dedication to each other, their love and longing.

Anne felt his warm lips on her eyelids, her cheeks, the little hollow in her throat. Heard him murmur—"so you're never going to marry?"

"Not unless you ask me, Alex——

"I am asking you—I'm imploring you——"

"Just as I am, Alex? With my crazy ambitions and my disturbing career?"

"I want you only as yourself, darling. The great actress I expect you to be."

"O, dear—how wonderful!"

Alex spoke with his lips against her cheek—"Anne, darling, let me hear you say you love me."

Her voice was shaky, almost unaudible. "I—love—you—Alex."

His arms tightened around her. "I'm dumfounded, Anne—that I almost lost you through not telling you. And I love you so—I love you so——"

That reminded Anne. "It was I who almost lost you. It wasn't true what I said that night—that I had made up my mind not to marry—except perhaps in the profession. That was my crazy pride. I wanted to straighten out the untrue things that Mena had said to you——"

"But, darling, I don't understand. She hadn't said anything against you then."

"What? She hadn't told you I was a shallow flirt—only interested in conquering men?"

Alex laughed. "Indeed she hadn't. That came afterward. But if she had, do you think I would have taken it seriously? It was only too clear how madly jealous she was of you——"

"Well——" Anne paused, at a loss for words.

"When will you be ready for me, Anne?"

"Whenever you say."

"It won't be very long. In a year, I think—yes, I am sure that in a year I can make you safe."

"I don't want to be made safe, Alex. I'll earn money, you know."

"But I want to make a home for you."

THE FIFTEENTH DAY.

Anne went to bed when the sailors came up to flood and wash the deck. But she was up again at 7 after a few hours in bed in which it had been impossible to sleep. Others had preceded her. Quite a number of the passengers crowded the rail for a first glimpse of New York. The little green hills and harbors were in view—the Statue of Liberty remote, silver gray, and majestic against a clearing sky.

Isobel saw her and joined her at the rail. "I'm looking for Dr. Reed. Have you seen him yet, Anne?"

"No. I'm looking out for him myself."

Isobel became confidential. "He's the swellest fellow," she said with enthusiasm, "if you could only know how swell he's been to me."

Anne did know. Alex had explained all the mysteries of his friendship with Isobel away. But she said—"I've noticed how swell he is. In fact, I'm going to marry him."

Isobel's eyebrows rose. "Gee, that's marvelous! But I'm surprised. I thought it was the other fellow myself. Well—now I do hope you're going to be happy."

"I think I have a good chance," said Anne, smiling.

"It's a cinch. Wish I could see a clear road ahead like that for myself—but O, well—I guess it's not my destiny."

A flash of blowing white against the sea caught Anne's attention. She leaned over, looking forward. Through an opening in the lower deck an officer was drawing in a long white streamer that was fluttering in the breeze. Miss Fitch was beside him. Her shrill excited tones floated up to where they stood. Anne said to Isobel—"Look, what do you suppose they're doing? Isn't that the strangest thing——"

But Isobel was not listening. She was watching Alex Reed coming along the deck. "Hello, girls," he said buoyantly—and then—"Excuse me, Anne—mind if I speak to Isobel alone for a minute? I have a personal message for her——"

[Concluded Monday.]

The Housewife

Tea carts, because of their practical value, are always in demand. They're especially useful in the maidless house for they save so many trips between kitchen and dining room. Just pile plates and glasses on them and whisk them away.

We have found a good looking tea cart that also is easy on the pocketbook. It has one of those handsome, natural wood finishes and it is equipped with a spacious lower shelf. Both upper and lower shelves are protected by rims. Casters make it easy to push it around.

There's also a smart little drop-leaf table on wheels. The finish is a combination ivory and walnut. A removable tray is on the lower shelf. Use this as a table or a tea cart. The price is most reasonable.

Thwarted Ego Often Creates Sulky Husband

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"My husband flies into violent rages over nothing. I have been married fifteen years, but I just can't stand it any longer. I have a beautiful home, but there is no peace in it. I'd rather live in a hall bedroom than go on like this.

"Do you think I should leave him? He makes a good salary, but I would rather scrub floors than put up with his tantrums. It just about seems hopeless. MRS. K."

A bad-tempered husband is a trial. It is even worse when he gets angry over utterly trivial things. Are you sure your husband hasn't high blood pressure? People with hardening of the arteries fly into rages over nothing without knowing why themselves. Bad tempers sometimes come from physical causes. Then it is a question of medical care, diet, and patience on the part of relatives.

It is more likely that Mrs. K.'s husband is suffering from a disappointed ego. Persons who frequently fly into tantrums usually do so because they feel thwarted. Somehow they haven't adjusted themselves to life. They don't know how to get what they want in reasonable ways. Their ego hasn't found the success and sense of power it needs. Their inner selves are continually butting up against a stone wall. They have found no ladder to take them over it.

Praise often will reassure them and take away the sense of failure and insufficiency.

If praise doesn't work, try leaving the bad-tempered person alone. One husband lived forty-five years with a shrewish wife merely by walking away and not listening when she flew into a rage. It isn't any satisfaction to have a tantrum all alone.

Recipe for Summer Comfort

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This dress is a recipe for "how to keep cool in town or country." The simple lines achieve a great amount of chic, yet are as fundamentally plain as can be. The V neckline may be left plain except for braid, or there may be a softly rolled collar with lace edging. Carry out the rest of the trimming correspondingly. That is, if lace is used, trim the kimono sleeves with it, too, and if braid is selected, apply it to the sleeves. You may like the idea of buttons down the front of the bodice, particularly if a plain shade is selected.

All the cottons, linens, and wash silks make up beautifully, and prints are equally as effective as plain shades. If you want a belt, use one, but the waistline is so well fitted that none is necessary. It is simply a matter of taste.

Style No. 3324 is designed for sizes 16, 18, and 20 years, and 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material, with 2 yards of braid.

Millinery Trimming Used on Dresses in Paris Winter Shows

PARIS, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Trimmings that usually adorn hats have been tucked under the chin for dress adornment by some designers now showing winter styles.

Punishment Is Futile Tool in Child Rearing

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: I take great interest in reading your column on child training. I'd appreciate it if you would help me with a problem. In my two and a half years of caring for a child [boy] of 5 I have corrected many bad habits, such as kicking, biting, spitting, interfering with the conversation of grownups, and numerous other habits which really aren't terribly naughty, but bad enough.

"I don't believe in severe punishment. What I do is to deprive him of things he likes best, such as being outside with other children. I bathe him, and into bed he goes, all day long. When his pals call him I say he is in bed.

"This is a good punishment—and it works—though lately he likes to be sent to bed. I put him in a room by himself. He likes this. To sit on a chair is nothing. I really haven't any more ideas for punishments, so I am writing you for help.

"My trouble with him now is that when his mother comes he thinks he is the boss. His mother allows him to do as he wishes. After a day's work she is too tired to bother, she says. The only time his mother has for him is just an hour before bedtime.

"Everybody, including my neighbors, says I've done wonders for him. I still want to help him.

"I thank you for your help, and I am sure the little fellow would, too, if he only knew I was doing this for him."

There are several problems in this letter, or perhaps I should say several fundamental difficulties in the situation which need correcting. The first trouble lies in the mistake of trying to guide a child by punishment. It may work for a while with a very little boy or girl, but it soon loses its effectiveness.

The next difficulty lies in the fact that the affectionate foster mother does not realize that at around the age of 5 children, especially boys, change mightily. They feel a sense of power, of independence; leave their babyhood behind them, and must be managed accordingly.

The third hitch comes in the fact that the mother spoils her little boy when she is home. The fact that she is too tired to bother is no excuse, and I do not mean to sound hard boiled about it. She should have some responsibility for her son, and get together with the housekeeper and agree on a way of management.

We have two booklets for this problem. One is on "Obedience Without Punishment" and the other is "The Five Year Old Turns a Corner." Each one requires a large stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Two dollars and fifty cents per person doesn't sound like a large weekly expenditure for food, but that amount will furnish a first rate family diet if the homemaker has a knowledge of proper food selection. This was indicated by a recent survey of diets of 25,000 average rural and urban families by the United States bureau of home economics.

Home canning began about the year 1860. Fruits, tomatoes, and pickles were the first foods canned by the housewife.

SCREWIEST RECIPE OF THE WEEK: One for cooking ham in coffee. The formula which came to this desk called for two cups of ground coffee added to the cooking water for a ten to twelve pound "boiled" [simmered] ham. It also suggested using coffee for ham gravy when the meat is fried! Maybe you'll like the idea. We didn't.

LATEST GADGET TESTED: A cream whipper which gives a quart of whipped cream for a half pint of coffee cream or top milk, and squirts it out of a narrow pipe into pretty designs if you like. Similar contrivances are used at soda fountains and in restaurants, I believe. This one works by gas pressure released by a cartridge attached to the utensil. It's fun to use, and you needn't squirt out all the cream in one day but may store the whipper in the refrigerator for day after tomorrow's dessert topping.

The gadget has one large drawback. It costs $12. Each time you refill it you must use a new 10 cent cartridge to whip the cream. I would recommend it only to the woman who does a great deal of entertaining and likes to use whipped cream liberally in desserts and summer beverages. Its use is too limited to justify the investment in many homes. I can tell you where to buy it, or to watch it being demonstrated if you like.

A new packaging for sugars has appeared in Chicago markets. It is a strong, double walled paper bag with a siftproof seal, said to be more sanitary and economical than some other types of sugar packaging.

A new collection of good candy recipes now is available in mimeographed form. We've decided to call this latest booklet "Simple Home Made Candies," because the recipes are easy to follow and not at all complicated. Children and grownups alike will have a lot of fun making fudges, divinities, butterscotch, caramels, and all the other good kinds of candy from these recipes, we hope. The booklet sells at the usual minimum cost, 3 cents if you pick it up personally, 5 cents [in stamps] if you order it by mail. Call for a booklet at one of the two Tribune Public Service offices, Tribune Tower lobby, and 1 South Dearborn street. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

In this age of acute specialization it has become quite the thing to "rate" bridge players according to at least six classifications. Thus, we have masters, experts, advanced, better-than-average, average, poor, and plain dubs.

For most practical purposes, however, three categories—poor, fair, and good—are sufficient. And this brings up a curious point: Certain types of errors are made exclusively by the middle class! Take today's hand, for example. Neither a good player nor a poor one could possibly fail to fulfill the contract. The declarer who actually went astray knew just a little too much for his own good.

South, dealer.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 hearts	Pass	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the heart king, then led the queen. Now I feel quite sure that nine players in ten, in South's position, would ruff without a second thought, and they would be right! After ruffing, the ace, king and another spade would clear the decks to the point at which declarer could gracefully concede a diamond trick and claim his contract. But this declarer was cursed by the fact that he had seen a certain play used with great effectiveness. That the circumstances were in no sense identical did not strike him. Apparently he believed in using his hard-won knowledge. So, on the second heart lead, this poor, benighted declarer nonchalantly chucked his losing diamond! Viewed superficially, this play could cost nothing, since the diamond trick would have to be conceded sooner or later. But superficial reasoning at this grand game is worse than none! Note what actually happened.

West led a third heart and East, realizing that his jack of trumps was no good to him, ruffed in with it! That little play was declarer's finish. Now he had to over-ruff [or concede the trick] and West, to his own pleased astonishment, found that his Q 9 2 of trumps had been promoted to the value of two tricks, including the setting trick.

CHICAGO BAEDEKER

By CALEB

HAD YOU so desired, you might have spent a week or more recently with a motion picture crew photographing the points of interest in Chicago. But much of the time you wouldn't have understood what they were talking about, for many of them did not speak English. They were preparing a film to be shown for European tourists planning a trip to the United States.

Today, foreign travel agencies tell us, there is an almost unprecedented tourist interest in this country. Statesmen and authors have long visited us from Europe, but the current interest is among the rank and file of the people, and they are coming by the thousands to see for themselves what we are like.

Herein lies a subtle and important change in attitude. Although Europe has long admired American business and enterprise, it has usually been assumed that America has little to offer Europeans in the matter of culture or intellectual example. That idea must be waning.

The European tourists, we are told, want to see the Grand Canyon and other natural beauties—but they want to see our cities, too—Chicago among them. On the shooting schedule of the motion picture crew here were our museums of art, natural history and industry. The Planetarium, the Aquarium and the splendid system of lake shore boulevards, parks, beaches and other social projects likewise were on the list.

Among Chicago's attractions for visitors from a distance, travel agents tell us, is the city's State Street shopping district. Invariably they want to see it, and it never fails to draw exclamations of wonder and surprise.

Our own store is a regular point of call on every sightseeing tour made by a famous bus line here. The number of groups on special tours guided through the store thus far this summer exceeds all previous totals excepting those during A Century of Progress. Our staff of guides recently has been increased and those in charge report a growing number of European visitors in addition to groups from every part of this country.

Perhaps in this increasing interest for America and its institutions we are watching an epoch-making change. At least there is a growing awareness the world over that we have come of age.

RED GUNS SHELL JAPS DESPITE TALK OF TRUCE

Tokio Sure Border War Soon Will End.

a single soviet soldier from reaching the Red base at Novokievsk.

"With minor exceptions, however, the Japanese army has persistently remained quiet, not aggravating the situation in this sector. Americans, who have pride in themselves first of all things, may consider the Japanese army here strangely passive, if not cowardly. But so far as I am concerned, our patience with the soviets will last indefinitly until action is ordered."

Moscow Sure Japs Can Withdraw.

MOSCOW, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Soviet circles tonight believed Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov had smoothed the way for Japan to withdraw from the far eastern border war zone without loss of prestige, thus easing soviet-Japanese tension.

Litvinov referred to Japanese troops occupying the disputed Changkufeng hill, on the Siberia-Manchukuo-Corea frontier, merely as "such remnants of their troops as might still remain on soviet territory." Thus it was considered the Japanese quietly could withdraw without losing face.

REDS TEST PLANES IN CHINA

HANKOW, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The Chinese-Japanese war has become a kind of research laboratory for several hundred Russian flyers and their Russian built planes.

They—men and machines—are involved in an effort toward further perfection of the science of aerial warfare for the soviet union and to prevent Japan from scoring a cheap, decisive victory.

The Russian airmen are well trained, well equipped, strictly disciplined. They, like the other foreigners who now do most of China's aerial fighting and are the most potent part of the Chinese air corps, get little material compensation.

They Can Go Shopping.

Yet their daily bombing and strafing expeditions make it difficult and costly for the Japanese to push up the Yangtze valley toward Hankow.

Their lives are routines of work, interspersed with periods of rest and chances to go shopping.

The Russian spokesmen call them "volunteers." Their Russian made planes bear Chinese insignia. They fight and fly, however, under the direction of their own officers. In Hankow and other air centers the men live in all-Russian barracks and eat at all-Russian mess halls. They mingle with few strangers, become friendly with none—not even with the Russian taxi dancers in the Hankow cabarets.

One thing the Russians are permitted to do freely is spend their pay. Since the feel of cash in their pockets and the sight of readily purchasable merchandise in shop windows are new to most of them, they are very welcome in Hankow shops.

Buy Flashy Clothes.

They spend rarely on hard liquor or entertainment, but often on flashy clothing, multi-colored shoes and belts, and gold or imitation gold trinkets. The average Chinese finds difficulty in distinguishing Americans from Englishmen or Frenchmen from Germans, but even the Hankow street urchins can spot a "Ruskie" from afar.

The Russians in Hankow do not themselves exhibit enthusiasm nor expect it from others. They seem to consider theirs a prosaic, unheroic business, the chief aim of which is to increase Russian air force efficiency by testing equipment and training personnel under combat conditions.

NAZI DEMANDS STATE OWN ALL RADIO STATIONS

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels today decried private ownership of broadcasting stations and expressed the opinion that "broadcasting imperatively demands leadership by the state itself." He spoke at the opening of the annual radio exposition.

"The broadcast must be one of the most decisive means in the hands of the state for leading the people and advancing the community idea," he said.

The next goal of the Nazis he defined as becoming "the strongest broadcasting country in the world." He said the 9,500,000 radio subscribers in Germany placed it ahead of all European nations in number of listeners.

"In the future new buildings will not be without provisions for community radio reception," he said.

4 KILLED, 7 HURT AS NEW VIOLENCE STIRS HOLY LAND

JERUSALEM, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Four persons were killed and seven wounded seriously today in a further outburst of holy land violence. Deaths from a land mine explosion yesterday near Kfar Saba rose to nine. In today's incidents three armed men were killed and seven wounded in a fight with police who were patroling the Acre-Safad road. A supernumerary constable was killed in a clash between police and an armed band near the scene of yesterday's explosion.

REBELS RETAKE STRATEGIC TOWN ON EBRO FRONT

Moors Storm Loyalist Line Four Times.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], Aug. 5.—(AP)—A fresh force of Moroccan troops, shielded by an artillery barrage, today stormed and recaptured the village of Villalba de los Arcos, a strategic point in the Spanish government's Ebro river line.

The village, five miles north northwest of Gandesa, was the scene of a terrific struggle during the early morning. Defending troops of the Barcelona "People's army" were unable to hold their ground against wave after wave of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Moors.

The assault opened with insurgent gunners laying a heavy curtain of shellfire on a road over which the government might have rushed reinforcements.

Fourth Attack Succeeds.

Then came the first wave of white robed riflemen, followed by a line of tanks and a few units of Navarrese troops. Three more attacks followed.

When the fourth onslaught cracked the defenses, government troops took up positions on a semi-circular line in the hills just outside the town.

Villalba had been in government hands for more than a week. It was among the villages caught in the sweep of the July 25 offensive across the Ebro river in South Catalonia.

Loyalists Take Two Towns.

The government reported important gains on the extreme right, or northern wing of the Ebro line, northwest of Villalba. Militiamen fought their way into the Mequinenza and Rincones Sierras to threaten Caspe, about twenty-five miles northwest of Gandesa. In the meantime Valencia harbor was subjected to an intensive air attack. Many buildings were destroyed.

Forest Fires Halt Drive.

In northwestern Catalonia, the insurgents launched an offensive against Sort, near the French border, shortly before midnight.

The government, however, had set a trap of fire for its foe. As the insurgent attack got under way, the defenders set off incendiary bombs at the bases of scores of wooded hills.

The flames crackled through the forests of dry pine over a 19 mile front and forced the attackers to withdraw.

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 5. — The house of representatives today accepted the resignation of Speaker Antonio Martinez Fraga.

Fraga, whose brother, Dr. Pedro Martinez Fraga, is Cuba's ambassador to the United States, resigned when he was unable to explain to the satisfaction of fellow congressmen, charges that he was involved in the embezzlement of $350,000 from the house maintenance appropriations for the fiscal year 1937-'38.

As chief of the administration offices of the house, Fraga included in the proposed 1938-'39 budget an appropriation under the heading "for house embellishment and decoration." It was charged that this sum was designed to cover the alleged embezzled funds. The senate refused to pass the bill. The house appointed an investigating committee which, after a two weeks' inquiry, demanded Fraga's resignation as speaker. Representative Narciso Moran admitted receiving $70,000 from Fraga for "covering up his tracks" in the bookkeeping of house expenditures.

JAPANESE BOMB CHINESE ALONG 100 MI. RAILWAY

SHANGHAI, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Japanese naval air squadrons attacked the Kiukiang-Nanchang railway over its entire 100 mile length today and bombarded the city of Nanchang.

A Japanese naval spokesman said this comprised the principal activity on the Kiukiang front. This area, about 135 miles from Hankow, provisional Chinese capital, has been reached by the Japanese in their drive up the Yangtze river.

The Japanese aviators, it was reported, blasted Chinese troop concentrations in the railway zone. At Nanchang they attacked the railway station and munitions warehouses, setting the latter afire.

Chinese said tonight the Yangtze flood caused by broken dikes above Kiukiang was growing worse. It is halting the Japanese, but inflicting "unspeakable suffering" on the Chinese populace, it was asserted.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—Fifteen Italian sailors were killed and twenty others were injured when the boiler of the Italian cruiser Quarto exploded while in the port of Pollensa, Island of Mallorca, last Monday, according to a disptach received here today.

The message said the accident on the warship, which has been assigned to duty in Spanish waters for the last eighteen months, occurred as it was about to sail on "a brief mission." The injured are under treatment in a hospital in Palma, Mallorca. Mallorca is held by the Spanish insurgents.

The Quarto, an older unit of the Italian fleet, with a displacement of 3,442 tons, was not damaged badly, the message said.

EMPIRE DEFENSE, ITALY'S REASON FOR RACE POLICY

May Prohibit Italians to Wed Jews.

ROME, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Requirements of empire defense form the primary reason for the new Fascist race policy, an officially inspired statement said today criticizing "misunderstandings" abroad of Fascist motives.

It was the first time that empire defense rather than anti-Semitism was stressed in interpretations of the new race policy, one phase of which, it was announced, will permit only one Jew for every 1,000 non-Jewish Italians to participate in "the full life of the state."

This limitation of Jews in "the full life of the state" was seen as a step toward a law prohibiting non-Jewish Italians marrying Jews or colonial subjects [African natives].

Promises No Persecution.

In trimming down to the ratio of one Jew to 1,000, no persecution of Jews will be permitted, said the statement, which was issued by the Informazione Diplomatica, an official agency.

"Jews in Italy in the home territory number 44,000, according to Jewish statistics which, however, must be checked by a special census which will be held soon," the statement said.

"The proportion thus would be one Jew to 1,000 Italians. It is clear that from now on participation of Jews in the full life of the state must be leveled at that proportion." [The population of Italy on Dec. 31, 1937, was 43,578,000.]

Conquest Brings Race Problem.

"The conquest of empire brought to the front problems collectively called racial," the statement said. It is necessary, it added, to create in the Italian people a spirit of pride and race consciousness in order to avoid creation of "a bastard race neither European nor African."

While other countries sent only a few selected civil servants to their colonial possessions, the statement said, millions of Italians are sent to Italy's empire.

Fascist commentators interpreted this by asserting "the colonial history of all countries teaches that mixtures of Europeans with colonials were a source of revolution and discontent. Black populations well governed remain almost wholly tranquil and happy over progress made under white occupation."

LABOR TROUBLES STOP PRINTING OF MEXICAN WEEKLY

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The Mexico City weekly picture magazine Rotofoto failed to appear today because its editor, Jose Pages Llergo, was unable to find a print shop in which to print it in face of opposition of the Mexican Confederation of Workers.

The confederation has declared the publication to be an "enemy of the workers" because of its editorial policies. The editor charged the organization is attempting to eliminate independent publications.

Meantime Argimiro Lopez, Spanish proprietor of a bake shop chain, was shot to death in the offices of the federal labor board in a quarrel with Leandro Gonzalez, secretary general of the bakers' union. Gonzalez, whose union is an affiliate of the confederation, was arrested.

It was the first bloodshed in several months in the under surface struggle between capital and labor in Mexico.

HEAVY BOMBERS SCORE IN BRITISH AIR WAR GAMES

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Heavy "enemy" bombers testing England's aircraft defenses in the biggest war games ever held by the royal air force scored direct hits today along the eastern coast. Mass attacks by the make-believe raiders, however, were balked by fog, which reduced visibility to less than 200 yards over the North sea, scene of the maneuvers.

Territorial brigades manned searchlights and anti-aircraft batteries in simulated defense against the attackers. The bombers fired white rockets for bombs and pursuit planes fired red rockets when they scored a theoretical hit to down an invader.

High officers of the royal air force in map strewn rooms issued orders involving 900 planes, 15,000 airmen, 17,000 anti-aircraft troops, and 4,000 observers.

Fantastic Tale of a Modern Monte Cristo

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The World Is Mine," by William Blake. [Simon & Schuster, $3.] Published Thursday.

One of the most fantastic of the modern picaresque tales is this, subtitled the "story of a modern Monte Cristo." The hero's extravagant adventures are both of the spirit and of the flesh, and all of them are experienced superlatively. This contemporary Spaniard, who has the picture of Dumas' hero tattooed on his breast so that he will not forget his own vows of vengeance, and below it "The World Is Mine," is a hero fantastic in thought as well as in deed. His creation will make the previously unknown name of William Blake a literary household word.

In 741 intense pages this first novel tells a tale of heights and depths of emotion and adventure. Many readers may not find the adventure or emotions to their taste, and their credulity may well be strained past its snapping point, but, like "The Ancient Mariner," "The World Is Mine" clutches the reader with its skinny hand and holds him clutched until the last extravagant page is done.

Four hundred years from the day that Columbus set sail from Palos, Don Cristobal, lineal heir to the copper works of Huelva, across the bay from Palos, set sail on a life of adventure like the hero for whom he was named. While he was yet a baby the ancestral business was wrested from his father's hands by a group of English capitalists, and young Cristobal was to know with his father and mother the utmost depths of poverty. In their want he learned to hate. As a child he dedicated himself to two causes, to vengeance against his father's enemies and against political oppression.

Young Cristobal, smart enough to know money was power, set himself to achieve gold. He became the richest man in the world, and the author piles up fabulous profits of the world war before the readers' eyes. Then Cristobal set out to ruin the four men who, twenty years before, had ruined his father. How he did it is as melodramatically as was the amassing of his fortune. Then he set his mind and his fortune to backing the Spanish loyalist cause. How his own world finally misunderstood him gives the final ironic twist to a mad, epic, fascinating tale, which everybody will be reading in a few days.

Suwannee River Given New Kind of Meaning.

"Suwannee River," by Cecile Hulse Matschat. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.] Published Monday. Joint choice of the Literary Guild for August.

"Suwannee River" is the third of the "Rivers of America" series, the ideals of which are explained in a short article by the editor of the series, Constance Lindsay Skinner, who sees the books as a new kind of history of our land.

This volume is concerned more with the "feel" of the Suwannee than with the historical data or the physical chronology of the river. Little has changed in the wild lands which it traverses since the dim days when settlers from Oglethorpe's Georgia colony wandered into its swamps. The inhabitants still speak of the outland as "Ameriky," and say, with neither regret nor curiosity, about New York, "Never heered of it."

The Suwannee, through the author's eyes, is strange, wild, black, menacing, with creatures both human and wild, strong and courageous, powerful and violent, as their natures and nature demand. Some of the descriptions have tenderness and beauty. Some of them, like the story of Diah on Lost Island, are epic.

These full pages sound as "Stars Fell on Alabama" might if it had been written by Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, author of "The Yearling." It's a book you won't want to miss, either.

This Mystery Shows Real Literary Touch.

Now it can be told that the creator of Nigel Strangeways, one of the most popular of the clever amateur detectives in English fiction, is himself one of the most popular of the young English poets. Nicholas Blake now admits that he is C. Day Lewis, and vice versa; which accounts for the distinctly literary flavor of "The Beast Must Die."

The hero of this not at all ordinary mystery is a successful writer of mysteries, himself using a pseudonym. His child is run down and killed in an English country lane, and the police have no clews to the culprit's identity. He determines to track down "the beast" and murder him.

The first third of the book is a diary which the writer keeps. In it he sets down his deductions, his search for clews; reiterates his determination to kill "the beast," and works out a plan toward that end. The second part deals with his unsuccessful attempt to carry out his plan by drowning "the beast," and the third with the mysterious poisoning of George, whom at least six people had motives for doing in. The author gets you as excited with divergent red herrings as a kitten in a catnip bed.

Story of a Newspaper Is the Story of Texas.

"35,000 Days in Texas," by Sam Acheson. [Macmillan, $2.50.] Published a week ago Thursday.

This intriguing title tells the story of the present Dallas News from its founding, almost a century ago, as the Galveston News, when Texas was a republic. The story of the Dallas News has been the story of Texas, and in these pages Sam Acheson rewrites the history of the biggest state in the Union, politically, economically, and socially.

The Dallas News was never one to shy at the admonition, "Be not the first by which the new is tried." It was the first paper to start a branch, in 1885. With the slogan, "Ship your papers by wire," it used the first special leased telegraph wires and established a duplicate of the Galveston News in Dallas. The owner of the paper installed the first telephone in Texas in 1878. The Dallas News was one of the first papers in America to accept its responsibilities toward the community as an agent for social and economic betterment. In about 1897 "the News turned from political harangues to people," writes Mr. Acheson. And he describes its successful campaigns for farm betterment, city planning, libraries, etc.

Colorful characters of Texas political history brighten the narrative—Sam Houston, Ma and Pa Ferguson, Jim Hogg—as well as sinister tales of the Ku Klux Klan rule and the epic of the Galveston flood.

Thrill-Packed Adventure of 2 Vagabonds

BY AL CHASE.

Several thousand miles along the west coast of Mexico and Central America in a 16 foot homemade canoe, plus several hundred miles through tropic jungles afoot, with a Robinson Crusoe existence alone on a Pacific treasure isle, combine to make "Enchanted Vagabonds" one of the most satisfying travel tales in many years.

Dana Lamb, a grandnephew of Richard Henry Dana Jr., author of "Two Years Before the Mast," and his wife Ginger sailed from San Diego, Cal., in the fall of 1933. They navigated their frail canvas bottom Vagabunda around the tip of southern California, across the Gulf of Lower California, and then south along the Mexican coast to Costa Rica.

This adventure seeking young American couple found what they went after—thrills, more than three years of almost continuous breathless excitement on sea and land. They were shanghaied by rum runners, found gold, fought Indians again and again, discovered hidden Mayan cities, dodged death repeatedly, and had one of the liveliest trips in the history of amateur exploration.

Four months alone on Cocos Island, magnet for treasure seekers from all over the world, was a fitting climax to their spectacular search for the unusual.

"Enchanted Vagabonds" is well illustrated and has thirteen charts of the voyage of the Vagabunda.

"Captains Outrageous" is what Hollywood probably would call "a super-colossal saga of misadventure on the high seas." And that would be about right. Morton Clark's lively account of his fantastic 18,000 mile voyage half round the world is uproariously funny to the reader, but was constantly a near tragedy to the owners, crew, and passengers, who had one of the most unlucky cruises in maritime history. It doesn't seem possible so much misfortune could pile up on one yacht and its occupants. They suffered practically everything except actual shipwreck and only missed that by an eyelash.

This hilariously grim odyssey started when four young, apparently well-to-do Yankees in a thoughtless moment chartered a 250 ton, 148 foot schooner yacht for one year, with a penalty in the contract of $500 for every week over that time it took them to sail from Tahiti to Cannes.

They thought they could make a voyage from the south seas to France easily in ten months. Instead they made their final landfall many months overdue and were financially wrecked in a French court.

SLINGER VS. WHIZZER: ALL-STAR FOOTBALL MAGNET

TAKES AVERAGE OF 85⅞ SHOTS FOR 8 ROUNDS

Loses 4½ Pounds in Golf Marathon.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

James Smith Ferebee—of the Virginia Ferebees, suh—yesterday whacked a golf ball from sunup into dusk in one of the most amazing marathons for a strange stake that the game ever has seen. He played 144 holes, twice around each of Olympia Fields' four courses, and on none of them did he exceed 95 strokes, the limit set up as the major condition of the bet.

Fred Tuerk, who bet Ferebee couldn't do it.

The 31 year old Ferebee, who signs himself J. Smith Ferebee, but who is more popularly known among members at the south side club as Smitty, played the 144 holes in 687 strokes, 119 over par for the combined double par of 568 for the four Olympia Fields courses. Teeing off on the No. 4 course at Olympia Fields at 5:05 a. m. yesterday, he finished the long journey to the cheers of a gallery of nearly 1,000 at 8:12 p. m. This gave him a total elapsed time of fifteen hours and seven minutes. That span included two heavy rainstorms and visits to the clubhouse for showers, changes of clothing and shoes, and foot massages.

Shoots Five Birdies.

Ferebee's rounds for the day, played over No. 4, No. 1, No. 3 and No. 2 courses, in that sequence, were 90, 82, 82, 82, 87, 87, 88 and 89, for an average of 85⅞. For the 144 holes, he had five birdies, 44 pars, and 85 bogies. His shortest round was the third, when he sped over No. 1 course in 1 hour and 16 minutes. His longest round was the sixth, where he took 2 hours and 48 minutes to get around, including a 50 minute stymie due to the more violent of the downpours. He weighed 153 pounds at the outset, and he lost 4½ pounds during his strenuous voyage over Olympia's hills and dales.

There have been scores of other solo golf marathons held here and abroad, but few, if any of them, matched this which the former middleweight wrestler of the University of Virginia, now a La Salle street broker, undertook. There was the matter of the stake, a half interest in a Virginia plantation which Ferebee and Fred Tuerk, another Chicago broker, had purchased jointly in the fall of 1935. Came a disagreement over the management of the property, and finally it was decided that Ferebee's boast that he could play 144 holes in a single day would decide which of the two would own the property outright, the loser turning over his share to the winner.

Difficult Restriction.

Remarkable feature of Ferebee's feat was the scoring condition. This stipulated that Smitty, an eleven handicap golfer at Olympia Fields, should not go over 95 on any of the eight rounds. Otherwise, he was to forfeit his half of the plantation to Tuerk. Other marathons seldom specify a scoring deadline, the majority of them being based on the most holes within a specified time.

Ferebee took up golf in 1927 while he was still a student at the University of Virginia. He said last night that he had formed a definite plan as to the rotation in which he would play the courses. No. 4 and No. 1,

WHITE'S RECORD GIVES REDSKINS SOME WORRIES

But Can He Match Baugh's Play?

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Whizzer White versus Slingin' Sammy Baugh!

Sure, and it's the All-Americans versus the Washington Redskins at Soldiers' field Aug. 31, but no matter how you look at it, eighty thousand spectators are going to compare Sammy Baugh, the boy who forward passed the All-Stars to victory over Green Bay on the same gridiron last year and forward passed Washington into the professional championship, with Whizzer White, who scored 130 points for the University of Colorado last fall.

Sammy Baugh came to Chicago a year ago scarcely known outside Texas where opponents of Texas Christian had learned to respect Sammy's ability. His All-Star teammates recognized Baugh as a great half back, elected him captain of the team, and Sammy went to town. Last year, his first in professional football, Baugh received the largest salary ever paid a professional player.

He'll Go to Oxford.

This publicity is not of his seeking. The 20 year old boy, winner of a Phi Beta Kappa key during his undergraduate days, who won a Rhodes scholarship and who chose to study at Oxford instead of accepting a $15,000 contract to play professionally with the Pittsburgh Pirates still insists that he has not changed his mind about going to England. He always has wished to follow his brother Sam to Oxford, where he has just completed his studies.

"I didn't change my mind," White says. "I still would pick Oxford if I had to make a choice."

No Choice Necessary.

But White has received permission to matriculate in January and this has made it possible for him to play for the Pirates and to compete in the All-Star game. In brief, there now is no necessity to make a choice.

Until last Saturday Whizzer was working for the University of Colorado athletic department painting stadium seats, waiting table at a sorority house, and broadcasting to insure sufficient funds to pay his way to England. Now that the way has been opened for him to solve all

TWO HANDICAPS ATTRACT TOTAL OF 29 ENTRIES

BY FRENCH LANE.

A good sized lump of the $30,000 worth of sugar the Washington Park Jocky club is giving away in its amateur handicappers' contest will find its way into somebody's pocket when the examination of handicap slips on this afternoon's races is completed. For five days the amateur handicappers—more than 30,000 of them tried it—failed to pick the first seven winners in a row on any one afternoon's program.

The rules of the contest toss the accumulated $5,000 into the grab bag this afternoon and the person who picks the most winners in the first seven races comes into possession of the pot of gold. If there is a tie, the money will be divided equally among the successful contestants.

Payoff On Monday.

There will be a slight change in the rules for the Saturday handicapping. Club officials believe so many will try for the $5,000 prize today that it will be a physical impossibility to make an accurate check. No attempt will be made to check the slips until tomorrow morning. The officials hope to be able to announce the winner or winners on Sunday afternoon. The payoff will take place at the track Monday.

Racing Secretary Charley McLennan will be a lucky fellow if he escapes alive. Just take a squint at the job he has mapped out for the army of handicappers. Eighteen selling platers are in the six furlong first race, twenty 2 year olds are in the 5½ furlong second race, seventeen selling platers are in the third race, and eleven in the fourth. For the two $2,500 handicaps, a total of twenty-nine horses was nominated. Yes, there are easier ways to make money.

A total of 6,480 hopeful handicappers went after the prize yesterday. Eight hundred survived the first race won by the longshot Doublefol.

Banner Witch Wins.

All but 110 of these had been eliminated when Banner Witch, another long shot, splashed to an easy victory in the second. Only sixteen were alive after What a Pal, at $34.40 in the betting, ran away from his rivals in the third race.

Eleven more bit the dust when Macawlee won the fourth, and three more perished when Manie O'Hara won the fifth by a wide margin. The last two went west when Ma Hornidge, at 6 to 1, stepped home in the sixth. Miss Pittypat killed one of them when she ran third, and Alpenglow the other when she finished out of the money.

Large Fields Entered.

The two stake races today are sure to be decided over an off track, but the fields will be large. Fifteen 3

EX-YANKEES SET PACE AS GIANTS WHIP PIRATES, 5-3

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Bob Seeds hit one into the left field stands with one on base in the seventh inning and the Giants beat the Pirates, 5 to 3, today to reduce Pittsburgh's National league lead to four and a half games.

Seeds' drive, with Mel Ott on base, broke a 3 to 3 tie the Pirates had achieved when Lloyd Waner singled home Pep Young in their half of the inning. Waner's single ended Cliff Melton's return to the mound, for, after he had walked Paul Waner intentionally, Walter Brown came in. Brown blanked the Pirates and received credit as the winning pitcher. Seeds and Brown are former New York Yankees.

William O'Toole's mud running Wise Barrister, which will have Jocky T. P. Martin in the saddle, probably will rule as the favorite in the Sheridan. He has demonstrated lately that he is in rare condition. Old Mucho Gusto, as a result of yesterday's downpour, will find a track to his liking in the Chicago. He is sure to rule as the choice. However, he has been racing in distance events lately and this may have reduced his speed. Should Mucho Gusto fail to display his usual mud running speed it will be a mad scramble for high honors.

Crowd Dashes to Cover.

The rainstorm, one of the heaviest that ever sent a crowd scurrying for cover at Washington Park, arrived an hour before post time. The track resembled a lake when the horses paraded to the post for the first race. Later on, warm sunshine made the track more difficult than ever to negotiate.

The best race on yesterday's program was the fifth at six furlongs. Manie O'Hara, formerly a member of Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' turf household, drove up from behind in the stretch to win going away by five lengths from Mrs. Thelma Ott's Chief Nadi. Startling was third. Manie O'Hara was the first favorite to score during the afternoon.

DOUBLEFOL, away fast, dropped back slightly when racing on the inside on the turn, came out in the stretch and overtaking SCOTCH TRAP continued well but just lasted. NONCONNAH, raced wide, bettered her position gradually and holding on with determination was wearing down the winner. JOCK'S BETSY, away fast, but unable to keep up, began to work her way up after reaching the final five-sixteenths was forced extremely wide through the stretch but finished fastest.

BANNER WITCH, rushed into command on the inside began to draw out after reaching the turn, opened up a commanding advantage during a half mile and easily held away thereafter. FLYSTONE, taken up slightly as her rider apparently encountered a heavy spray of mud and water before reaching the turn, was gradually taken when clear and closing well at finish. ROSAN, SHASTA GOLD in the final stride. Latter, raced wide and a factor from the start, held on well.

Time, :23 4-5, :48 3-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:29 1-5. Weather cloudy. Off at once. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won easily, place driving.

WHAT A PAL, a sharp factor from the start and under a strong hold for almost five-eighths, responded viciously to only mild urging when taking command and won with something left. BUDDIE TREACY, on the inside early and also under good restraint for a half mile, readily submitted to the winner's challenge, yet stood a long drive gamely. CHIMNEY TOP took command under brisk urging, failed to keep up when approaching the stretch and appeared through nearing the final eighth but came again.

Sallee. Went to post at 3:42½. At post half minute. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won easily, place same.

MACAWLEE, suited by the going and displaying the most speed from the start, raced under a steady hold to the stretch, came away under mild pressure and was again racing easily in the late stages. HAPPY HELEN, prominently from the start and in hand for about five-eighths, did not rally to urging yet held on well. CONTRAST was under urging after a half mile and holding on with determination, wore down OUR DAVID in the last eighth.

MANIE O'HARA, reserved off the pace and raced wide after the first quarter, began to work her way up on the stretch turn, sustained an excellent burst of belated speed through the stretch and won nicely in hand. CHIEF NADI, under a strong hold for a half mile, continued well under pressure to the final eighth where he swerved badly while tiring. STARTLING, badly outrun for a half mile, made up ground soon after reaching the stretch but weakened near the end.

Winner trained by R. O. Higdon. Went to post at 4:36½. At post 4 minutes. Start good. Won handily, place driving.

MA HORNIDGE, at home in going, took command without need of strong urging, continued in hand to the stretch and responding to a good shaking up after reaching the last three-sixteenths, held PANDONNA safe. Latter, under a strong hold for a half mile, held on with determination while under pressure thereafter, but could not get to the winner. MISS PITTYPAT, raced wide from the start and close up for five-eighths, failed to stay under light urging while bearing out thereafter.

Winner trained by J. P. Sallee. Went to post at 5:05½. At post 1¼ minutes. Start good for all but LINA MAC. Won driving, place same.

LINA MAC, away poorly, but missing the crowding on the first turn began to move up fast approaching the final half mile, was steadied around the final turn, took command in the stretch but was ridden out. O'BUDDY, badly outrun, rallied to stout urging after reaching the last three-eighths and going on stubbornly to the close but could not get to the winner. BIG GAY, in hand for almost three-quarters, took command on the stretch turn but weakened in the drive. REIGH BEGOE had no mishaps.

RITZ BROTHERS, never far back and saving ground while racing under restraint, responded to urging on the stretch turn, took command on the inside, entering the straightaway and held MERRY PETE safe thereafter. MERRY PETE made the pace under snug restraint, was put to pressure when challenged and held on well but was not good enough. TOWSON a factor from the beginning, was in hand three-quarters and held on fairly well thereafter.

YANKEES DEFEAT CLEVELAND, 6-1, BEFORE 62,773

Boost Lead to 3½ Games; Feller Issues 11 Passes.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The Yankees made only four hits today, but Joe Gordon whacked a homer and Bob Feller walked 11 batters to give the New Yorkers a 6 to 1 decision over the Indians in the opening game of their three-game series. A crowd of 62,773 turned out for the battle.

The victory, achieved behind five-hit pitching of Bump Hadley, sent the Yanks 3½ games in front of the Indians in the American league race.

Waterloo Pitcher Stops Evansville Without a Hit

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Eddie Bastein of the Waterloo, Ia., Three-Eye League club pitched a no hit, no run game tonight, defeating Evansville, league leader, 1 to 0. The game, first of a double-header, was scheduled to go seven innings, but Harold Manders of Evansville was almost as invincible as Bastein, and it wasn't until the second extra inning that Waterloo accounted for the only run of the game.

Fans Waging Hot Fight to Select Best 3d Baseman

New York, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Baseball fans of the nation are waging a hot fight over who should be the third baseman on the All-American baseball team which is being selected in a coast-to-coast popularity poll conducted by a cereal company.

Ten of the sixteen major league third basemen have a chance to win the election—and the automobile which goes with it—in the balloting which closes at midnight tomorrow.

Red Rolfe of the New York Yankees; Mel Ott, slugging star of the New York Giants, who is up among the leaders of his league in runs batted in, runs scored, home runs, and batting; Buddy Lewis, youngster of the Washington Senators; Stanley Hack, who is hitting well over the .300 mark for the Chicago Cubs; and Ken Keltner, brilliant home run hitting rookie of the Cleveland Indians, seem to have the most supporters, and the winner, to be announced a week from Monday, probably will be one of them.

Romance in Chicagoland.

A golden moon's soft light doth guard
The evening star, when cometh dark
Within Chicagoland's Grant park.

Like Fairyland in youthful dreams
The fountain's flying fishes play
Like on the road to Mandalay.

Caressing breezes linger near,
The sweet notes wafted from the band,

financial troubles [his contract calls for full payment even if he is injured] he is concentrating on making good in the All-Star game and with Pittsburgh.

White has started working out and expects to report in fair condition. Until January he will forget Oxford and his Rhodes scholarship.

Baugh Is Confident.

Washington's Redskins may be smugly complacent over the impending comparison of Baugh and White. Washington knows what Baugh can do and certainly Slingin' Sam must have the confidence that springs from achievement. But here is the record of Whizzer's last year's play for Colorado, a record that Pittsburgh thought excellent enough to risk a small fortune.

In seven Rocky Mountain conference games, an intersectional game with the University of Missouri, and a post-season contest with Rice Institute in the Cotton bowl, White scored 17 touchdowns, kicked 25 points after touchdowns in 30 attempts, made one field goal in one attempt for a total of 130 points. This record is 27 points better than that made by Earl [Dutch] Clark in 1928 when he played for Colorado college and won the individual scoring title for the season. Since then Dutch Clark has proved repeatedly that he is one of the greatest half backs of all times. He now coaches the Detroit Lions.

Averages 6.8 Yards.

White carried the ball from scrimmage 174 times during the nine games and gained 1,188 yards net for an average of 6.8 yards. The Whizzer was a far better than average running back according to these figures. He also completed 24 forward passes in 52 attempts and the average gain for each pass was 14.2 yards. More important only three passes were intercepted.

Whizzer did the kicking and he averaged 43.3 yards for the season. White also was Colorado's safety man on defense and he carried back 37 enemy kicks for 738 yards.

During the 1937 season Colorado's running attack gained 2,717 yards. White gained 1,188 yards. Colorado gained 523 yards by passing and 344 yards of that total was credited to the Whizzer. Against Denver university on Thanksgiving day before a crowd of 32,000, White carried the ball 16 times from scrimmage for 116 yards. Three of his five forward passes connected, one for 55 yards, and the other two for touchdowns. He kicked ten times for an average of 41 yards.

White handled four punts in this game and returned the ball 88 yards. He scored 22 points in Colorado's 34 to 7 victory. In the post-season game with Rice, White placed the ball in scoring position by his off tackle thrusts early in the game and then passed for the touchdown. Later he intercepted a pass by Ernie Lain and ran 49 yards for Colorado's other touchdown

Baugh Holds Record.

So you will not forget what Baugh accomplished last year for Washington, we'll repeat that he set a new professional record by completing 81 forward passes in 171 attempts for 1,127 yards. In the eastern championship game between Washington and New York, when the Redskins smothered the Giants, 49 to 14, Sammy completed 11 passes in 15 attempts. He completed four before he missed, then had four more in succession and his next to last completion of the game was good for 43 yards and a touchdown.

Walker Gives Rained Out Sox Cause for Joy

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox and the Washington Senators, whom the New Deal hasn't been able to boost any higher than fourth place, were supposed to open a four game series in Comiskey park yesterday, but it couldn't be done. There was too much rain, so another double-header was piled up on the Sox.

However, the double-header caused by yesterday's postponement will be stored up instead of being worked off today. This was the easy way out for the weary Sox. They had a twin bill last Sunday. On Wednesday and Thursday they went through four games. They have another double attraction coming up tomorrow.

Walker Comes to Life.

The hitting splurge revealed the last few days by Gerald Walker, whose acquisition from the Tigers hadn't worked out in accordance with all the ballyhoo peddled at the time of the deal, has aroused a new hope which always is helpful in baseball. Walker got off the splinters in the dugout because of an accident to Henry Steinbacher, and he immediately proceeded to prove he had been overlooked.

As long as Walker continues to hit he'll stay in there, which may mean that a spot must be found for Steinbacher, whose wrenched wrist is rapidly returning to normal. Dykes already has done his master minding in this connection, the decision being based on expectation that Walker will furnish more base hits. A spot will be found for Steinbacher, also hitting well, by benching Mike Kreevich, who has been a steady workman and who needs a rest.

Ted Lyons, who was ready to pitch yesterday, probably will be ready for a similar summons today, the possibility being that he will draw Ken Chase as an opponent.

CUBS FACE BEES TODAY

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 5.—The Cubs, their spirits buoyed greatly by Larry French's fine 6 to 0 come back performance against the Giants yesterday, rested today and perhaps dreamed about how they are going to crush the Bees, the Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates in the three series remaining on their current road calendar.

The three game series here will open with a single game tomorrow. Vance Page, 32 year Cub recruit obtained from Indianapolis last Saturday will be unveiled in the opener.

Hartnett was in one of his most jubilant moods. First he was back in his native New England in the rôle of Cub manager. He was merry because he made good after putting himself in the cleanup spot when he benched Frank Demaree with gestures.

Bryant, Lee Hurl Tomorrow.

He still eyes the span between the Pirates and the Cubs with some apprehension for he does not underrate this year's Pittsburgh ensemble. And he has been around to see the Pirates beat the Cubs in seven of the ten games the teams have played.

Gabby, threatened with becoming a mere .500 manager as the Cubs took the field yesterday, now is well over the even break stage. The Cubs have won eight of the 14 games played under his management.

Hartnett said he would stick by his new lineup for several days at least, and that he will use his aces, Clay Bryant and Bill Lee, in the double-header Sunday.

FEREBEES—5,200 OF THEM—MIGHTY PROUD OF J. SMITH

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Hundreds of Ferebees scattered in Virginia, North Carolina, and other southern seacoast states, and all related by marriage or blood, were mighty proud tonight of J. Smith Ferebee, the Chicago marathon golfer.

"All the Ferebees were pulling for Smith, and we're all very proud of him," said his aunt, Miss Annie A. Ferebee of Chesapeake Beach.

"And there are 5,200 of us," added his brother, E. E. Ferebee, a Chicagoan now visiting relatives in Oceania.

The broker-golfer's wife also is visiting relatives there. Relatives said she was very happy over her husband's victory. Her first knowledge of the golf wager was said to have been a telegram from Ferebee telling her in effect "not to believe anything she might see in the papers about it." It was said he feared she might disapprove. But she saw the papers, and she believed what she read. Tonight she telephoned congratulations.

rated respectively Olympia Fields' most difficult problems, were played first. Then he tapered off with No. 3 and No. 2. Both measure under 6,400 yards, and the No. 2 course is generally used by Olympia Fields' feminine members.

The plan worked well after he shook off the effects of three penalty shots on the dawn round over No. 4, but No. 3, which he thought might give him a respite, conspired with the rain to make it the hardest of the day, and he was happy to settle for a pair of 87s thereon. Last month, in the course of playing 90 holes in one day, Ferebee had shot a 77 on No. 3. On that day he played 1, 2, and 4 once and No. 3 twice. His average for the 90 holes was 84.

Ferebee does not pride himself on being a long or straight swinger from the tees. "They usually head for the woods, and and I seldom get more than 230 yards on an average," he said. Yesterday he surprised himself and his friends by being generally accurate off the tees. His putting, built on a smooth, sweeping stroke of the Horton Smith school, is his forte, but yesterday it was not quite up to standard.

Harry Kipke Gets Backing of Auto Concern Officials

"Harry Kipke has my wholehearted support in the campaign for coach of the All-Stars. I think all America believes him to be an admirable choice.
"[Signed] W. S. KNUDSEN,
"President, General Motors."

"I have signed the petition for Harry Kipke to head the coaching staf for your All-Star football game. His record as a player and coach at Michigan has endeared him to football enthusiasts everywhere.

time, driven by a high wind. He fled to the club house.

The young Virginian could have called off the match at this point. He was the sole judge of weather conditions. But as other Virginians fought the mountain storms and the valley redskins, then pushed on,—so did Ferebee.

Begins to Tire.

But as the afternoon waned, his pace of the early hours began slowing him. As the sun sank, however, the bets rose. On La Salle street the bets were now 2 to 1 that he would make it. They had been even or against him the day before.

As darkness came on crowds moved out to the eighteenth green of course No. 2, the finishing point. Another gallery was moving through the twilight behind Ferebee.

He was a different young man now. He didn't look young at all. His knees sagged and his feet dragged. His movements were slow and wearied. There were deep lines in his face. He had had several showers during the day and had eaten food tablets and candy, but the long grind had drained his strength.

Then the Finish.

At the last green the two galleries of nearly 1,000 merged, forming a great hollow oval. Ferebee took his stance for the approach shot. He stood a long time over his ball, holding the mashie head motionless behind it. Then he swung. The ball soared up in an arc and rolled past the cup. He walked up and putted. The marathon was over.

"Amazing!" It was Fred Tuerk, standing on the sidelines. "I knew he had the stamina, but such

GOVERNOR LECHE OPENS KITCHENS, FEEDS STRIKERS

Asserts Police Will Help Obtain Wage Demands.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Striking workers at two box factories here were being fed tonight from soup kitchens maintained by Gov. Richard W. Leche. The governor has given his personal support to the strikers. He told them state police would keep the plants closed until their demands are met.

The first strike was called last Thursday at the Hammond box plant. Workers demanded an increase in pay. They said they were receiving 12 to 15 cents an hour. A picket line was established and work in the plant was stopped.

Five persons have been injured in clashes between the pickets and armed company guards. At least one shot has been fired.

Governor Visits Plant.

Gov. Leche appeared at the plant today. He told the strikers he was with them in their demands. The governor and his aids immediately set up a field kitchen to feed the strikers and employed their wives at $3 a day to serve them.

"You don't have to work for such low wages in prosperous Louisiana," Gov. Leche told the strikers. "Don't go back to work until you get better wages. I'll give you state police to protect you and to see that the factory doesn't reopen."

The second strike was called at the Roseland plant of the same box company. State police were assigned here and at the Hammond plant. A number of company guards at Roseland were escorted out of town by the governor's police.

Candidate Accused.

Over night a circular bearing the governor's name was distributed throughout the district. It accused James Morrison, a candidate for congress from the 5th district, of working against the striking employés. Morrison is opposed by Gov. Leche's candidate, Dr. J. K. Griffith.

Observers saw the governor's move to aid the strikers as a counter drive against the inroads of Morrison in the district.

Officials of the box company declared there has been no trouble between the employés and the management. They blamed the strike on organizers for the American Federation of Labor, who are attempting to gain sole bargaining rights for the strikers.

CLOSING OF CIRCUS FAKED, SAYS UNION IN NLRB COMPLAINT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—(AP)—A labor union complained to the National Labor Relations board today that the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus had faked its recent shutdown to get rid of its 1,200 union employés.

The American Federation of Actors, an A. F. of L. affiliate, filed an 800 word complaint with the board contending the circus workers had been "illegally, fraudulently and discriminatorily" fired when the show closed in Scranton, Pa., last June after the employés had struck in protest against a wage cut.

COMPLETE NORTH SIDERS' TEAM FOR MUSIC FESTIVAL

Festival Tickets!

Reserved seats for the Chicagoland Music Festival are now on sale at 50 cents and $1 each. They may be obtained by mail [make check or money order payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.] or by calling at the Chicago Tribune public service bureaus at 1 South Dearborn street and in Tribune Tower lobby.

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

A world war veteran, a high school girl, and a stenographer will complete the team of six singers to represent the north side in the 1938 Chicagoland Music Festival. They were chosen last night in an audition at the Edgewater Beach hotel from 90 contestants in the bass, mezzo soprano and soprano classes.

Harry E. Reed, a world war veteran who lost an arm earning seven medals for bravery in France, won the bass honors. It was his fourth contest and his only comment on his victory was: "I'm so glad, I've tried so hard." He is 39 years old, and lives at 306 South Wabash avenue. He sang Lehman's "Myself, When Young" effortlessly, and, the judges explained, with great natural feeling and splendid diction.

The young friends of Jean Eisman, 2100 Addison street, howled with delight when she was announced winner in the mezzo contest. Jean is 17 years old, a sun tanned blonde. She won Chicago's high school voice contest this year but had no hope at all, she said, of winning last night.

Wants to Be Opera Star.

Miss Agnes Geitz, 714 Oakdale avenue, sang Puccini's aria "Vissi d'Arte" to win first position in the soprano contest. Miss Geitz is a blonde stenographer who has one dream, she confided—to be an opera star.

John Backlund, 3804 North Marshfield avenue, rushed into the bass contest at the last minute, breathless, to win second place. He was winner last year, and won second place in the all-Chicago contest. Albert F. Stewart, 4345 Kenmore avenue, was third.

In the mezzo group Miss Pearl Green, 5050 Sheridan road, won second place. Miss Thelma Lochner, 3518 Broadway, placed third. Second and third place in the soprano section went to Miss Dorothy Cornfield, 6922 Greenview avenue, and Miss Caroline Haas, 915 Bell Plaine avenue.

Audiences Critical, Too.

Audiences that come to hear these recitals of fine trained voices have become a force to reckon with, a mass of musicians and critics who have ideas of their own about singing. Last night more than 700 attended.

To prevent the audition from becoming the popularity contest that elimination on Thursday threatened to be, Miss Kathryn Witwer, one of the judges, pleaded with the spectators for forbearance.

"We three judges—Lawrence Salerno and Marie Zendt and I—hope you will agree with us," she said, "and we want you to know we are doing our best to decide fairly. We like your enthusiasm and we'd like all these people to win, just as you would."

There was no disagreement with the judges. The audience applauded each decision warmly.

STATE PUTS CURB ON 1,454 LOCAL RELIEF AGENCIES

New Rules Standardize Administration.

A twenty-eight page book was sent by Leo M. Lyons, IERC executive secretary, to 1,454 local relief agencies. These include 1,436 township supervisors, seventeen county commissions, and the city of Chicago.

These units receive the major portion of their direct relief funds from the state.

One of the principal requirements imposed by the new IERC regulations is a uniform accounting and auditing system among all local units, including the separation of relief accounts from other local funds.

County Control Units Provided.

Uniform accounting is expected to result in increased efficiency and economy. It will be enforced by a central control in each county.

The IERC will require the local relief unit to account not only for its funds but for its clients. The commission announced that it will install as rapidly as possible in all counties a master file of all persons receiving assistance from the several federal and state welfare agencies. The file is intended to reduce duplication of assistance.

As a curb to alleged manipulation of relief by township supervisors for political purposes, the IERC warned that it would investigate cases where excessive relief is given and prosecute when relief requisitions are drawn against stores owned by officials.

Need to Be Sole Yardstick.

"Relief," it said, "shall be granted exclusively on the basis of need. Race, nationality, creed, or political affiliation shall not be a factor in the determination of need.

"An applicant shall not be regarded as in need if acceptable employment within his ability is available. However, on refusal of a wage earner to accept such work, relief may be issued to his dependents and a warant for nonsupport may be sought and complaint prosecuted."

It pointed out that the client's cash, his credit, saleable and nonessential property, and loan value of insurance policies must be exhausted before he is eligible for relief.

The IERC said that the local unit's full use of federal services will be considered in the allocation of state funds.

Chicago relief administration officials said that the new rules would have no affect here, since they are already in operation.

HOPKINS' PANTS KEEP DELEGATES WAITING 3 HOURS

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 5.—(AP)—WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins today kept representatives from eleven states waiting for three hours to begin conferences on a program to help southern farmers. When Hopkins appeared he explained:

"I've spent the last three hours in my hotel room in nothing but a towel. I couldn't find my pants. I guess they got caught in the Crump landslide." [A reference to the Tennessee Democratic primary, which the E. H. Crump organization of Memphis won.]

When he arrived, Hopkins sent the suit he was wearing out to be pressed. Then he discovered that his traveling bag, containing all his other clothes, had been misplaced between the station and the hotel. It was finally found.

CITY TO INSTALL 49,000 METERS FOR FILTERED WATER

Public Works administration officials said yesterday that plans for construction of a $21,000,000 water filtration plant and system on the south side provide that water meters shall be installed wherever the filtered water is used. A grant of $5,415,750 has been made by the PWA as a start on the project. The city nas agreed to contribute $6,600,000.

Of this amount $1,860,000 will be spent to install nearly 49,000 meters in the territory south of Pershing road which the plant will serve. An additional $9,000,000 will be needed to finish the project. Installation of the rest of the meters will be completed out of this sum.

Measurement of the water is necessary, according to PWA engineers, because filtration will boost the cost of supplying water.

D. F. KELLY'S BODY RETURNED; RITES TO BE HELD TODAY

6 CHILDREN DIE; HUNT CAUSE OF STRANGE DISEASE

Owosso, Mich., Aug. 5.—(AP)—This city of 14,000 persons mobilized its resources tonight to combat a mysterious disease that has taken six children's lives in the last week.

The state's laboratories have been unable to identify the bacterial infection that is believed to have caused the deaths, and efforts of local officials to determine the source of infection have failed.

Members of the state health department staf said the disease appears to be one of the dysenteries. A University of Michigan laboratory report said the deaths had been caused by an unknown bacterial infection that attacks the large intestine.

JUDGE OPENS WAR ON GOLD DIGGERS AND FREES ELMER

Gold digging wives were given notice yesterday by Judge Thomas Green that they will receive no satisfaction in his court. One such wife, the court said, is the spouse of Elmer Purdue, 2601 Archer avenue. Purdue has been locked up in the Bridewell for three months since he was sentenced by Judge John T. Zuris to serve six months for failure to pay $5 a week support for his wife, Mae, of 1216 Oakdale avenue. When Judge Green learned Mrs. Purdue had no children and had made no effort to find work he called her a gold digger. Then he vacated the balance of Purdue's sentence.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

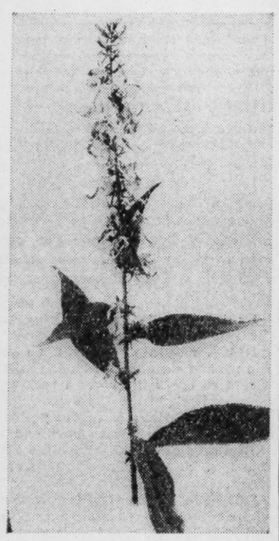
Flora of Chicagoland

[The Tall Bellflower.]

August 5, 1938.

IN the woods and along the roadsides of the Tribune's Du Page county farm this week the most prominent wild flowers are the tall bellflowers. Many of these plants stand at least 4 feet above the ground. Some we saw were close to 6 feet high. Their light blue flowers add color to the summer landscape.

The tall bellflower, related to the bluebell of Scotland, has several other names, including Canterbury bells and bluebell. It is widely distributed, being found as far north as Ontario and south to Florida. Related species, such as the bluebell of Scotland, are found in Europe.



Tall Bellflower.

Flourishes in Shade.

The true bluebell likes rocky ledges for its home, and may be found growing from a tiny niche in a huge stone on the bank of a mountain stream or beside a small lake. Its American relative—the tall bellflower—is not so particular about its habitat. On the farm you may see its attractive dash of color anywhere, although it is usually more abundant in moist woodlands where it is well shaded.

Plants of the bluebell family are unimportant for medicinal uses or other commercial purposes, although they did find some uses for them in the old days. Alfred Lord Tennyson once wrote that bluebell juice [from the stems and roots] was a good remedy for snake bites, a remedy that the modern doctor hardly would use. The juice from the roots also has been used as a substitute for starch, and in the days when stiff ruffs were worn bluebell juice was in much demand for starching purposes.

Bound Books of Old.

Since the juice is somewhat resinous it was used as bookbinders' gum in the early days. For the same reason it was considered excellent for attaching feathers to arrows that English archers shot with their long bows.

But most wildflower fans aren't interested in its former uses, preferring to value this member of the bluebell family for its beauty during the late summer weeks. Along with the first cardinal flowers, the early goldenrods, the deep purple bergamot, and the wild sunflowers, the tall bellflower adds much beauty to the farm woods at this season of the year.

PHELPS DODGE'S NET EARNINGS SHOW DECLINE

Postal Telegraph Land Lines Lose.

Phelps Dodge corporation, producer and fabricator of copper, yesterday reported profit of $3,830,588, or 75 cents a share, before depletion, for the first six months of the year. Profit was $7,101,458, or $1.40 a share, in the first half of 1937.

Postal Telegraph land lines showed a heavier loss for June than for June, 1937. Hupp Motor Car corporation's second quarter loss was larger than that in the second three months of last year. Lower profits for the first half compared with results in the 1937 first half were shown by American Home Products corporation, maker of medicines and drugs; Marlin-Rockwell corporation, maker of ball bearings, and Consolidated Steel corporation, Ltd.

Postal Loss Is $293,719.

The loss of Postal Telegraph in June amounted to $293,719, against a loss of $239,297 in June of last year. In the first half year the company had a loss of $2,031,397, against loss of $1,353,860 in the six months of 1937.

Hupp Motor showed a net loss of $26,401 in the second quarter, compared with loss of $212,241 in the June, 1937, quarter, and loss of $290,-47 in the first three months of this year.

American Home Products reported for the first half of 1938 a net profit o $1,355,097, or $1.83 a share. Profit was $1,552,661 in the first six months o last year. Profit in the June quarter was $613,543, compared with $692,-19 in the second three months of 137.

Net earnings of $104,788 were reported by Marlin-Rockwell corporation for the June quarter, compared with $376,965 profit in the three months ended June 30, 1937, and $127,-78 in the March quarter of this year.

Consolidated Steel Has Profit.

Consolidated Steel made a net profit of $75,145, or 52 cents a preferred share, in the first six months of this year, compared with $145,165, or 12 cents a share, in the first half of 1937.

Mohawk Carpet Mills, Inc., reported net loss in the first half year was $98,372, against a profit of $1,321,127 a year earlier.

George McNeir, chairman of the board, told stockholders that there is much evidence of a turn for the better in the company's business. He said that commodity prices on June 3 were at a level which required appropriation of $400,000 from earned surplus as a reserve for the decline in inventory values. The actual operating loss of the Mohawk Mills was negligible, McNear said. He explained that most of the net loss was caused by overhead expenses which could not be absorbed because volume was so small.

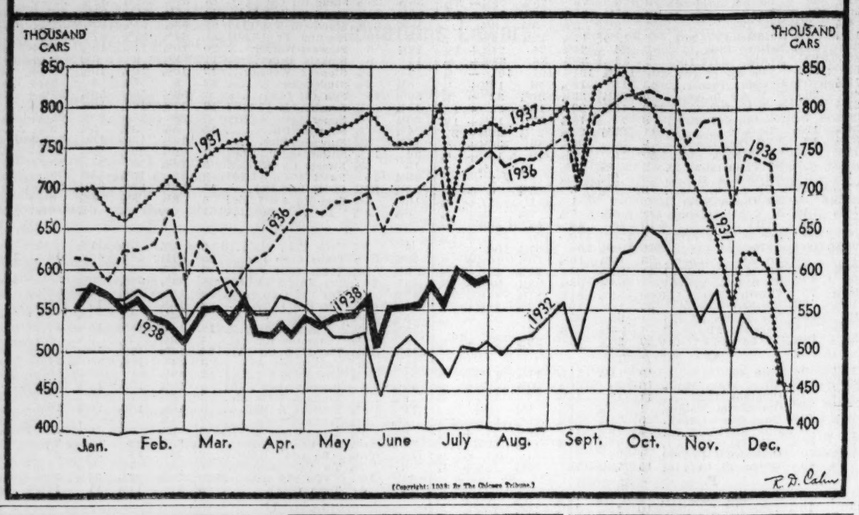
Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 5.—Five tankers left Mexican ports yesterday with government gasoline and crude oil. This indicates that the difficulties of V. R. Davis, American independent operator, over the government contract for the purchase by Germany, Italy, and Sweden of $10,000,000 worth of petroleum, with 60 per cent of the payment in machinery and 40 per cent in cash, have been overcome, at least temporarily.

Two ships, the Petter and the Polydrp, sailed for Hamburg. The Japanese leased the C. G. Bovrig for either Hamburg or Yokohama and the Myram for a destination undisclosed but believed to be Germany. The Norwegian tanker Athos is believed to be proceeding to Houston, Tex.

Weekly Freight Carloadings in Selected Years



British Drive for Wheat Cuts Cattle Raising

England's desire for more wheat on its own farms and those of Canada has reduced domestic production of cattle in these two countries. During the last few months this has been an indirect influence elevating the price of beef steaks for the American housewife.

Cattle production in the United Kingdom and in Canada started on the downgrade as the wheat output was stepped up. This caused heavier purchases of beef and cattle by England from other nations. Latest private estimates placed the probable production of Canadian wheat for 1938 at 311 million bushels, a large crop.

Crop Is Much Larger.

The estimated 1938 Canadian wheat crop would exceed the 1937 crop by about 150 million bushels. The wheat crop in England, Scotland, Wales, and Northern Ireland was estimated at 59,700,000 bushels for 1938, compared with 56,350,000 a year ago and 55,300,000 two years ago.

Canada, which was a heavy seller of beef and veal as well as live cattle and calves to the United States during 1936 and 1937, had fewer for sale this year. With England a stronger bidder, Canadian exports to England were stepped up sharply and less was senet over the border into this country.

Sales of Canadian cattle to England during the first five months of 1938 amounted to 16,415 head, an increase of more than 1,400 per cent over the 1,093 head exported to that country during the corresponding period last year. Exports of Canadian cattle to the United States dropped from 85,755 head during the five months last year to 26,359 this year, a decrease of 69 per cent.

Cattle Down 257,000 Head.

The department of agriculture reported that the Canadian cattle population was reduced 257,000 head from December 1, 1936, to the same date in 1937. Further reductions were said to have occurred since the close of last year. On December 1, 1937, there were 8,080,000 cattle left on farms, compared with 8,337,000 the same date in 1936, and 8,431,000 in 1935.

Other nations also have reduced their shipments of beef into the United States, due to the stronger competition for meat abroad, particularly from England. Uruguay, which provides a large share of the imported beef consumed by Americans, sold only 5,902,211 pounds in this country during the first half of 1938, a decline of 57 per cent from the sales in the United States a year ago.

There has been an almost steady increase in the cost of most cuts of beef since early this spring. Last week's wholesale quotations for best ribs in Chicago showed a rise of about 26 per cent over the spring low spot. Best beef loins sold wholesale last week at a gain of 30 per cent over the low level several months ago. Rounds showed the largest percentage of increase, selling 46 per cent higher than the 1938 low.

CHICAGO WATER LOAN OF $4,700,000 TO BE SOLD AUG. 19

Bids on $4,700,000 of city water certificates will be opened Aug. 19 in the city hall, Controler Robert B. Upham said yesterday. He rejected bids on $2,200,000 of certificates without opening them.

He explained that the city council on Wednesday authorized the sale of $2,500,000 of additional certificates, and these, plus the $2,200,000 offering, will be sold the same day. The certificates bear interest at 3 per cent and mature between Aug. 1, 1956, and Aug. 15, 1958.

Stocks Climb; Many Set New Highs for Year

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 5.—Many issues reached new highs for the year in faster trading in the stock market today. Gains in the leaders ranged from fractions to around 3 points. Several volatile issues jumped 5 to 8 points. Volume was around 1,170,000 shares, the largest since last Friday.

Buying orders appeared at the opening and sizeable gains were registered in initial transactions. As little selling developed, traders took more courage and bid actively throughout the session. Closing prices were near the day's best levels.

The upturn was traced to improved sentiment engendered by better news concerning trade and industry.

Motor Stocks in Demand.

Motor and trucking shares were in the best demand. General Motors rose 1⅝ points to 45⅞, a new high. Chrysler closed at 73⅝, up 2½ points. Yellow Truck approached its previous peak, rising 1⅛ points to 21¼. Greyhound, up a fraction, entered new high ground.

Rubber shares also were popular. United States Rubber jumped 2 points, Goodyear made 2¼, and B. F. Goodrich 1¼ points. The latter two issues made new tops.

Steels and coppers also attracted buyers. In the former United States Steel gained 1⅝ points. Bethlehem 2 points, Youngstown 1⅞ points, and Inland 2 points.

In the coppers, Anaconda, Kennecott, International Nickel, and American Smelting advanced 1 to 2 points.

Montgomery Ward Climbs.

Particular attention was paid to Montgomery Ward in the merchandising group. The stock flirted with its previous peak on a jump of 2⅛ points. Sears-Roebuck advanced 1½ points.

Carrier shares had their best day in several weeks. Santa Fe, with a 2 point jump; New York Central, up 1; Chesapeake and Ohio, up 2¼, Pennsylvania, up 1⅛, and Southern Pacific, up 1½ points, were conspicuous.

Oils gained fractions for the most part. Texas corporation, however, advanced 1⅝ points. Amerada was good for five points on a few sales.

FRANCE PERMITS LISTING OF U. S. STOCKS IN PARIS

PARIS, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Banking circles reported today that the French government had given stock exchange authorities permission to list American stocks on the Paris bourse for the first time since the world war.

French brokers long have attempted to obtain government consent, asserting they were losing large profits. In the past some conservative financial quarters expressed fears there might be attempts to unload abnormally high priced American stocks on French investors.

Britons May Buy Stocks.

New York, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Lieut. Col. Francis J. Popham and Thomas M. McQuaker, directors of the National Group of Trust Units, Ltd., London, will arrive here Monday to formulate plans for the investment of substantial funds in American securities.

The directors plan, first, to represent as selling agent in England some American trust of the mutual type, and, second, to establish a British trust of which the portfolio will comprise 50 per cent in American stocks.

CHRYSLER WILL LIST STOCK ON CHICAGO BOARD

Outstanding Shares Above 4 Million.

Chrysler corporation yesterday accepted the Chicago Stock exchange's invitation to list its common stock, Arthur M. Betts, chairman, announced. This makes a total of fourteen large companies which have decided to list in response to the exchange's invitational plan. The program provides for listing in Chicago of stocks now traded on the New York exchange without payment of the usual listing fee.

Among those companies which have accepted the invitation are American Telephone and Telegraph company, Montgomery Ward & Co., Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, International Harvester company, and Deere & Co. All of the firms have a substantial number of stockholders in this area.

Chrysler, one of the most actively traded issues on the New York board, has 4,351,132 common shares outstanding. The stock will be admitted to trading at Chicago within the next thirty days.

"We are naturally pleased that the Chrysler corporation has joined with these other great corporations in accepting our invitation," Betts said. "The listing of these concerns is adding to the prestige of the exchange. It is directing public attention to its list of 319 equity issues in an effective manner."

The common stock of the Acme Steel company, which accepted the invitation to list last month, will be admitted to trading today. Others in which actual trading has started are Container corporation, Pressed Steel Car company, Westinghouse, and Deere & Co. Trading in American Telephone and the others whose listing has been approved will start this month.

Chicago Market Advances.

Chicago stocks yesterday advanced in the most active trading of the week. The volume was 27,000 shares, against 18,000 on the preceding day. Seven issues made new 1938 high marks. Electric Household, the trading favorite on a turnover of 2,950 shares, climbed to a new 1938 top of 4⅝ and closed up ¾ at 4½. Bendix reached a new peak of 21½, finishing at 21½, up 1.

Houdaille Hershey B gained ⅞ at 15⅝ and Marshall Field rose ⅝ to 13¼. Zenith moved ahead to 21½, up ⅞. Borg-Warner spurted 1¼ points to 32¼.

RAILWAY WAGE MEDIATION WILL START THURSDAY

Mediation of the railroad wage dispute will be started in Chicago next Thursday. This was announced in Washington, D. C., yesterday by Dr. William M. Leiserson, chairman of the national mediation board.

The board's three members will try to settle the fight between the railroads and their 914,000 workers over the proposed 15 per cent wage cut. The two other members of the board are Otto S. Beyer and George M. Cook.

Negotiations between the railroads and nineteen unions broke up after meetings on Wednesday and Thursday when neither side would make concessions. On Wednesday the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, of which A. F. Whitney is president, ended its arguments with the railroads. On Thursday the eighteen other unions under the leadership of George M. Harrison ended their discussion.

The mediation proceedings are expected to take at least ten days. By their attitude during the negotiations, both the railroads and the unions have indicated that mediation will fail.

Vessel of Inland Steel company delivers 15,726 gross tons of ore at Indiana harbor. It was the largest shipment ever handled on the Great Lakes.

Cost of Food Is Lower for City Family

The cost of feeding the average Chicago family declined a little during the last two weeks, a check on wholesale food markets disclosed yesterday. Many more bargains in fresh vegetables could be found, and some grades of meat also were cheaper. Retail prices keep step with the wholesale markets.

String beans, cabbage, green corn, cucumbers, peas, radishes, green peppers, and some grades of tomatoes were lower. Missouri, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan tomatoes were cheaper, while California tomatoes were advancing. Indiana tomatoes could be bought for as little as 35 to 40 cents per crate of 12 quarts.

Vegetables Supplies Large.

Larger than usual supplies of nearly all vegetables have been avilable recently in Chicago, market men said. Most of the vegetables being consumed in the city are coming from the truck farms of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and other nearby states.

The quality of vegetables coming into the Chicago market continues to be high, market men agreed. This was attributed to the excellent growing conditions that have prevailed during the present season.

Best bargains in meats could be found in cheaper grades of beef and pork. Some grades declined a cent a pound. Butter was about unchanged and potatoes were lower.

TRUCKERS, UNION DRIVERS CONFER ON WAGES, HOURS

Representatives of trucking operators in 11 midwestern states yesterday submitted counter proposals for a scale of wages and hours sought by a drivers' union. The union's negotiating committee took the offer under advisement and agreed to meet with the committee for several thousand operators again next Wednesday.

Neither side would disclosed details of the proposal. Farrell Dobbs of St. Paul, Minn., secretary of the group acting for the Drivers, Helpers, and Platform Workers division of Local 710, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, said they had asked for a uniform scale throughout the area. He said the union had asked for an agreement embracing a three cent mileage or its hourly equivalent and a 48 hour week.

John L. Keeshin of Chicago, chairman of the operators committee, said any agreement reached would have to be ratified by the trucking industry in the midwest.

Retail Sales Volume Lifted by Hot Weather

New York, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Helped by the hot weather and August promotions, retail distribution this week gained substantially, Dun Bradstreet reported today. Increases over the preceding week ranged from 3 to 7 per cent. Loss from the volume of the corresponding week a year ago was cut to 3 to 10 per cent.

VESSEL DELIVERS 300 CARLOADS OF ORE, NEW RECORD

The steamer L. E. Block of the Inland Steel company docked at Indiana Harbor yesterday morning with the largest shipment of iron ore ever handled on the Great Lakes. Inland Steel officials said that the vessel carried 15,726 gross tons, or nearly 300 carloads, of ore from the Marquette range.

The L. E. Block left Marquette, Mich., on Lake Superior, on Tuesday. The 15,726 tons of ore it carried will produce about a half that tonnage of finished steel, officials said.

The steamer is one of the largest and fastest vessels on the Great Lakes. It is 596 feet long and 64 feet wide. It was built in 1927 and cost about $1,000,000. Its captain is Joseph Matthews, who has been in Inland service for twenty-seven years.

FREIGHT TRAFIC BOOSTED BY BIG COAL MOVEMENT

Sharply increased coal shipments and small gains in the movement of other commodities caused a 1.3 per cent increase in railroad freight trafic during the week ended July 30 compared with the preceding week. A total of 588,703 freight cars was loaded—7,821 more than in the week ended July 23—the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

A 6,470 car increase in coal shipments accounted for most of the gain in loadings.

Trafic, however, still was far below that of previous years. Loadings in the week ended July 30 were 24.4 per cent under those of the similar 1937 week, and 21.2 per cent under two years ago.

Car loadings of the various commodities compare as follows:

RAIL PASSENGERS NOW RENT AUTOS UNDER NEW PLAN

The New Haven railroad has arranged to provide automobiles for passengers desiring to rent them when they arrive at nine important points on its system.

The New Haven has made an arrangement with the Hertz Drive Yourself system by which New Haven passengers may rent the Hertz automobiles at 40 per cent below the regular rates. The passengers are transported from the New Haven stations in the nine key cities to the Hertz stations without cost.

The service is expected to appeal especially to salesmen who must make many calls on customers. It enables the passenger to make his long pourney by train and to use an automobile for shorter trips. It coordinates the passenger automobile with passenger train service in a manner similar to that in which truck and freight services are coordinated.

BUTTER SLUMPS; DROP IN FEDERAL BUYING RUMORED

Butter futures broke ½ cent a pound yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange on rumors that the Dairy Products Marketing association may curtail its butter buying program. The association, federally financed, is authorized to buy up to 50 million pounds of butter before next April, but traders had understood that purchases of another 50 million would probably be authorized.

With the purchases already more than 25 million pounds in less than two months of buying, reports have reached traders that the program will be limited to 50 million pounds. The DPMA officials have made no announcement.

MARSHALL FIELD ESTATE SELLS LOOP THEATER

BY AL CHASE.

The Marshall Field estate yesterday sold the ten story Woods theater building, at the northwest corner of Randolph and Dearborn, and leased the land under it for ninety-nine years, to the Essaness Theaters corporation. The price paid for the building was not disclosed, but the lessee will pay $4,700,000 rental for the term, or at the rate of $47,500 annually.

This will be the entrance of Essaness, which operates thirty theaters in the Chicago area, into the loop district. The Woods theater will be completely remodeled and first run pictures will be shown. Balaban & Katz, which control most of the other loop film houses, were spirited bidders for the Woods property, it was learned.

Pay Percentage of Profits.

An unusual feature of the transaction is the use for the first time, according to Ward Farnsworth, who represented the Field estate, of a percentage of profits clause in a ninety-nine year lease. This feature was originated by Wilson & McIlvaine, attorneys for the Field estate.

This clause will enable the Field estate to participate in any extra large profits in the operation of the building, and also will be a hedge against possible inflation. Heretofore, when a party leases land for a ninety-nine year period and buys the building on it, the lessor merely gets a stipulated rent for the term and has nothing to say about the building or its profits. In this instance, however, the Field estate will get a percentage of gross receipts from the present or any future building.

Shares After $600,000.

The lease provides that if the gross profits are more than $600,000 the Field estate will get an undisclosed percentage of the excess amount. It also provides that in case the building is changed or rebuilt without a theater the Field estate will get a percentage of all gross over $400,000.

Although the Essaness Theaters corporation is the actual buyer of the building and the lessee of the land, title was taken by the Fifty-four West Randolph Building corporation, owned by Essaness.

The Woods theater building was built in 1917 at a reported cost of $400,000. At present the theater section is operated by Jones, Linick & Schaefer. The office part of the building is occupied mostly by music publishing concerns and amusement firms. Spitz & Adcock were attorneys for the lessee.

FOREIGN MONEYS RALLY IN TERMS OF U. S. DOLLAR

The British pound rallied to close unchanged at $4.89⅝ in foreign exchange dealings yesterday. It had lost ¾ of a cent in early trading. Recovery was attributed by bankers to an improved outlook in the Czechoslovakian and eastern political situations.

Other European currencies also recovered most of the ground lost in early transactions. The French franc finished only 0.00⅛ cent lower at 2.74⅝ cents, and the Belgium belga, 0.00½ of a cent off at 16.62½ cents.

Demand for gold by European hoarders was still fairly large although smaller than on Wednesday or Thursday. Sales in the London open market amounted to about $7,766,500, bringing total sales for the last three days to $33,947,200.

Gold imports by the United States totaled $9,215,714 in the week ended July 29, compared with $18,983,304 in the preceding week, the department of commerce reported. Silver imports were $5,237,522, an increase of $1,770,671 over the preceding week.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The bond market advanced today, with demand the best in a week, and the rise carried many industrial loans to new highs for the year. Precipitating buying were new reports that business activity on many fronts was increasing.

Alleghany bonds moved irregularly, reflecting appraisals of the outlook for the securities pledged as collateral behind the bonds. The Alleghany 5s of 1949 lost 4⅜ but the 5s of 1950 advanced 2 points. Delaware and Hudson refunding 4s advanced 4⅜, Missour&i Kansas Texas 5s of '62 were up 1½, and Missouri Pacific 5s of '77 "F" gained 1½.

Some speculative rails broke sharply. Baltimore and Ohio refunding 6s closed off 3½, and the refunding 5s were off 3, while the first 5s were up 2, and the 4s of 1948 were 4¾ higher.

United States government issues tended higher with treasuries showing gains up to 3-32 of a point.

Bank Stocks.

Several Chicago bank stocks moved upward in heavier trading yesterday. Shares of the American National Bank and Trust company gained $3 to close at $181 bid, $190 asked price. Chicago Title and Trust company stock advanced $1 to $146 bid, $149 asked. Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company advanced $1 to $223 bid, $227 asked.

COTTON

American cotton markets were affected yesterday by the general decline in commodity prices. Favorable weather conditions prevailing over a large part of the south and weakness in Liverpool also had some effect on sentiment. Bombay was reported the leading seller in the English market.

Closing trades on futures were at net losses of .05 to .10 cent a pound. World takings of American cotton during the last week were estimated at 130,000 to 140,000 bales, compared with 147,000 bales in the preceding week.

Spot cotton closed .10 cent lower, with New Orleans, 8.55 cents; New York, 8.50 cents, and Galveston and Houston, 8.30 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Business Books

"Common Stock Indexes, 1871-1937," by Alfred Cowles III. and associates. [The Principia Press, Inc., Bloomington, Ind. Price, $6.]

This book is a presentation of the common stock indexes constructed by the Cowles commission for research in economics. The indexes cover a 67 year period ending with 1937. They include data on the average return on various classes of common stocks, earnings-price ratios, price appreciation or depreciation, dividend payments, and yields. The indexes represent separately each of 59 groups, classified according to industry, as well as ten combinations of these groups.

"Inflation and Deflation Can Be and Should Be Eliminated," by Emmett C. Barr. [Privately published. Copies obtainable from author, Benedum-Trees building, Pittsburgh, Pa. Price, $2.]

Asserting that the depression was caused largely by post-war inflation of bank credit in this country, the author recommends establishment of monetary, banking, and lending systems which would eliminate both currency and credit inflation and deflation. He discusses the systems he believes will do the job.

EDISON FILES 72 MILLIONS OF NEW SECURITIES

Another Step in Program of Simplification.

The Commonwealth Edison company yesterday registered $72,251,595 of bonds with the Securities and Exchange commission. They included $33,000,000 series I, 3½ per cent mortgage bonds, due 1936, and $39,251,595 [or more] of convertible debenture bonds, 3½ per cent series, due 1958.

The two issues of securities are another step in the plan of the Commonwealth Edison company to simplify its financial structure and to reduce interest charges. The company recently sold a like amount of bonds and about $40,000,000 of 3½ per cent debentures.

Will Be Offered by Syndicate.

Twenty days must elapse before the securities can be placed on the market. When the registration becomes effective the securities will be offered by a nation-wide investment banking syndicate headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc. This company headed the group that sold the recent Commonwealth Edison offerings.

The registration statement disclosed that Commonwealth Edison stockholders who hold stock on record with the company Sept. 2 will be entitled to subscribe to the convertible debentures. The offer extends to Sept. 21. The dates, however, are tentative.

How Cash Will Be Used.

The statement also disclosed how the proceeds will be used. There will be redeemed: $15,000,000 Commonwealth Edison series C 4½ per cent and $15,000,000 series D 4½ per cent first mortgage bonds; $18,818,000 of Public Service Company of Northern Illinois 5 per cent first mortgage bonds; $8,250,000 of Public Service 5 per cent first lien and refunding mortgage bonds, series C; $2,284,000 of an issue of $16,000,000 of Public Service first lien and refunding mortgage 4½ per cent bonds; $2,250,000 of Chicago District Electric Generating corporation series B 6 per cent first mortgage bonds; 42,204 shares [$2,220,400] of 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock of the Illinois Northern Utilities company, and 6,454 shares [$645,000] of $7 junior cumulative preferred stock of Illinois Northern Utilities.

After these issues have been redeemed, the public debt of Public Service of Northern Illinois will be reduced to an even $80,000,000. This will put the company in a position to "stand on its own feet" in refunding this debt on a lower interest basis.

Issue May Be Larger.

The debenture issue registered yesterday may run as high as $50,000,000, depending on how many are subscribed. The Sept. 2 record date will enable persons who subscribed to the last issue of debentures to convert them into common stock in time to subscribe to this issue. Commonwealth Edison stock closed yesterday at 26⅝.

The company registered between 7,850,320 and 10,041,749 subscription warrants evidencing rights to subscribe to the debentures, and between 1,570,464 and 2,008,350 shares of $25 par value common stock to be reserved for conversion of the debentures.

Other Issues Registered.

Lone Star Gas Corporation of Wilmington, Del., filed a registration statement with the securities commission covering $20,000,000 of fifteen year 3½ per cent sinking fund debentures due Aug. 1, 1953. The statement also covered 730,000 shares of no par value common stock, including scrip certificates for fractional shares to be reserved for conversion of $10,000,000 of the debentures.

The statement showed that $8,744,700 of the proceeds will be used to redeem 79,770 shares of Lone Star Gas preferred stock. Old bank loans totaling $8,400,000 are to be paid before Sept. 1, 1938.

Gulf States Utilities company of Beaumont, Tex., filed $10,000,000 of first mortgage and refunding bonds, series D, 4 per cent. They are to be issued upon completion of a plan for the acquisition by Gulf States of Louisiana Steam Generating company and Baton Rouge Electric company. Notes and bonds of the two companies will be retired.

Silk Use in the United States.

Use of silk in the United States was rising steadily in the late 1920s, reaching a peak monthly average of 51,646 bales in 1929. Since that year, however, it has declined almost uninterruptedly. A slight upturn in 1931 and another in 1935 are the only breaks in the downward trend.

Stocks of raw silk on hand at the year-end have also shown consistent declines since the peak of 285,160 bales at the end of 1931 and a slight upturn to 282,286 at the end of 1933. Supplies on hand at mills at the end of 1937 were only 161,435 bales, and by the end of April had fallen to 130,955 bales.

With sales down about a third from 1937 levels, net income for the first half of this year dropped to $51,779 from $1,003,031 in the corresponding period last year. The record of earnings in recent years follows:

The common paid $2 a share last year, but only 25 cents so far this year.

Total assets were $32,809,634 at the end of 1937. Current assets were $18,694,639 and current liabilities were $4,292,186.

FARMERS SELL MORE ANIMALS, BUT GET LESS

Receipts Above Year Ago; Valuations Lower.

Farmers sold more meat animals for less money during July than during the corresponding month last year, valuation and receipts figures at Chicago disclosed yesterday. Payments for the 577,651 cattle, calves, hogs and sheep received at Chicago amounted to $19,667,000, which compared with $20,036,000 paid for 534,982 head a year ago.

July receipts of live stock increased 42,669 head, or 7.9 per cent, whereas payments decreased $369,000, or 1.8 per cent, and were smallest for that month in three years.

The 265,106 hogs, an increase of 52,049 head, or 24.4 per cent, over July last year, returned farmers $6,468,000, a decline of $136,000, or 2 per cent, from a year ago.

Cattle Figures Compared.

Receipts of cattle and calves for the month showed an increase of 10.6 per cent over the July total last year, but the valuation at $12,074,000 was up only 1.4 per cent. Payments for sheep at $1,125,000 were down $406,000, or 26.5 per cent, and the sheep supply declined 14.3 per cent.

During the first seven months of 1938 packers paid $145,268,000 for meat animals received at Chicago, compared with $166,011,000 a year ago.

Cattle and calf payments dropped from $94,579,000 last year to $83,935,000 this year. Hog money declined from $57,801,000 a year ago to $50,442,000 this year. Sheep money at $10,891,000 in 1938 compared with $13,631,000 the first seven months of 1937.

HOG PRICES RECOVER

Hog prices made a recovery yesterday in face of bearish news from the wholesale markets for fresh pork. Farmers curtailed supplies sharply, cutting the run at Chicago down to 6,000, compared with 10,017 for the preceding Friday, as the result of severe price cuts.

The average of hog prices for the session rose 15 cents to $8.25. Top loads at $9.65 showed only 5 cents gain.

Grain Pit Petition Seeks Lower Commission Rates

A petition was presented to the directors of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday asking for a ballot vote of the membership on an amendment to the rules to reduce commission rates on cash wheat to arrive from the present 1½ cents to 1 cent a bushel. The proposed amendment will be posted on the bulletin board of the exchange today without recommendation as to action by the directors. It is regarded as having little prospect of passing.

CANADIAN WHEAT POLICY MAY HIT EXPORTS OF U. S.

Chicago wheat brokers who analyzed the Canadian government's announcement that it would pay 80 cents a bushel to farmers for the 1938 spring wheat crop and resell at the world's price asserted yesterday that such action would almost eliminate the United States as an exporter of wheat during the 1938-'39 season.

According to some brokers, the Canadian government has virtually subsidized farmers to the extent of 10 cents or more a bushel on this year's wheat crop in the three western provinces. The yield is expected to be between 275,000,000 and 300,000,000 bushels. The 1937 harvest of 160,000,000 bushels was the smallest in a number of years.

In commenting on the Canadian and American farm programs brokers yesterday said they were opposite. Canada, it was pointed out, seeks to hold the market for its wheat by selling freely at the world price, the government taking the loss between the purchase and the sale prices. The American policy, however, of lending farmers an average of 59 to 60 cents a bushel, without provision for increasing exports, is expected to result in piling up large supplies.
